Bill Authorizes Comptroller To Consent to Kingston Span

As Custodian of Hudson River Bridge Bonds Official's Approval Needed; Also Covers Rockland Proposal

Legislation introduced yesterday to clear the way for the State Thruway Authority to build a bridge over the Hudson river from Rockland to Westchester county, was also another step forward in starting the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

Amendments to the state bridge authority act, the Associated Press said, were designed to eliminate legal obstacles to construction of the proposed thruway span, and they also authorize the state comptroller, as custodian or trustee of Hudson river bridge bonds, to consent to the construction of the already authorized bridge between Ulster and Dutchess counties.

The amendments were introduced by Senator Thomas F. Campbell, Schenectady Republican, and the Assembly Rules Committee.

There has been considerable area opposition to plans by the thruway authority to bridge the Hudson at its wide, scenic Tappan Zee section.

Under the state bridge authority act, the state has an agreement with bondholders of existing and authorized Hudson river bridges that no competitive bridges will be permitted beween the New York city line and a point 15 miles north of the Rip Van Winkle bridge at Catskill.

The amendments would move the southern boundary of this restricted area from the New York city line to the Bear Mountain bridge, thus clearing the way for the thruway span.

Move Is Underway To Fight Federal Control of Welfare

Senate Rules Committee Introduces Measure to Create Group to Curb Angles

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A new move was underway today to fight federal "interference" in New York state's welfare set-up.

The Senate Rules Committee introduced yesterday a bill to create a commission to push for removal of what it considers "ambiguities" in federal laws governing welfare aid. The bill would appropriate $25,000.

The measure apparently has the approval of Governor Dewey's administration.

Dewey and the federal security administrator, Oscar Ewing, have traded sharp words on the subject of federal welfare aid.

In other legislative developments:

1. Dewey approved stop-gap amendments to protect about 100,000 tenants, most of them in New York city, from possible retroactive rent increases.

Proposed Civil Service

2. Senator Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, proposed that "political plum" jobs be placed under civil service.

3. Bills were introduced to permit the State Thruway Authority to build its proposed bridge across the Hudson river, between Rockland and Westchester counties.

Dewey has accused Ewing of threatening to withhold federal welfare aid unless a single standard of aid were established for the entire state. Dewey says New York distributes aid according to community standards and should continue to do so.

The Republican-controlled Legislature last week passed a resolution calling on Congress to prohibit the FSA "from imposing arbitrary administrative requirements" on the distribution of federal welfare funds in the state.

Ewing Claims Inequities

Ewing said that needy persons in New York state did not receive "equitable treatment." He contended the state did not comply with all requirements of federal laws.

The bill introduced yesterday said "efforts have been made by the Federal Security Agency to impose certain 'uniform standards of assistance and eligibility' for welfare aid on a statewide basis and to interfere with general civil service provisions of the state."

It states that the F.S.A. acted without "mandate for such action under federal law."

The proposed temporary commission would "cooperate" with the State Social Welfare Board and "assist" Congress and federal agencies in erasing "ambiguities" from federal laws.

Introduced by Commission

The stop-gap rent amendments were introduced by the state's temporary commission on rents primarily to benefit New York city tenants. The changes in the state rent law would protect tenants "caught" by overlapping of, or gaps between, effective dates and retroactive dates of federal and local rent orders.

Senator Desmond said he would ask the rules committee to introduce a bill to include in civil service jobs of deputy and assistant commissioners, secretaries of all departments and other posts he described as "political plums."

Desmond said he also would ask for bills to make the Civil Service Commission an advisory, rather than an administrative group, and forbid any member of the commission or its employes from holding any political party post.

Tammany Link In Crime Probe Hinted at Albany

Minority Leader Quinn Rises to Defense of Staff, Tells of 'Jealousy'

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A report that the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee seeks payroll records and other data of New York's Senate rocked the state capitol today.

Republican Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the State Senate said last night he had heard the U. S. Senate committee would request the records.

The committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, said in New York city that "some information" had been asked, but he declined to say what.

There were hints that Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization, was involved.

Democrat Elmer F. Quinn of Manhattan, minority leader of the State Senate, rose to the defense of his staff in connection with a published report that the Kefauver investigators sought information about a member of the staff.

'Proud of Staff'

"I am proud of my staff," Quinn declared. He termed the reported request "character assassination" and an "outrage."

Quinn said it was the first he had heard of such a request.

Wicks, at his home in Kingston, said he would not honor any subpoena for records but would "let the committee look at Senate payroll records," if requested.

The committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), has been probing gambling and other crime in New York, and looking into election campaign charges of links between politicians and the underworld. Governor Dewey and New York city's new mayor, Vincent Impellittari, charged that gambler Frank Costello controlled Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization.

Intra-Party Maneuvering

Senator Quinn said the reported Kefauver request might have stemmed from intra-party Democratic maneuvering in Manhattan.

Quinn said the published report listed three of his staff members, whom he described as "decent, respectable men" with "excellent backgrounds."

He told a reporter the three had

Virginia Residents Taken to Hospital After Auto Overturns

A Norfolk, Va., couple was hospitalized last night after their automobile, a convertible coupe, overturned off the west side of Route 9W two and a half miles north of this city.

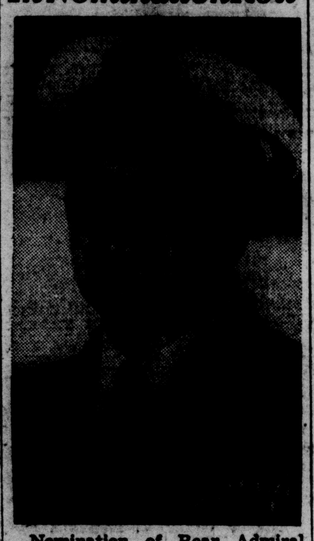

Troopers from the Lake Katrine substation said Wallace Kendrick, 27, suffered contusions to the back, arms and legs; and his wife, Charlotte, 25, suffered a neck injury and shock. Benedictine Hospital authorities today reported her condition as "fair," and his as apparently good.

The automobile, being driven in a northerly direction by Mrs. Kendrick, skidded on an icy patch in the pavement about 10:35 p. m. Thursday, troopers said. The couple was taken to the hospital by a W. N. Conner ambulance.

In Nomination Row

Nomination of Rear Admiral William N. Winston Churchill asked amid cheers, "Was there not a British admiral capable of discharging these functions?"

Britons Demand Own Admiral to Run Atlantic Navy

Incensed Over Nomination of Americans; Say Englishmen Know Sea the Best

London, Feb. 23 (AP)—Britain's press waved the flag vigorously and defiantly sang "Rule Britannia" today over the nomination of an American admiral to head the Atlantic Pact Navy.

Even more forcefully than did Winston Churchill in the House of Commons yesterday the papers asked: "What's the matter with a British admiral?"

"And anyway," ran the recurrent theme, "we know more about sea power than anyone else."

Commons In Uproar

Churchill plunged Commons into an uproar yesterday with his charge that this selection "brushed out of the way" the wave-ruling Britons. Prime Minister Attlee said finally his government would reconsider its position on the appointment of an American to the top international navy post.

Today the independent Daily Express, under a streamer headline "U. S. Navy Chief Row," said editorially:

"If Churchill had been Prime Minister, this appointment would never have been made. * * * There need be and must be no bad feeling generated on this subject between Britain and America. If it is fairly put to them, the Americans will understand that Britain

Russell Will Support Connally Resolution to Endorse Any Troop Commitments

University President Is to Appear Before Committee

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—President Truman's plan to send more troops to Europe apparently gained strong new support today in the Senate.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee indicated he would back Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations Committee in a resolution which would endorse in advance any troop commitments Mr. Truman might make to North Atlantic defenses.

Russell told reporters he wanted some changes in the resolution but he hinted strongly he thought he and Connally could get together. He said he would wait until they reached a final agreement before making public the changes he proposed.

Connally expressed confidence an agreement would be reached.

"It will be a bilateral resolution," he declared when reporters told him of Russell's attitude.

Stassen to Testify

Harold Stassen, former Republican governor of Minnesota, and now president of the University of Pennsylvania, was due to testify on the troops to Europe issue today.

The two committees are considering a resolution by Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska. This measure would seek to bar the President from sending troops to Europe until Congress has set out a policy on the question. Connally proposes to substitute his resolution for Wherry's.

Fire Damages Epstein Building

Oil Stove Is Believed Cause of Blaze at 46 Broadway

A fire believed to have started in an oil stove in the Colonial Dutchess Linen Supply Company store, 46 Broadway, damaged the three-story building owned by Joseph Epstein this morning.

Two lines of hose were used in quenching the stubborn blaze which spread up the wall near the front of the linen supply store to the second floor.

The fire caused some damage to the basement of the building, broke through flooring in a bath room on the second floor, and caused smoke and water damage to the Epstein store next door, and to the two upper floors.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said that Frank Kreglewski, of East Pierpont street, discovered the fire as he walked past the building. He notified Mac Lipkin in the Epstein store who telephoned the alarm at 11:07 a. m., which was followed by a box alarm pulled a minute later by Gerard Matthews of Hone street at Broadway and the Strand.

Smoke Thickens

Smoke thickened during first efforts of the firemen and added to their difficulty in reaching the blaze. Men and equipment from Central and Cornell stations and Union and Rapid Hose Company answered the calls.

The linen supply business is owned by Andrew Halgersen, who operates similar stores in Brooklyn and Poughkeepsie. The second floor is occupied by John Hasbrouck and family and Raymond Slater and family. Chief Murphy indicated that damage to the upper floors was not serious enough to cause displacement of the occupants.

The chief said the fire apparently broke through pipe recesses in its spread from the lower floor starting point.

Announcement Is Seen As Purge Justification

Peiping Also Pictured as Attempting to Take Heat Off Regional and Local Governments in China

Hong Kong, Feb. 23 (AP)—Communist China, extending the death penalty drastically, today admitted the underground had killed thousands of Red Militiamen and that open defiance was spreading.

In an astonishing announcement, Peiping conceded that resistance had risen with the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Some observers here, however, believed the announcement was intended primarily to justify a widespread purge which they expect to increase in intensity.

Death Penalty Ordered

The Reds ordered immediate nationwide imposition of the death penalty for any and all actions which might be construed as "opposition" to government authority.

Observers said that by giving the penalties highest government sanction, Peiping also apparently was trying to take some of the heat off regional and local governments. Dissatisfaction with local government was reported widespread.

Peasant Opposition Spreads

The Chinese Communists in the Peiping announcement admitted that peasant opposition to land reform is spreading rapidly, "armed defiance" to the Communist regime is getting out of control, and that thousands of Red militia and government officials have been killed by "counter revolutionary" agents.

The broadcast said the situation had grown worse "since the launching of the American imperialist aggression against Korea."

It conceded that roving guerrilla bands are destroying railroads and bridges.

No More Leniency

Submitting the stern new program to the Central People's Government Council, highest administrative body in Red China, Deputy Chairman Peng Cheng of the political and law committee declared "the government must no longer be magnanimous and lenient."

"If we do not thoroughly destroy the people's enemy there cannot be a people's victory," he said. "If we do not suppress the wolves of America and Chiang Kai-shek (Nationalist) bandit groups, security and the victory of the people cannot be consolidated."

Peng asserted open defiance to the regime is rife throughout the country, particularly on the part of "repentant" persons who had been taken back into the party's good graces.

Police Check Story Of Suppression

Former Police Boss Gives General Denial of All Claims

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A claim that a "higher authority" suppressed recordings of telephone talks last year dealing with basketball fixes in Madison Square Garden was being investigated today by police.

The Brooklyn Eagle said yesterday 40 wiretaps had been made which involved all metropolitan college basketball teams, but that they were suppressed.

Former Police Commissioner William P. O'Brien, who directed police then, issued a general denial of the claim—latest development in the current intercollegiate sports scandal.

Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy, while saying he had no information that such evidence existed, has ordered a search of police files. The commissioner said the departmental record check might take "a couple of days."

Never Heard of Evidence

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, who last Sunday broke the basketball bribe case which rocked the sports world, said he never saw or heard of suppressed wiretap evidence. He added that his office had no wiretaps prior to last Jan. 12. Wiretap evidence was

Capital Newsman Joins Agency Staff for Hearing Period of 2 Weeks

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senators digging into reports of "influence" on Reconstruction Finance Corporation lending told today the White House has asked for R.F.C. loan correspondence with members of Congress.

Three R.F.C. directors gave that word, as something they "understood," to a Senate Banking Subcommittee which has already had a sharp exchange with President Truman over its investigation.

At the same time, it was developed that the R.F.C. has hired Eugene Kelly, a Washington newspaperman, as a $50-a-day public relations adviser. Under questioning from the senators, Kelly said he joined the R.F.C. staff "a week ago today" and expected to be retained "one week or two weeks." The subcommittee has indicated that might be the length of its revived hearings.

Hearing to Back Charges

The subcommittee ordered the present hearings primarily to back up charges it made in a report to the Senate that the R.F.C. has yielded to influence in making its loans which run into millions of dollars.

The group said Donald Dawson, an aide to President Truman, was one of those who had exerted influence.

Mr. Truman, in angry tones,

Advance Is Unopposed by Any Appreciable Strength on 60-Mile Front

Gunfire Held Up

City Gets Only Nominal Going Over Because of American Prisoners

Tokyo, Feb. 23 (AP)—Tank-led American forces punched swiftly up the mountainous spine of central Korea late today and occupied freshly vacated Red foxholes overlooking Hoengsong, key Communist defense point.

The twin U. S. spearheads were setting the pace for the powerful Allied offensive that shoved ahead virtually unopposed all along the muddy 60-mile front.

Brief but bitter Red resistance was met in some sectors earlier today. This indicated the Communists are using fight-and-run tactics against the 100,000-man United Nations Red-killer drive.

Push Carries 4 Miles

AP correspondent Stan Swinton reported American forces advancing on Hoengsong in the middle sector of the front were within a mile and a quarter of the burned-out town. The push carried four miles.

"American soldiers occupied foxholes dug by the Communists for themselves while tanks and dive bombers dropped tons of missiles into the town," Swinton reported from outside Hoengsong.

"At dusk, the American tanks and troops pulled back slightly to make themselves secure for the night in full possession of the hills overlooking the Hoengsong valley."

The advance was on a route littered with wrecks of American vehicles knocked out during the ill-fated Communist attack toward Wonju 10 days ago. Wonju, key to the south-central mountain passes, is 10 miles south of Hoengsong.

Gunfire Restrained

Swinton said Allied gunfire on Hoengsong was restrained on the possibility that American prisoners are still being held there.

A South Korean major who escaped from the Chinese reported the Reds were concentrated north of the city.

On the eastern flank of the rugged, twisting central front, American forces captured rubbled Pyongchang without a fight and pushed four miles beyond to a lateral road leading to Hoengsong. Pyongchang is 25 miles southeast of Hoengsong.

On the far western front, American and Communist guns roared in an artillery duel across the rain-swollen Han river near Seoul. The Reds tried to push two reconnaissance patrols across the stream but they were sent scurrying back.

Go Beyond Chipyong

Reds in company strength were battled by Americans advancing six miles north of Chipyong on the west-central front, southeast of Seoul.

Action was developing in that sector late Friday after being alternately lively and then quiet.

It was in that sector early Friday that the second battalion of Canada's famed Princess Patricia Regiment swept easily through Red opposition astride the Seoul-Hongchon road west of Hoengsong.

It was the first action of the Korean war for the Princess Pats and brought to six the nations in the current ground forces drive against the Chinese and Korean Reds. Others are Americans, British, Australian, New Zealand and South Koreans.

U. N. forces have made no large-scale assault on the now useless former South Korean capital.

Seoul Is Abandoned

Seoul was abandoned to the Reds early in January after Red China's entry into the Korean conflict forced the U. N. forces to withdraw to better defense positions below Parallel 38. This was after the Allies had punched to the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria in two places and were approaching it in strength.

The current Red-killer offensive brings the U. N. line generally within 35 miles of 38. Its aim

Home Building Industry Shows Contrasts; Survey Shows Credit Curbs Ineffective

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Credit restrictions on home buying calling for larger cash payments and shorter mortgage terms, are failing to check the home building boom in many parts of the country.

At the same time, in almost an equal number of areas, the pinch of such curbs is being felt sharply and some home builders are going out of business.

Some bankers are convinced that these restrictions, introduced in an effort to curb inflation, are having the opposite effect.

A national survey by the Associated Press shows 24 major areas reporting credit curbs entirely ineffective to date in reducing the home building and home buying booms that are exceeding records set a year ago.

On the other hand, 21 important districts, including most of New York state, report mortgage loans considerably tighter with home building off as much as 50 per cent from a year ago.

"If people need more money for down payments, they'll get it," says a New Mexico mortgage man.

"If a man can pay one-third down for a car, he can afford one-fourth down on a small house," declares a Raleigh, N. C., banker. "Regulation X (the federal reserve rule limiting mortgage loans) hasn't and won't bother us," he adds.

George C. Johnson, president of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn, N. Y., which holds $361,000,000 in home mortgages, calls regulation S outright inflationary. He argues that money invested in homes is removed from circulation. When it can't be absorbed in that quarter, he says it is free to be spent in inflationary channels.

But opinions vary widely on credit curbs.

A Seattle mortgage banker is convinced the effect of the curbs is "more psychological than actual."

"The restrictions have made lenders reluctant to make loans," he says, explaining that since the completed house is the mortgage holder's legal security, he goes slow making a loan if he thinks the builder may have difficulty because of shortages or rising costs.

In Detroit both city and federal officials say credit curbs are "practically 10 per cent responsible" for that city's drop of 50 per cent in home building activity from January 1950 levels.

Birmingham, Louisville and New Orleans builders likewise blame credit curbs for decreased home building.

"The damper, of course, is credit restrictions," declares a Veterans' Administration spokesman in New Orleans. The speculative builder, who built from a half-dozen to 1,000 houses for sale, has disappeared from the scene. Too large a down payment is the reason." New Orleans home loan companies agree.

Baltimore finds credit curbs hurting only luxury type homes, for which buyers must raise as much as 50 per cent cash. But the reverse prevails in Arkansas and Richmond, Va.

Aksel Nielsen, Denver title man, sums up reaction to the credit curbs this way:

"Whatever dampening effect these might have is offset by an attitude that 'we might as well borrow the money and get started because next year the rules may be even tighter.'"

Beef Storage Reported

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—About 1,000,000 pounds of locally dressed beef is reported in storage here because of consumer resistance to high prices. Miss Anna Blumstein, secretary-treasurer of the Metropolitan Slaughterers Association, said yesterday the beef had piled up because of generally high meat prices in the metropolitan area. She added that a considerable amount of western dressed beef also remains unsold here.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor, who underdent an operation yesterday, was reported in good condition today.

McNamee Says Victory Came At Saipan, Not From A-Bomb

The atom bomb is not a decisive weapon of war and did not win the Japanese war. Victory was won at Saipan. When the atom bombs were dropped on Japan they simply "pushed one more staff officer over" to advise complete surrender, so said Col. Frank McNamee, Jr., at the 26th annual Washington's Birthday dinner of the Men's Club of the First Dutch Reformed Church last evening.

Because of a building program now in force the traditional dinner was held at the Fair Street Reformed Church under auspices of the Old First Church Men's Club.

Col. McNamee, lawyer and soldier, has served in both World War I and World War II as an officer of field artillery. At present he is commanding officer o the 1389th Logistical Division in Albany, holding the rank of colonel in the United States Army reserve.

Speaking on "The Atom Bomb, the H. Bomb and the Public", Col. McNamee said the atom bomb was not a decisive weapon of war but it could be considered as a great deterring factor to war and a valuable defensive weapon at present since we have a stock pile.

Continuing he said there is a defense to the atom bomb and proceeded to tell an interested audience of the manner in which the public could meet the atom bomb and survive.

Minford A. Overfield, president of the Men's Club presided at the dinner and presented Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

Overfield called attention to the annual dinner which was instituted in 1924 when Dr. Lucas Boeve was minister at the church. He presented Howard C. St. John who gave a brief review of the historical background. St. John said the dinner was held as a memorial to George Washington. In 1924 when the dinner was first held Justice Pierce Russell was the speaker and since then there have been many distinguished speakers. The dinner has become one of the traditions of the community and each year every ticket is sold far in advance. He said the Old First Church has a spe-

Fire Damages Epstein Building

Oil Stove Is Believed Cause of Blaze at 46 Broadway

A fire believed to have started in an oil stove in the Colonial Dutchess Linen Supply Company store, 46 Broadway, damaged the three-story building owned by Joseph Epstein this morning.

Two lines of hose were used in quenching the stubborn blaze which spread up the wall near the front of the linen supply store to the second floor.

The fire caused some damage to the basement of the building, broke through flooring in a bath room on the second floor, and caused smoke and water damage to the Epstein store next door, and to the two upper floors.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said that Frank Kreglewski, of East Pierpont street, discovered the fire as he walked past the building. He notified Mac Lipkin in the Epstein store who telephoned the alarm at 11:07 a. m., which was followed by a box alarm pulled a minute later by Gerard Matthews of Hone street at Broadway and the Strand.

Smoke Thickens

Smoke thickened during first efforts of the firemen and added to their difficulty in reaching the blaze. Men and equipment from Central and Cornell stations and Union and Rapid Hose Company answered the calls.

The linen supply business is owned by Andrew Halgersen, who operates similar stores in Brooklyn and Poughkeepsie. The second floor is occupied by John Hasbrouck and family and Raymond Slater and family. Chief Murphy indicated that damage to the upper floors was not serious enough to cause displacement of the occupants.

The chief said the fire apparently broke through pipe recesses in its spread from the lower floor starting point.

Announcement Is Seen As Purge Justification

Peiping Also Pictured as Attempting to Take Heat Off Regional and Local Governments in China

Hong Kong, Feb. 23 (AP)—Communist China, extending the death penalty drastically, today admitted the underground had killed thousands of Red Militiamen and that open defiance was spreading.

In an astonishing announcement, Peiping conceded that resistance had risen with the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Some observers here, however, believed the announcement was intended primarily to justify a widespread purge which they expect to increase in intensity.

Death Penalty Ordered

The Reds ordered immediate nationwide imposition of the death penalty for any and all actions which might be construed as "opposition" to government authority.

Observers said that by giving the penalties highest government sanction, Peiping also apparently was trying to take some of the heat off regional and local governments. Dissatisfaction with local government was reported widespread.

Peasant Opposition Spreads

The Chinese Communists in the Peiping announcement admitted that peasant opposition to land reform is spreading rapidly, "armed defiance" to the Communist regime is getting out of control, and that thousands of Red militia and government officials have been killed by "counter revolutionary" agents.

The broadcast said the situation had grown worse "since the launching of the American imperialist aggression against Korea."

It conceded that roving guerrilla bands are destroying railroads and bridges.

No More Leniency

Submitting the stern new program to the Central People's Government Council, highest administrative body in Red China, Deputy Chairman Peng Cheng of the political and law committee declared "the government must no longer be magnanimous and lenient."

"If we do not thoroughly destroy the people's enemy there cannot be a people's victory," he said. "If we do not suppress the wolves of America and Chiang Kai-shek (Nationalist) bandit groups, security and the victory of the people cannot be consolidated."

Peng asserted open defiance to the regime is rife throughout the country, particularly on the part of "repentant" persons who had been taken back into the party's good graces.

Police Check Story Of Suppression

Former Police Boss Gives General Denial of All Claims

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A claim that a "higher authority" suppressed recordings of telephone talks last year dealing with basketball fixes in Madison Square Garden was being investigated today by police.

The Brooklyn Eagle said yesterday 40 wiretaps had been made which involved all metropolitan college basketball teams, but that they were suppressed.

Former Police Commissioner William P. O'Brien, who directed police then, issued a general denial of the claim—latest development in the current intercollegiate sports scandal.

Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy, while saying he had no information that such evidence existed, has ordered a search of police files. The commissioner said the departmental record check might take "a couple of days."

Never Heard of Evidence

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, who last Sunday broke the basketball bribe case which rocked the sports world, said he never saw or heard of suppressed wiretap evidence. He added that his office had no wiretaps prior to last Jan. 12. Wiretap evidence was

Capital Newsman Joins Agency Staff for Hearing Period of 2 Weeks

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senators digging into reports of "influence" on Reconstruction Finance Corporation lending told today the White House has asked for R.F.C. loan correspondence with members of Congress.

Three R.F.C. directors gave that word, as something they "understood," to a Senate Banking Subcommittee which has already had a sharp exchange with President Truman over its investigation.

At the same time, it was developed that the R.F.C. has hired Eugene Kelly, a Washington newspaperman, as a $50-a-day public relations adviser. Under questioning from the senators, Kelly said he joined the R.F.C. staff "a week ago today" and expected to be retained "one week or two weeks." The subcommittee has indicated that might be the length of its revived hearings.

Hearing to Back Charges

The subcommittee ordered the present hearings primarily to back up charges it made in a report to the Senate that the R.F.C. has yielded to influence in making its loans which run into millions of dollars.

The group said Donald Dawson, an aide to President Truman, was one of those who had exerted influence.

City Gets Only Nominal Going Over Because of American Prisoners

Tokyo, Feb. 23 (AP)—Tank-led American forces punched swiftly up the mountainous spine of central Korea late today and occupied freshly vacated Red foxholes overlooking Hoengsong, key Communist defense point.

The twin U. S. spearheads were setting the pace for the powerful Allied offensive that shoved ahead virtually unopposed all along the muddy 60-mile front.

Brief but bitter Red resistance was met in some sectors earlier today. This indicated the Communists are using fight-and-run tactics against the 100,000-man United Nations Red-killer drive.

Push Carries 4 Miles

AP correspondent Stan Swinton reported American forces advancing on Hoengsong in the middle sector of the front were within a mile and a quarter of the burned-out town. The push carried four miles.

"American soldiers occupied foxholes dug by the Communists for themselves while tanks and dive bombers dropped tons of missiles into the town," Swinton reported from outside Hoensong.

"At dusk, the American tanks and troops pulled back slightly to make themselves secure for the night in full possession of the hills overlooking the Hoengsong valley."

The advance was on a route littered with wrecks of American vehicles knocked out during the ill-fated Communist attack toward Wonju 10 days ago. Wonju, key to the south-central mountain passes, is 10 miles south of Hoengsong.

Gunfire Restrained

Swinton said Allied gunfire on Hoengsong was restrained on the possibility that American prisoners are still being held there.

A South Korean major who escaped from the Chinese reported the Reds were concentrated north of the city.

On the eastern flank of the rugged, twisting central front, American forces captured rubbled Pyongchang without a fight and pushed four miles beyond to a lateral road leading to Hoengsong. Pyongchang is 25 miles southeast of Hoengsong.

On the far western front, American and Communist guns roared in an artillery duel across the rain-swollen Han river near Seoul. The Reds tried to push two reconnaissance patrols across the stream but they were sent scurrying back.

Go Beyond Chipyong

Reds in company strength were battled by Americans advancing six miles north of Chipyong on the west-central front, southeast of Seoul.

Action was developing in that sector late Friday after being alternately lively and then quiet.

It was in that sector early Friday that the second battalion of Canada's famed Princess Patricia Regiment swept easily through Red opposition astride the Seoul-Hongchon road west of Hoengsong.

It was the first action of the Korean war for the Princess Pats and brought to six the nations in the current ground forces drive against the Chinese and Korean Reds. Others are Americans, British, Australian, New Zealand and South Koreans.

U. N. forces have made no large-scale assault on the now useless former South Korean capital.

Seoul Is Abandoned

Seoul was abandoned to the Reds early in January after Red China's entry into the Korean conflict forced the U. N. forces to withdraw to better defense positions below Parallel 38. This was after the Allies had punched to the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria in two places and were approaching it in strength.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Credit restrictions on home buying calling for larger cash payments and shorter mortgage terms, are failing to check the home building boom in many parts of the country.

At the same time, in almost an equal number of areas, the pinch of such curbs is being felt sharply and some home builders are going out of business.

Some bankers are convinced that these restrictions, introduced in an effort to curb inflation, are having the opposite effect.

A national survey by the Associated Press shows 24 major areas reporting credit curbs entirely ineffective to date in reducing the home building and home buying booms that are exceeding records set a year ago.

On the other hand, 21 important districts, including most of New York state, report mortgage loans considerably tighter with home building off as much as 50 per cent from a year ago.

"If people need more money for down payments, they'll get it," says a New Mexico mortgage man.

"If a man can pay one-third down for a car, he can afford one-fourth down on a small house," declares a Raleigh, N. C., banker. "Regulation X (the federal reserve rule limiting mortgage loans) hasn't and won't bother us," he adds.

George C. Johnson, president of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn, N. Y., which holds $361,000,000 in home mortgages, calls regulation S outright inflationary. He argues that money invested in homes is removed from circulation. When it can't be absorbed in that quarter, he says it is free to be spent in inflationary channels.

But opinions vary widely on credit curbs.

A Seattle mortgage banker is convinced the effect of the curbs is "more psychological than actual."

"The restrictions have made lenders reluctant to make loans," he says, explaining that since the completed house is the mortgage holder's legal security, he goes slow making a loan if he thinks the builder may have difficulty because of shortages or rising costs.

In Detroit both city and federal officials say credit curbs are "practically 10 per cent responsible" for that city's drop of 50 per cent in home building activity from January 1950 levels.

Birmingham, Louisville and New Orleans builders likewise blame credit curbs for decreased home building.

"The damper, of course, is credit restrictions," declares a Veterans' Administration spokesman in New Orleans. The speculative builder, who built from a half-dozen to 1,000 houses for sale, has disappeared from the scene. Too large a down payment is the reason." New Orleans home loan companies agree.

Baltimore finds credit curbs hurting only luxury type homes, for which buyers must raise as much as 50 per cent cash. But the reverse prevails in Arkansas and Richmond, Va.

Aksel Nielsen, Denver title man, sums up reaction to the credit curbs this way:

"Whatever dampening effect these might have is offset by an attitude that 'we might as well borrow the money and get started because next year the rules may be even tighter.'"

Beef Storage Reported

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—About 1,000,000 pounds of locally dressed beef is reported in storage here because of consumer resistance to high prices. Miss Anna Blumstein, secretary-treasurer of the Metropolitan Slaughterers Association, said yesterday the beef had piled up because of generally high meat prices in the metropolitan area. She added that a considerable amount of western dressed beef also remains unsold here.

McNamee Says Victory Came At Saipan, Not From A-Bomb

The atom bomb is not a decisive weapon of war and did not win the Japanese war. Victory was won at Saipan. When the atom bombs were dropped on Japan they simply "pushed one more staff officer over" to advise complete surrender, so said Col. Frank McNamee, Jr., at the 26th annual Washington's Birthday dinner of the Men's Club of the First Dutch Reformed Church last evening.

Because of a building program now in force the traditional dinner was held at the Fair Street Reformed Church under auspices of the Old First Church Men's Club.

Col. McNamee, lawyer and soldier, has served in both World War I and World War II as an officer of field artillery. At present he is commanding officer o the 1389th Logistical Division in Albany, holding the rank of colonel in the United States Army reserve.

Speaking on "The Atom Bomb, the H. Bomb and the Public", Col. McNamee said the atom bomb was not a decisive weapon of war but it could be considered as a great deterring factor to war and a valuable defensive weapon at present since we have a stock pile.

Continuing he said there is a defense to the atom bomb and proceeded to tell an interested audience of the manner in which the public could meet the atom bomb and survive.

Minford A. Overfield, president of the Men's Club presided at the dinner and presented Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

Overfield called attention to the annual dinner which was instituted in 1924 when Dr. Lucas Boeve was minister at the church. He presented Howard C. Bill Authorizes Comptroller To Consent to Kingston Span

As Custodian of Hudson River Bridge Bonds Official's Approval Needed; Also Covers Rockland Proposal

Legislation introduced yesterday to clear the way for the State Thruway Authority to build a bridge over the Hudson river from Rockland to Westchester county, was also another step forward in starting the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

Amendments to the state bridge authority act, the Associated Press said, were designed to eliminate legal obstacles to construction of the proposed thruway span, and they also authorize the state comptroller, as custodian or trustee of Hudson river bridge bonds, to consent to the construction of the already authorized bridge between Ulster and Dutchess counties.

The amendments were introduced by Senator Thomas F. Campbell, Schenectady Republican, and the Assembly Rules Committee.

There has been considerable area opposition to plans by the thruway authority to bridge the Hudson at its wide, scenic Tappan Zee section.

Under the state bridge authority act, the state has an agreement with bondholders of existing and authorized Hudson river bridges that no competitive bridges will be permitted beween the New York city line and a point 15 miles north of the Rip Van Winkle bridge at Catskill.

The amendments would move the southern boundary of this restricted area from the New York city line to the Bear Mountain bridge, thus clearing the way for the thruway span.

Move Is Underway To Fight Federal Control of Welfare

Senate Rules Committee Introduces Measure to Create Group to Curb Angles

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A new move was underway today to fight federal "interference" in New York state's welfare set-up.

The Senate Rules Committee introduced yesterday a bill to create a commission to push for removal of what it considers "ambiguities" in federal laws governing welfare aid. The bill would appropriate $25,000.

The measure apparently has the approval of Governor Dewey's administration.

Dewey and the federal security administrator, Oscar Ewing, have traded sharp words on the subject of federal welfare aid.

In other legislative developments:

1. Dewey approved stop-gap amendments to protect about 100,000 tenants, most of them in New York city, from possible retroactive rent increases.

Proposes Civil Service

2. Senator Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, proposed that "political plum" jobs be placed under civil service.

3. Bills were introduced to permit the State Thruway Authority to build its proposed bridge across the Hudson river, between Rockland and Westchester counties.

Dewey has accused Ewing of threatening to withhold federal welfare aid unless a single standard of aid were established for the entire state. Dewey says New York distributes aid according to community standards and should continue to do so.

The Republican-controlled Legislature last week passed a resolution calling on Congress to prohibit the FSA "from imposing arbitrary administrative requirements" on the distribution of federal welfare funds in the state.

Ewing Claims Inequities

Ewing said that needy persons in New York state did not receive "equitable treatment." He contended the state did not comply with all requirements of federal laws.

The bill introduced yesterday said "efforts have been made by the Federal Security Agency to impose certain 'uniform standards of assistance and eligibility" for welfare aid on a statewide basis and to interfere with general civil service provisions of the state."

It states that the F.S.A. acted without "mandate for such action under federal law."

The proposed temporary commission would "cooperate" with the State Social Welfare Board and "assist" Congress and federal agencies in erasing "ambiguities" from federal laws.

Introduced by Commission

The stop-gap rent amendments were introduced by the state's temporary commission on rents primarily to benefit New York city tenants. The changes in the state rent law would protect tenants "caught" by overlapping of, or gaps between, effective dates and retroactive dates of federal and local rent orders.

Senator Desmond said he would ask the rules committee to introduce a bill to include in civil service jobs of deputy and assistant commissioners, secretaries of all departments and other posts he described as "political plums."

Desmond said he also would ask for bills to make the Civil Service Commission an advisory, rather than an administrative group, and forbid any member of the commission or its employes from holding any political party post.

Tammany Link In Crime Probe Hinted at Albany

Minority Leader Quinn Rises to Defense of Staff, Tells of 'Jealousy'

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A report that the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee seeks payroll records and other data of New York's Senate rocked the state capitol today.

Republican Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the State Senate said last night he had heard the U. S. Senate committee would request the records.

The committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, said in New York city that "some information" had been asked, but he declined to say what.

There were hints that Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization, was involved.

Democrat Elmer F. Quinn of Manhattan, minority leader of the State Senate, rose to the defense of his staff in connection with a published report that the Kefauver investigators sought information about a member of the staff.

'Proud of Staff'

"I am proud of my staff," Quinn declared. He termed the reported request "character assassination" and an "outrage."

Quinn said it was the first he had heard of such a request.

Wicks, at his home in Kingston, said he would not honor any subpoena for records but would "let the committee look at Senate payroll records," if requested.

The committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), has been probing gambling and other crime in New York, and looking into election campaign charges of links between politicians and the underworld. Governor Dewey and New York city's new mayor, Vincent Impellitteri, charged that gambler Frank Costello controlled Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization.

Intra-Party Maneuvering

Senator Quinn said the reported Kefauver request might have stemmed from intra-party Democratic maneuvering in Manhattan.

Quinn said the published report listed three of his staff members, whom he described as "decent, respectable men" with "excellent backgrounds."

He told a reporter the three had

Two Are Hurt In 9W Accident

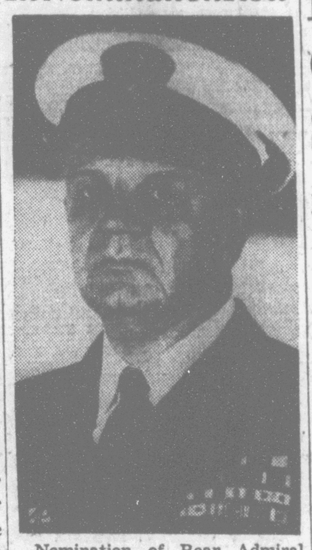

Virginia Residents Taken to Hospital After Auto Overturns

A Norfolk, Va., couple was hospitalized last night after their automobile, a convertible coupe, overturned off the west side of Route 9W two and a half miles north of this city.

Troopers from the Lake Katrine substation said Wallace Kendrick, 27, suffered contusions to the back, arms and legs; and his wife, Charlotte, 25, suffered a neck injury and shock. Benedictine Hospital authorities today reported her condition as "fair," and his as apparently good.

The automobile, being driven in a northerly direction by Mrs. Kendrick, skidded on an icy patch in the pavement about 10:35 p. m. Thursday, troopers said. The couple was taken to the hospital by a W. N. Conner ambulance.

In Nomination Row

Nomination of Rear Admiral William N. Fechteler (above) by Atlantic Pact Defense Committee as Commander of Naval Forces of North Atlantic treaty nations, resulted in a "row" in Britain's House of Commons, February 22. Winston Churchill asked amid cheers, "Was there not a British admiral capable of discharging these functions?"

Britons Demand Own Admiral to Run Atlantic Navy

Incensed Over Nomination of Americans; Say Englishmen Know Sea the Best

London, Feb. 23 (AP)—Britain's press waved the flag vigorously and defiantly sang "Rule Britannia" today over the nomination of an American admiral to head the Atlantic Pact Navy.

Even more forcefully than did Winston Churchill in the House of Commons yesterday the papers asked: "What's the matter with a British admiral?"

"And anyway," ran the recurrent theme, "we know more about sea power than anyone else."

Commons In Uproar

Churchill plunged Commons into an uproar yesterday with his charge that this selection "brushed out of the way" the wave-ruling Britons. Prime Minister Attlee said finally his government would reconsider its position on the appointment of an American to the top international navy post.

Today the independent Daily Express, under a streamer headline "U. S. Navy Chief Row," said editorially:

"If Churchill had been Prime Minister, this appointment would never have been made. * * * There need be and must be no bad feeling generated on this subject between Britain and America. If it is fairly put to them, the Americans will understand that Britain

Stassen to Talk

University President Is to Appear Before Committee

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—President Truman's plan to send more troops to Europe apparently gained strong new support today in the Senate.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee indicated he would back Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations Committee in a resolution which would endorse in advance any troop commitments Mr. Truman might make to North Atlantic defenses.

Russell told reporters he wanted some changes in the resolution but he hinted strongly he thought he and Connally could get together. He said he would wait until they reached a final agreement before making public the changes he proposed.

Connally expressed confidence an agreement would be reached.

"It will be a bilateral resolution," he declared when reporters told him of Russell's attitude.

Swinton said Allied gunfire on Hoengsong was restrained on the possibility that American prisoners are still being held there.

A South Korean major who escaped from the Chinese reported the Reds were concentrated north of the city.

On the eastern flank of the rugged, twisting central front, American forces captured rubbled Pyongchang without a fight and pushed four miles beyond to a lateral road leading to Hoengsong. Pyongchang is 25 miles southeast of Hoengsong.

On the far western front, American and Communist guns roared in an artillery duel across the rain-swollen Han river near Seoul. The Reds tried to push two reconnaissance patrols across the stream but they were sent scurrying back.

Go Beyond Chipyong

Reds in company strength were battled by Americans advancing six miles north of Chipyong on the west-central front, southeast of Seoul.

Action was developing in that sector late Friday after being alternately lively and then quiet.

It was in that sector early Friday that the second battalion of Canada's famed Princess Patricia Regiment swept easily through Red opposition astride the Seoul-Hongchon road west of Hoengsong.

It was the first action of the Korean war for the Princess Pats and brought to six the nations in the current ground forces drive against the Chinese and Korean Reds. Others are Americans, British, Australian, New Zealand and South Koreans.

U. N. forces have made no large-scale assault on the now useless former South Korean capital.

Seoul Is Abandoned

Seoul was abandoned to the Reds early in January after Red China's entry into the Korean conflict forced the U. N. forces to withdraw to better defense positions below Parallel 38. This was after the Allies had punched to the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria in two places and were approaching it in strength.

The current Red-killer offensive brings the U. N. line generally within 35 miles of 38. Its aim

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Credit restrictions on home buying calling for larger cash payments and shorter mortgage terms, are failing to check the home building boom in many parts of the country.

At the same time, in almost an equal number of areas, the pinch of such curbs is being felt sharply and some home builders are going out of business.

Some bankers are convinced that these restrictions, introduced in an effort to curb inflation, are having the opposite effect.

A national survey by the Associated Press shows 24 major areas reporting credit curbs entirely ineffective to date in reducing the home building and home buying booms that are exceeding records set a year ago.

On the other hand, 21 important districts, including most of New York state, report mortgage loans considerably tighter with home building off as much as 50 per cent from a year ago.

"If people need more money for down payments, they'll get it," says a New Mexico mortgage man.

"If a man can pay one-third down for a car, he can afford one-fourth down on a small house," declares a Raleigh, N. C., banker. "Regulation X (the federal reserve rule limiting mortgage loans) hasn't and won't bother us," he adds.

George C. Johnson, president of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn, N. Y., which holds $361,000,000 in home mortgages, calls regulation S outright inflationary. He argues that money invested in homes is removed from circulation. When it can't be absorbed in that quarter, he says it is free to be spent in inflationary channels.

But opinions vary widely on credit curbs.

A Seattle mortgage banker is convinced the effect of the curbs is "more psychological than actual."

"The restrictions have made lenders reluctant to make loans," he says, explaining that since the completed house is the mortgage holder's legal security, he goes slow making a loan if he thinks the builder may have difficulty because of shortages or rising costs.

In Detroit both city and federal officials say credit curbs are "practically 10 per cent responsible" for that city's drop of 50 per cent in home building activity from January 1950 levels.

Birmingham, Louisville and New Orleans builders likewise blame credit curbs for decreased home building.

"The damper, of course, is credit restrictions," declares a Veterans' Administration spokesman in New Orleans. The speculative builder, who built from a half-dozen to 1,000 houses for sale, has disappeared from the scene. Too large a down payment is the reason." New Orleans home loan companies agree.

Baltimore finds credit curbs hurting only luxury type homes, for which buyers must raise as much as 50 per cent cash. But the reverse prevails in Arkansas and Richmond, Va.

Aksel Nielsen, Denver title man, sums up reaction to the credit curbs this way:

"Whatever dampening effect these might have is offset by an attitude that 'we might as well borrow the money and get started because next year the rules may be even tighter.'"

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—About 1,000,000 pounds of locally dressed beef is reported in storage here because of consumer resistance to high prices. She added that a considerable amount of western dressed beef also remains unsold here.

Realtor Is Given Tar and Feathers

Los Angeles, Feb. 23 (AP)—A real estate broker found doused with syrup and feathers, like a tar-and-feathering, told sheriff's deputies a weird story of 48 hours' captivity by three abductors.

Charles S. Smith, 49, was hospitalized today, suffering from shock, lack of food, bruises and the ordeal of being smeared from head to foot with the sticky mess.

Doctors washed the goo from his nude body. It was in his hair, on his face and eyelids and over his whole body. He was found at his office from where he telephoned the sheriff's office last night.

Gives His Story

Deputy James Boust said Smith, trembling and distraught, told this story:

Tuesday night three young men came to his office, accused him of "running a gyp rental racket" and forced him to accompany them, despite his protestations that he was not engaged in the rental business. He said he had never seen any of them before.

He repeatedly told them they must have mistaken him for someone else, perhaps a rental agent to whom Smith rents office space. But they only cursed him, finally hit him in the jaw and knocked him out.

Remembers Little

He remembered little after that, didn't know where he was taken but believed that at least part of the time he was in a house trailer. He was blindfolded and tied to a cot. Only once was he given anything to eat, a bowl of soup. At some time $1,600 was taken from him, money he had in a wallet in connection with a real estate deal. The men kept trying to worm out of him the combination to his safe.

Finally last night his tormentors returned him to his office. There they stripped him, poured syrup over him and rubbed feathers into the sticky covering. Then they left him.

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Gale winds up to 43 miles an hour brought out police emergency squads today to secure signs and flagpoles. Gusts up to 57 miles an hour were reported at LaGuardia Field. The wind direction was northwest. The Weather Buerau said the winds would abate tonight.

Truman May Run For Senate Seat

Washrington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Some congressional friends of President Truman said today he is seriously considering running for his old Senate seat when his present White House term expires.

"If Harry Truman does what he really wants to do he will run against (Republican) Senator Kem in the 1952 election," said one congressman who declined to be quoted by name. "He really loves the Senate."

Several recent White House callers have privately quoted the President as hinting he will not seek another term. They also say he talks longingly about returning to the Senate.

He will have served nearly eight years in the White House when his present term expires Jan. 20, 1953. Mr. Truman stepped up from the vice presidency April 12, 1945 after the sudden death of President Roosevelt.

No Definite Announcement

No definite White House announcement about the President's personal plans is expected immediately. Most observers believe he will not make up his mind whether to run for another term before early next year and that his decision will be based in large part upon the condition of world affairs by then.

Only one president, Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, has been elected to the Senate after serving in the White House. Johnson, a former Senator, returned to the Senate in 1875 for a term cut short by his death that year.

Earlier, John Quincy Adams was elected to the House after being president and spent almost 17 years there.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. from the Mullins and Redgate Funeral Home, 1297 Park avenue. The Rev. James Hood of Summerfield Methodist Church will conduct the services. Burial will take place in the Rosendale Plains Cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p. m. Thursday.

Kaiser-Frazer Officers on Stand at RFC Probe

Kaiser swore that his firm got R.F.C. loans only under terms "severe to the extent of being unreasonable." Calhoun testified his firm was told it could get easier terms on a loan if it hired William M. Boyle, Jr., Democratic national chairman, as counsel. With them are Harvey Gunderson (left), former R.F.C. director, and Hickman Price (second from right), director of Kaiser-Frazer Corp.

Would Avoid War

Declaring that America would be in a "desperate position" if western Europe fell to the Communists, Russell said:

"The main objective of the resolution is to avoid a war."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, 1948 Republican presidential candidate, is scheduled to testify before the committee tomorrow. Two other Republican leaders, Senator Taft of Ohio and Wherry, are scheduled to set out their views next week.

Russell told a reporter he would like to see some percentage ratio required for the American-European divisions, "but I just don't think you can write a rigid formula into legislation."

Spaatz Is Heard

The committees yesterday heard Gen. Carl (Tooey) Spaatz, retired air force chief of staff, recommend a 250-group U. S. Air Force. He said the nation must have an "air force second to none" to be secure.

Spaatz went along with the recommendation of the joint chiefs of staff that four additional U. S. divisions be sent to Europe to supplement the two already there. But in so doing he made it clear he regarded surface forces as an auxiliary of air power, and not air power the auxiliary of surface forces.

In a war, he warned, "Russia must be strangled by air."

On the other side of the Capitol, the House Foreign Affairs Committee made public a report saying "the sure way for western Europe to survive is to get down to business."

Rep. Mansfield (D.-Mont.) a committee member, drew up the report on the basis of a personal inspection tour of western Europe late last year.

Ulster Firemen Called

Ulster Hose Company was called for a fire at the home of Elmer Kirchner, Sawkill road, this morning. A mutual aid call was put through the Kingston fire department at 11:26 a. m., and firemen said the blaze which started in the chimney, spread to the roof. Use of a garden hose by Kirchner prevented serious spread of the blaze before firemen arrived.

No Party for Him

Y., recently sent his brother $200 from a Korean foxhole with instructions for the brother, another brother and a friend to spend it all in one night on a party. The trio banked the money in Robert's name, then read, Feb. 21, of Robert's escape from Chinese captors after they drenched him with gasoline and set him afire.

Order Revoked Calling Krum Back to Air Force

Detective William Krum, of the local police force said today that he had received notice of revocation of an order that would have called him as an air force reservist into active duty by March 1.

Wording of the order indicated that other air force reservists in this area have been notified that it will not be necessary to enter active duty at this time unless on a voluntary basis.

City Will Benefit By State Building Code, Says Mayor

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today that the city will be in a position to adopt a building code based upon finding of the local committee or can follow the pattern of the code determined by the state commission.

The mayor, who attended a state building code meeting in New York Wednesday, said that the survey and efforts of the State Building Code Commission will be highly beneficial to all municipalities of the state.

Besides its concern for building problems, the mayor said, the commission is working out effective safety and fire protection methods.

The first section of the proposed code as reviewed Wednesday was on two-story buildings.

It is not mandatory, the mayor said, for a municipality to adopt the state code, but because of the fact that the commission has obtained outstanding men for its survey, it is unlikely that a municipality will do better. It is the commission's aim to get one that will be workable in all municipalities, and it "has gone to great length" in the effort.

One important provision on materials, he said, will mean that those who introduce something new and not mentioned in the code, will have to get the commission's permission before it is used.

A local committee which had spent some time on a building code survey, reported on its findings last year.

White House . . .

told a news conference the report was asinine. He also indicated he regarded its intent as to reflect on him.

In Charge of Files

Questions from the senators to R.F.C. officials developed that Mrs. Donald Dawson, wife of the White House aide, is in charge of R.F.C. files. She has long been an R.F.C. employe.

All the RFC officials who testified today professed not to know who at the White House had ordered the RFC-congressional files sent to the White House.

The senators first called a recess for those 30 minutes but, changing their minds, went on with their hearings and questioned Kelly.

Testimony that they understood there had been a request for the files was given by W. Elmer Harber, chairman of the RFC board, William E. Willett, a director, and Arthur Merritt, executive manager for the board of directors.

'I Don't Know'

Each, when asked who ordered the files, replied: "I don't know."

The report of the White House move in the situation came immediately after Senator Douglas (D.-Ill.) had said he had heard "a group friendly to the RFC planned a counter offensive" in which it would attack Senate and House members who had communicated with the RFC.

"I serve notice here and now," Douglas declared and pounded his desk for emphasis, "I am not going to be intimidated in these hearings."

The session opened on an angry note with Senator Fulbright (D.-Arkansas), the subcommittee chairman, accusing the RFC of planting reports he had tried to influence an RFC loan.

He called this an attempt to "discredit the work" of the Senate group.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Aircraft issues provided the brightest spot today in an advancing stock market.

Gains in that division jumped ahead to nearly two points. Elsewhere the advance carried a little beyond a point.

Steels and motors joined in the rise, and some of the radio-television, air lines, and building material issues did well.

Consolidated Vultee was the first to go out in front. It reported fiscal year earnings equal to $4.36 a share as against $1.60 the previous year, and at the same time the company announced United Air Lines agreed to buy $16,500,-000 worth of new Convair-Liner transports.

The biggest boost was given to the aircrafts by testimony in Washington before congressional committees recommending a vast build-up in U. S. Air Force strength to something like 250 groups from the present goal of 95 groups.

Today's higher price inclination carries right along with the sentiment brought out in Wednesday's market. And so far there has been nothing in either the immediate or long-term picture to upset the movement.

The curb market maintained its gain. Higher were International Petroleum, Kirby Petroleum, Northrop Aircraft, Piper Aircraft, South Penn Oil, Atlas Plywood, Calgary & Edmonton, Crown Drug, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Fairchild Engine, and Fort Pitt Brewing.

Yale Scientist Studies Patients As One Himself

Detroit, Feb. 23 (AP)—A Yale University scientist, posing as a psychiatric patient, spent two months in a mental hospital. He kept an elaborate diary.

The experiment, described as the first of its kind, was reported yesterday to the American Orthopsychiatric Association, meeting here.

Dr. Frederick C. Redlich, chairman of the Yale psychiatric department, said the study raised the question whether most neurotic patients "still able to function in some areas of life" would not get along better with treatment outside a hospital. There were implications, he said, "that the whole physical and social structure of our mental hospitals should be restudied."

The identity of the scientist was not disclosed. He was described as "a normal man who exaggerated some of his own shortcomings" to hobnob with the mentally sick. The name of the hospital also was withheld.

By putting himself on the same level with the patients, Dr. X was accepted as one of the group. Communication barriers that separate doctors and patients disappeared.

Two Social Worlds

Dr. X found that the patients live in one social world and the hospital staff in another. They turn inward and build their own social world insulated as much as possible from friction with the hospital routine.

Hospital patients exert "tremendous pressures" on newcomers to act in certain ways toward other patients and toward the hospital staff and the treatment, Dr. X reported. He also found that patients "support, help and even treat each other even if this often means going against a rule of the hospital."

Dr. X found that psychiatrists tend to treat the patient as a clinical case instead of as an individual with certain inner desires.

He cited an instance of several patients asking to have a phonograph in the ward repaired. Instead, the consultant began to probe the significance of music to the patients. The phonograph was repaired six weeks later.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 23 — Twenty-five friends and relatives of Bertha E. Constable were Sunday dinner guests at the Constable home in the village in honor of the local woman's birthday which fell on Tuesday, Feb. 20.

Week-end callers in Shokan included Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Hammond of Staten Island. Hammond is a court stenographer in the metropolis.

Clarence Phillips, Jr., Glenford World War 2 veteran, was a caller here Wednesday. Clarence reports that his mother, a former resident of Shokan, suffered a broken arm in a fall on the ice earlier in the winter.

Times have changed: Whereas, today, scores of Oliveites are graduates of the high school in Kingston, the sole alumnus of Kingston Academy in the town 65 years ago was Mrs. Joseph Bevier of the Brown's Station road. Mrs. Bevier, who came here from Kingston, was a member of the alumni association of the old academy in 1886.

Duane Winnie, Ashokan young man before joining the army recently was employed on the construction of a new hospital in Poughkeepsie. Previously he had been an iron worker and welder on waterworks projects and the Belleayre ski slope.

Members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church plan to hold a baked ham supper Tuesday night, March 13. Half of the proceeds from the supper will go to the Red Cross fund.

Up at Bloomville, that U. & D. Railroad terminus of the long ago, a total of 14 persons have applied to take the examination for postmaster. This is a pretty good job, even for inflation times, the annual remuneration being $3,170. Many of the readers will recall the old time Sunday school excursions to Bloomville and Roxbury. Hundreds of people from Kingston all along the line would make the round trip, just for a "ride on the cars."

Richard Phillips, new soldier from the town of Hurley, and one time Shokan boy, is now stationed at Camp Pickett, Va.

Well, believe it or not, at least one local trout fisherman is beginning to worry, lest with all this winter rain, we'll have a dry spring and low water in the brooks around the open season. Might be something to't, at that.

Realtor Is Given Tar and Feathers

Los Angeles, Feb. 23 (AP)—A real estate broker found doused with syrup and feathers, like a tar-and-feathering, told sheriff's deputies a weird story of 48 hours' captivity by three abductors.

Charles S. Smith, 49, was hospitalized today, suffering from shock, lack of food, bruises and the ordeal of being smeared from head to foot with the sticky mess.

Doctors washed the goo from his nude body. It was in his hair, on his face and eyelids and over his whole body. He was found at his office from where he telephoned the sheriff's office last night.

Gives His Story

Deputy James Boust said Smith, trembling and distraught, told this story:

Tuesday night three young men came to his office, accused him of "running a gyp rental racket" and forced him to accompany them, despite his protestations that he was not engaged in the rental business. He said he had never seen any of them before.

He repeatedly told them they must have mistaken him for someone else, perhaps a rental agent to whom Smith rents office space. But they only cursed him, finally hit him in the jaw and knocked him out.

Remembers Little

He remembered little after that, didn't know where he was taken but believed that at least part of the time he was in a house trailer. He was blindfolded and tied to a cot. Only once was he given anything to eat, a bowl of soup. At some time $1,600 was taken from him, money he had in a wallet in connection with a real estate deal. The men kept trying to worm out of him the combination to his safe.

Finally last night his tormentors returned him to his office. There they stripped him, poured syrup over him and rubbed feathers into the sticky covering. Then they left him.

Truman May Run For Senate Seat

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Some congressional friends of President Truman said today he is seriously considering running for his old Senate seat when his present White House term expires.

"If Harry Truman does what he really wants to do he will run against (Republican) Senator Kem in the 1952 election," said one congressman who declined to be quoted by name. "He really loves the Senate."

Several recent White House callers have privately quoted the President as hinting he will not seek another term. They also say he talks longingly about returning to the Senate.

He will have served nearly eight years in the White House when his present term expires Jan. 20, 1953. Mr. Truman stepped up from the vice presidency April 12, 1945 after the sudden death of President Roosevelt.

No Definite Announcement

No definite White House announcement about the President's personal plans is expected immediately. Most observers believe he will not make up his mind whether to run for another term before early next year and that his decision will be based in large part upon the condition of world affairs by then.

Only one president, Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, has been elected to the Senate after serving in the White House. Johnson, a former Senator, returned to the Senate in 1875 for a term cut short by his death that year.

Earlier, John Quincy Adams was elected to the House after being president and spent almost 17 years there.

Mrs. Swain had lived in Bridgeport about 20 years before removing to Holyoke, Mass. She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Martha Bleecker, New Paltz; Mrs. Theora Proctor, New York; and Mrs. Alice Warner, Middletown. She also is survived by six nieces and six nephews. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. from the Mullins and Redgate Funeral Home, 1297 Park avenue. The Rev. James Hood of Summerfield Methodist Church will conduct the services. Burial will take place in the Rosendale Plains Cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p. m. Thursday.

H.S.T. Plan Gains

simply that the success of the defense effort requires the assignment by North Atlantic treaty members of troops to the European force under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower but that the President should consult with congressional committees before making specific troop commitments.

Would Avoid War

Declaring that America would be in a "desperate position" if western Europe fell to the Communists, Russell said:

"The main objective of the resolution is to avoid a war."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, 1948 Republican presidential candidate, is scheduled to testify before the committee tomorrow. Two other Republican leaders, Senator Taft of Ohio and Wherry, are scheduled to set out their views next week.

Russell told a reporter he would like to see some percentage ratio required for the American-European divisions, "but I just don't think you can write a rigid formula into legislation."

Spaatz Is Heard

The committees yesterday heard Gen. Carl (Tooey) Spaatz, retired air force chief of staff, recommend a 250-group U. S. Air Force. He said the nation must have an "air force second to none" to be secure.

Spaatz went along with the recommendation of the joint chiefs of staff that four additional U. S. divisions be sent to Europe to supplement the two already there. But in so doing he made it clear he regarded surface forces as an auxiliary of air power, and not air power the auxiliary of surface forces.

In a war, he warned, "Russia must be strangled by air."

On the other side of the Capitol, the House Foreign Affairs Committee made public a report saying "the sure way for western Europe to survive is to get down to business."

Rep. Mansfield (D.-Mont.) a committee member, drew up the report on the basis of a personal inspection tour of western Europe late last year.

Heidelberg, Germany, Feb. 23 (AP)—Four Germans convicted of participation in concentration camp atrocities were released from the U. S. war crimes prison at Landsberg today. The U. S. Ulster Firemen Called Ulster Hose Company was called for a fire at the home of Elmer Kirchner, Sawkill road, this morning. A mutual aid call was put through the Kingston fire department at 11:26 a. m., and firemen said the blaze which started in the chimney, spread to the roof. Use of a garden hose by Kirchner prevented serious spread of the blaze before firemen arrived.

No Party for Him

Pvt. Robert J. Philippen (above) of Atlantic Beach, N. Y., recently sent his brother $200 from a Korean foxhole with instructions for the brother, another brother and a friend to spend it all in one night on a party. The trio banked the money in Robert's name, then read, Feb. 21, of Robert's escape from Chinese captors after they drenched him with gasoline and set him afire.

Order Revoked Calling Krum Back to Air Force

Detective William Krum, of the local police force said today that he had received notice of revocation of an order that would have called him as an air force reservist into active duty by March 1.

Wording of the order indicated that other air force reservists in this area have been notified that it will not be necessary to enter active duty at this time unless on a voluntary basis.

City Will Benefit By State Building Code, Says Mayor

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today that the city will be in a position to adopt a building code based upon finding of the local committee or can follow the pattern of the code determined by the state commission.

The mayor, who attended a state building code meeting in New York Wednesday, said that the survey and efforts of the State Building Code Commission will be highly beneficial to all municipalities of the state.

Besides its concern for building problems, the mayor said, the commission is working out effective safety and fire protection methods.

The first section of the proposed code as reviewed Wednesday was on two-story buildings.

It is not mandatory, the mayor said, for a municipality to adopt the state code, but because of the fact that the commission has obtained outstanding men for its survey, it is unlikely that a municipality will do better. It is the commission's aim to get one that will be workable in all municipalities, and it "has gone to great length" in the effort.

One important provision on materials, he said, will mean that those who introduce something new and not mentioned in the code, will have to get the commission's permission before it is used.

A local committee which had spent some time on a building code survey, reported on its findings last year.

White House . . .

told a news conference the report was asinine. He also indicated he regarded its intent as to reflect on him.

In Charge of Files

Questions from the senators to R.F.C. officials developed that Mrs. Donald Dawson, wife of the White House aide, is in charge of R.F.C. files. She has long been an R.F.C. employe.

All the RFC officials who testified today professed not to know who at the White House had ordered the RFC-congressional files sent to the White House.

The senators first called a recess for those 30 minutes but, changing their minds, went on with their hearings and questioned Kelly.

Testimony that they understood there had been a request for the files was given by W. Elmer Harber, chairman of the RFC board, William E. Willett, a director, and Arthur Merritt, executive manager for the board of directors.

'I Don't Know'

Each, when asked who ordered the files, replied: "I don't know."

The report of the White House move in the situation came immediately after Senator Douglas (D.-Ill.) had said he had heard "a group friendly to the RFC planned a counter offensive" in which it would attack Senate and House members who had communicated with the RFC.

"I serve notice here and now," Douglas declared and pounded his desk for emphasis, "I am not going to be intimidated in these hearings."

The session opened on an angry note with Senator Fulbright (D.-Arkansas), the subcommittee chairman, accusing the RFC of planting reports he had tried to influence an RFC loan.

He called this an attempt to "discredit the work" of the Senate group.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Aircraft issues provided the brightest spot today in an advancing stock market.

Gains in that division jumped ahead to nearly two points. Elsewhere the advance carried a little beyond a point.

Steels and motors joined in the rise, and some of the radio-television, air lines, and building material issues did well.

Consolidated Vultee was the first to go out in front. It reported fiscal year earnings equal to $4.36 a share as against $1.60 the previous year, and at the same time the company announced United Air Lines agreed to buy $16,500,-000 worth of new Convair-Liner transports.

The biggest boost was given to the aircrafts by testimony in Washington before congressional committees recommending a vast build-up in U. S. Air Force strength to something like 250 groups from the present goal of 95 groups.

Today's higher price inclination carries right along with the sentiment brought out in Wednesday's market. And so far there has been nothing in either the immediate or long-term picture to upset the movement.

The curb market maintained its gain. Higher were International Petroleum, Kirby Petroleum, Northrop Aircraft, Piper Aircraft, South Penn Oil, Atlas Plywood, Calgary & Edmonton, Crown Drug, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Fairchild Engine, and Fort Pitt Brewing.

Yale Scientist Studies Patients As One Himself

Detroit, Feb. 23 (AP)—A Yale University scientist, posing as a psychiatric patient, spent two months in a mental hospital. He kept an elaborate diary.

The experiment, described as the first of its kind, was reported yesterday to the American Orthopsychiatric Association, meeting here.

Dr. Frederick C. Redlich, chairman of the Yale psychiatric department, said the study raised the question whether most neurotic patients "still able to function in some areas of life" would not get along better with treatment outside a hospital. There were implications, he said, "that the whole physical and social structure of our mental hospitals should be restudied."

The identity of the scientist was not disclosed. He was described as "a normal man who exaggerated some of his own shortcomings" to hobnob with the mentally sick. The name of the hospital also was withheld.

By putting himself on the same level with the patients, Dr. X was accepted as one of the group. Communication barriers that separate doctors and patients disappeared.

Two Social Worlds

Dr. X found that the patients live in one social world and the hospital staff in another. They turn inward and build their own social world insulated as much as possible from friction with the hospital routine.

Hospital patients exert "tremendous pressures" on newcomers to act in certain ways toward other patients and toward the hospital staff and the treatment, Dr. X reported. He also found that patients "support, help and even treat each other even if this often means going against a rule of the hospital."

Dr. X found that psychiatrists tend to treat the patient as a clinical case instead of as an individual with certain inner desires.

He cited an instance of several patients asking to have a phonograph in the ward repaired. Instead, the consultant began to probe the significance of music to the patients. The phonograph was repaired six weeks later.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 23 — Twenty-five friends and relatives of Bertha E. Constable were Sunday dinner guests at the Constable home in the village in honor of the local woman's birthday which fell on Tuesday, Feb. 20.

Week-end callers in Shokan included Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Hammond of Staten Island. Hammond is a court stenographer in the metropolis.

Clarence Phillips, Jr., Glenford World War 2 veteran, was a caller here Wednesday. Clarence reports that his mother, a former resident of Shokan, suffered a broken arm in a fall on the ice earlier in the winter.

Times have changed: Whereas, today, scores of Oliveites are graduates of the high school in Kingston, the sole alumnus of Kingston Academy in the town 65 years ago was Mrs. Joseph Bevier of the Brown's Station road. Mrs. Bevier, who came here from Kingston, was a member of the alumni association of the old academy in 1886.

Duane Winnie, Ashokan young man before joining the army recently was employed on the construction of a new hospital in Poughkeepsie. Previously he had been an iron worker and welder on waterworks projects and the Belleayre ski slope.

Up at Bloomville, that U. & D. Railroad terminus of the long ago, a total of 14 persons have applied to take the examination for postmaster. This is a pretty good job, even for inflation times, the annual remuneration being $3,170. Many of the readers will recall the old time Sunday school excursions to Bloomville and Roxbury. Hundreds of people from Kingston all along the line would make the round trip, just for a "ride on the cars."

Richard Phillips, new soldier from the town of Hurley, and one time Shokan boy, is now stationed at Camp Pickett, Va.

Well, believe it or not, at least one local trout fisherman is beginning to worry, lest with all this winter rain, we'll have a dry spring and low water in the brooks around the open season. Might be something to't, at that.

Realtor Is Given Tar and Feathers

Los Angeles, Feb. 23 (AP)—A real estate broker found doused with syrup and feathers, like a tar-and-feathering, told sheriff's deputies a weird story of 48 hours' captivity by three abductors.

Charles S. Smith, 49, was hospitalized today, suffering from shock, lack of food, bruises and the ordeal of being smeared from head to foot with the sticky mess.

Doctors washed the goo from his nude body. It was in his hair, on his face and eyelids and over his whole body. He was found at his office from where he telephoned the sheriff's office last night.

Gives His Story

Deputy James Boust said Smith, trembling and distraught, told this story:

Tuesday night three young men came to his office, accused him of "running a gyp rental racket" and forced him to accompany them, despite his protestations that he was not engaged in the rental business. He said he had never seen any of them before.

He repeatedly told them they must have mistaken him for someone else, perhaps a rental agent to whom Smith rents office space. But they only cursed him, finally hit him in the jaw and knocked him out.

Remembers Little

He remembered little after that, didn't know where he was taken but believed that at least part of the time he was in a house trailer. He was blindfolded and tied to a cot. Only once was he given anything to eat, a bowl of soup. At some time $1,600 was taken from him, money he had in a wallet in connection with a real estate deal. The men kept trying to worm out of him the combination to his safe.

Finally last night his tormentors returned him to his office. There they stripped him, poured syrup over him and rubbed feathers into the sticky covering. Then they left him.

Truman May Run For Senate Seat

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Some congressional friends of President Truman said today he is seriously considering running for his old Senate seat when his present White House term expires.

"If Harry Truman does what he really wants to do he will run against (Republican) Senator Kem in the 1952 election," said one congressman who declined to be quoted by name. "He really loves the Senate."

Several recent White House callers have privately quoted the President as hinting he will not seek another term. They also say he talks longingly about returning to the Senate.

He will have served nearly eight years in the White House when his present term expires Jan. 20, 1953. Mr. Truman stepped up from the vice presidency April 12, 1945 after the sudden death of President Roosevelt.

No Definite Announcement

No definite White House announcement about the President's personal plans is expected immediately. Most observers believe he will not make up his mind whether to run for another term before early next year and that his decision will be based in large part upon the condition of world affairs by then.

Only one president, Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, has been elected to the Senate after serving in the White House. Johnson, a former Senator, returned to the Senate in 1875 for a term cut short by his death that year.

Earlier, John Quincy Adams was elected to the House after being president and spent almost 17 years there.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. from the Mullins and Redgate Funeral Home, 1297 Park avenue. The Rev. James Hood of Summerfield Methodist Church will conduct the services. Burial will take place in the Rosendale Plains Cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p. m. Thursday.

H.S.T. Plan Gains

simply that the success of the defense effort requires the assignment by North Atlantic treaty members of troops to the European force under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower but that the President should consult with congressional committees before making specific troop commitments.

Would Avoid War

Declaring that America would be in a "desperate position" if western Europe fell to the Communists, Russell said:

"The main objective of the resolution is to avoid a war."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, 1948 Republican presidential candidate, is scheduled to testify before the committee tomorrow. Two other Republican leaders, Senator Taft of Ohio and Wherry, are scheduled to set out their views next week.

Russell told a reporter he would like to see some percentage ratio required for the American-European divisions, "but I just don't think you can write a rigid formula into legislation."

Spaatz Is Heard

The committees yesterday heard Gen. Carl (Tooey) Spaatz, retired air force chief of staff, recommend a 250-group U. S. Air Force. He said the nation must have an "air force second to none" to be secure.

Spaatz went along with the recommendation of the joint chiefs of staff that four additional U. S. divisions be sent to Europe to supplement the two already there. But in so doing he made it clear he regarded surface forces as an auxiliary of air power, and not air power the auxiliary of surface forces.

In a war, he warned, "Russia must be strangled by air."

On the other side of the Capitol, the House Foreign Affairs Committee made public a report saying "the sure way for western Europe to survive is to get down to business."

Rep. Mansfield (D.-Mont.) a committee member, drew up the report on the basis of a personal inspection tour of western Europe late last year.

Ulster Firemen Called

Ulster Hose Company was called for a fire at the home of Elmer Kirchner, Sawkill road, this morning. A mutual aid call was put through the Kingston fire department at 11:26 a. m., and firemen said the blaze which started in the chimney, spread to the roof. Use of a garden hose by Kirchner prevented serious spread of the blaze before firemen arrived.

No Party for Him

Pvt. Robert J. Philippen (above) of Atlantic Beach, N. Y., recently sent his brother $200 from a Korean foxhole with instructions for the brother, another brother and a friend to spend it all in one night on a party. The trio banked the money in Robert's name, then read, Feb. 21, of Robert's escape from Chinese captors after they drenched him with gasoline and set him afire.

Order Revoked Calling Krum Back to Air Force

Detective William Krum, of the local police force said today that he had received notice of revocation of an order that would have called him as an air force reservist into active duty by March 1.

Wording of the order indicated that other air force reservists in this area have been notified that it will not be necessary to enter active duty at this time unless on a voluntary basis.

City Will Benefit By State Building Code, Says Mayor

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today that the city will be in a position to adopt a building code based upon finding of the local committee or can follow the pattern of the code determined by the state commission.

The mayor, who attended a state building code meeting in New York Wednesday, said that the survey and efforts of the State Building Code Commission will be highly beneficial to all municipalities of the state.

Besides its concern for building problems, the mayor said, the commission is working out effective safety and fire protection methods.

The first section of the proposed code as reviewed Wednesday was on two-story buildings.

It is not mandatory, the mayor said, for a municipality to adopt the state code, but because of the fact that the commission has obtained outstanding men for its survey, it is unlikely that a municipality will do better. It is the commission's aim to get one that will be workable in all municipalities, and it "has gone to great length" in the effort.

One important provision on materials, he said, will mean that those who introduce something new and not mentioned in the code, will have to get the commission's permission before it is used.

A local committee which had spent some time on a building code survey, reported on its findings last year.

In Charge of Files

Questions from the senators to R.F.C. officials developed that Mrs. Donald Dawson, wife of the White House aide, is in charge of R.F.C. files. She has long been an R.F.C. employe.

All the RFC officials who testified today professed not to know who at the White House had ordered the RFC-congressional files sent to the White House.

The senators first called a recess for those 30 minutes but, changing their minds, went on with their hearings and questioned Kelly.

Testimony that they understood there had been a request for the files was given by W. Elmer Harber, chairman of the RFC board, William E. Willett, a director, and Arthur Merritt, executive manager for the board of directors.

'I Don't Know'

Each, when asked who ordered the files, replied: "I don't know."

The report of the White House move in the situation came immediately after Senator Douglas (D.-Ill.) had said he had heard "a group friendly to the RFC planned a counter offensive" in which it would attack Senate and House members who had communicated with the RFC.

"I serve notice here and now," Douglas declared and pounded his desk for emphasis, "I am not going to be intimidated in these hearings."

The session opened on an angry note with Senator Fulbright (D.-Arkansas), the subcommittee chairman, accusing the RFC of planting reports he had tried to influence an RFC loan.

He called this an attempt to "discredit the work" of the Senate group.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Aircraft issues provided the brightest spot today in an advancing stock market.

Gains in that division jumped ahead to nearly two points. Elsewhere the advance carried a little beyond a point.

Steels and motors joined in the rise, and some of the radio-television, air lines, and building material issues did well.

Consolidated Vultee was the first to go out in front. It reported fiscal year earnings equal to $4.36 a share as against $1.60 the previous year, and at the same time the company announced United Air Lines agreed to buy $16,500,-000 worth of new Convair-Liner transports.

The biggest boost was given to the aircrafts by testimony in Washington before congressional committees recommending a vast build-up in U. S. Air Force strength to something like 250 groups from the present goal of 95 groups.

Today's higher price inclination carries right along with the sentiment brought out in Wednesday's market. And so far there has been nothing in either the immediate or long-term picture to upset the movement.

The curb market maintained its gain. Higher were International Petroleum, Kirby Petroleum, Northrop Aircraft, Piper Aircraft, South Penn Oil, Atlas Plywood, Calgary & Edmonton, Crown Drug, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Fairchild Engine, and Fort Pitt Brewing.

Yale Scientist Studies Patients As One Himself

Detroit, Feb. 23 (AP)—A Yale University scientist, posing as a psychiatric patient, spent two months in a mental hospital. He kept an elaborate diary.

The experiment, described as the first of its kind, was reported yesterday to the American Orthopsychiatric Association, meeting here.

Dr. Frederick C. Redlich, chairman of the Yale psychiatric department, said the study raised the question whether most neurotic patients "still able to function in some areas of life" would not get along better with treatment outside a hospital. There were implications, he said, "that the whole physical and social structure of our mental hospitals should be restudied."

The identity of the scientist was not disclosed. He was described as "a normal man who exaggerated some of his own shortcomings" to hobnob with the mentally sick. The name of the hospital also was withheld.

By putting himself on the same level with the patients, Dr. X was accepted as one of the group. Communication barriers that separate doctors and patients disappeared.

Two Social Worlds

Dr. X found that the patients live in one social world and the hospital staff in another. They turn inward and build their own social world insulated as much as possible from friction with the hospital routine.

Hospital patients exert "tremendous pressures" on newcomers to act in certain ways toward other patients and toward the hospital staff and the treatment, Dr. X reported. He also found that patients "support, help and even treat each other even if this often means going against a rule of the hospital."

Dr. X found that psychiatrists tend to treat the patient as a clinical case instead of as an individual with certain inner desires.

He cited an instance of several patients asking to have a phonograph in the ward repaired. Instead, the consultant began to probe the significance of music to the patients. The phonograph was repaired six weeks later.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 23 — Twenty-five friends and relatives of Bertha E. Constable were Sunday dinner guests at the Constable home in the village in honor of the local woman's birthday which fell on Tuesday, Feb. 20.

Week-end callers in Shokan included Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Hammond of Staten Island. Hammond is a court stenographer in the metropolis.

Clarence Phillips, Jr., Glenford World War 2 veteran, was a caller here Wednesday. Clarence reports that his mother, a former resident of Shokan, suffered a broken arm in a fall on the ice earlier in the winter.

Times have changed: Whereas, today, scores of Oliveites are graduates of the high school in Kingston, the sole alumnus of Kingston Academy in the town 65 years ago was Mrs. Joseph Bevier of the Brown's Station road. Up at Bloomville, that U. & D. Railroad terminus of the long ago, a total of 14 persons have applied to take the examination for postmaster. This is a pretty good job, even for inflation times, the annual remuneration being $3,170. Many of the readers will recall the old time Sunday school excursions to Bloomville and Roxbury. Hundreds of people from Kingston all along the line would make the round trip, just for a "ride on the cars."

Well, believe it or not, at least one local trout fisherman is beginning to worry, lest with all this winter rain, we'll have a dry spring and low water in the brooks around the open season. Might be something to't, at that.

Detroit, Feb. 23 (AP)—Men suffering from peptic ulcer need lots of love and attention, the American Orthopsychiatric Association was told today.

Excelsior Hose Company Holds 100th Banquet

Excelsiors Are Praised for Fine Service to City

Approximately 125 members of Excelsior Hose Company No. 4, the Ladies' Auxiliary and guests attended the organization's 100th annual banquet Thursday evening at the Roseland Restaurant.

There was a turkey dinner followed by a program of speeches by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and William B. Martin, president of Excelsiors, who was toastmaster.

Mayor Newkirk told the gathering, "The city of Kingston couldn't afford to pay for the fine kind of fire protection given by volunteer companies," and called Excelsiors one of the finest units of the system.

Chief Murphy said that on its 100th anniversary "Excelsior Company can feel proud of its record," and added that it is always ready to answer alarms and cooperate with his paid fire fighters.

"Have pride in your company," he added, "for that is one of the elements that keeps morale high in the ranks of volunteers; and impressed the public with the value of service they render to the community."

50-Year Men Introduced

Two 50-year members of Excelsiors were introduced, who have served as paid firemen, Captain Wright Maines and William McElrath. Captain Maines is still on duty after 42 years and McElrath is retired.

Others who took a bow were Captain William Geary of the paid department; Supervisor Pete Boice of the Town of Ulster; Councilman Clarence Rappleya of the same town; Alfred R. Thomas and Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding of the board of public works; Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Arthur Brown of his department; 12th ward officials Alderman Robert Cullum and Supervisor James Martin; Dan Galvin, custodian of the firehouse and Joseph Kelly, alderman-at-large.

Fire Commissioners Frank Burr and Henry Kelsch were praised for their cooperative attitude in regards to volunteer firemen. Commissioner Charles Derrenbacher was ill and could not attend the dinner.

Elmer Harvey took a bow as the company's fat man and one of its best workers and Al Longyear was praised for his efforts in behalf of projects sponsored by the volunteers.

Had Anniversary Song

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hull, celebrating their 18th wedding anniversary, stood while the assemblage sang in their honor.

During the proceedings President William B. Martin called for a period of silent prayer for "the boys who are fighting in the war for peace and democracy—that they may be returned safely to their families."

President Martin, whose name is synonymous with Excelsior Hose, next to whose firehouse he conducts his printing business, has seen 43 years of service as an officer of the company, having held most of the positions right up to the presidency he now occupies.

He is as proud of the Ladies' Auxiliary as of his Excelsiors and calls them "the right arm of the company." In introducing the officers he remarked, "thank God for the ladies, we couldn't get along without them."

January Savings Set Top, Says Loan Firms

Total savings received during January, 1951 by the 236 savings and loan associations throughout New York state were greater than for any January on record, Zebulon V. Woodard, executive vice president of the New York State Savings and Loan League announced today. Members placed $68,875,000 and withdrew $58,604,000 or 85.1 per cent of share receipts, and thus increased savings capital by $10,271,000 or eight-tenths of one per cent.

A total of 3,983 mortgages valued at $22,059,000 was closed by savings and loan associations during January, Mr. Woodard stated. This amount represents a $2.5 million decrease from the December, 1950 figure but still exceeds any January on record, topping the figure for January a year ago by ten per cent.

As of January 31, 1951 total share capital of all associations stood at $1,248,8000,000; total assets amounted to $1,449,800,000; and the ratio of cash and government bonds to total resources remained at 14.7 per cent.

Flight Details Secret

Honolulu, Feb. 23 (AP)—Military secrecy today hid details of a probable record flight by a six-engined B-47 jet bomber of the U. S. Air Force from the mainland to Hawaii. Trailing four black smoke plumes, the bomber—big as a B-29, fast as a fighter—flashed over Hickam Field yesterday after an overwater flight of more than 2,000 miles. The Boeing Stratojet can carry the 10-ton bomb load of a B-29 Superfortress. It has averaged 607.8 miles an hour in mainland tests.

Three Ulster Men Named to Capital Realty Committee

Three appointments to the enlarged Realtors' Washington Committee were made at a meeting of the Ulster County Real Estate Board at the Stuyvesant Hotel Tuesday night.

The new committee members are George W. Moore, president of the county board, F. T. Loomis and Harold W. O'Connor.

Through the committee, the local board is kept informed of the bills in Washington and Albany that vitally affect real estate owners and realtors. Periodic surveys of the real estate market are made and reports from the local board are forwarded to the National Association through this committee.

The local board was also informed at Tuesday night's meeting that an effort is being made to organize 12 million small owners of residence and business rental property. An organizational meeting will be held in Washington, D. C., "in a few weeks," it was stated in a communication. The National Association of Real Estate Boards has pledged "friendly help" to the new association, although the new organization is not officially connected with the N.A.R.E.B.

Other important business was transacted at the meeting, which was presided over by G. W. Moore, president, and Lawrence J. MacAvery, secretary.

What is a dry beer?

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY TELLS YOU—

dry—Lacking sweetness—said of wines and other fermented liquors the sugar of which has been used up during fermentation.

From the dictionary, from the people who make beer, and from the people who drink beer, here are important questions and answers about dryness in beer.

Q. What makes a beer dry?

A. The dryness of a beer depends to a large extent on the amount of non-fermented sugar remaining in the finished beer after the fermentation and brewing process is completed. In producing a dry beer all brewers strive to remove as much of this non-fermented sugar as possible. Naturally, more complete fermentation (conversion of sugar) means less non-fermented sugar in the beer you drink. Piel's traditionally employs a slower, more thorough brewing process to achieve this result. This also is a costlier brewing process.

Q. Are all dry beers equally dry?

A. Definitely not. All fine beers have their qualities of dryness, but when an independent laboratory took samples at random of 10 of the largest-selling beers, and compared them, Piel's was found to contain less non-fermented sugar than any other brand tested. Yes, Piel's slower, more thorough, more costly brewing means a beer that is more dry...preven so.

Q. Is a drier beer more satisfying?

A. People who drink beer regularly say that it is more refreshing, more appetizing, more enjoyable. Men and women alike agree that the more dry the beer, the more the flavor and bouquet come through to you. And because Piel's is more dry, we sincerely believe no other beer can match the delightful bouquet and the satisfying flavor of Piel's. But prove it for yourself. Try Piel's at home—or at your favorite tavern—tonight.

Q. Is the drier beer the more popular beer?

A. Yes. Consumer opinion confirms that American tastes have shifted from the old-fashioned, sweeter beers of Grandfather's day to the more fully fermented, more dry beers of the present day. And there is ample proof of this trend in the fact that the sales of Piel's—the beer that is more dry—have grown steadily over the years, and that today more people are asking for Piel's than ever before in Piel's 68 years of brewing experience.

Excelsiors Are Praised for Fine Service to City

Approximately 125 members of Excelsior Hose Company No. 4, the Ladies' Auxiliary and guests attended the organization's 100th annual banquet Thursday evening at the Roseland Restaurant.

There was a turkey dinner followed by a program of speeches by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and William B. Martin, president of Excelsiors, who was toastmaster.

Mayor Newkirk told the gathering, "The city of Kingston couldn't afford to pay for the fine kind of fire protection given by volunteer companies," and called Excelsiors one of the finest units of the system.

Chief Murphy said that on its 100th anniversary "Excelsior Company can feel proud of its record," and added that it is always ready to answer alarms and cooperate with his paid fire fighters.

"Have pride in your company," he added, "for that is one of the elements that keeps morale high in the ranks of volunteers; and impressed the public with the value of service they render to the community."

50-Year Men Introduced

Two 50-year members of Excelsiors were introduced, who have served as paid firemen, Captain Wright Maines and William McElrath. Captain Maines is still on duty after 42 years and McElrath is retired.

Others who took a bow were Captain William Geary of the paid department; Supervisor Pete Boice of the Town of Ulster; Councilman Clarence Rappleya of the same town; Alfred R. Thomas and Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding of the board of public works; Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Arthur Brown of his department; 12th ward officials Alderman Robert Cullum and Supervisor James Martin; Dan Galvin, custodian of the firehouse and Joseph Kelly, alderman-at-large.

Fire Commissioners Frank Burr and Henry Kelsch were praised for their cooperative attitude in regards to volunteer firemen. Commissioner Charles Derrenbacher was ill and could not attend the dinner.

Elmer Harvey took a bow as the company's fat man and one of its best workers and Al Longyear was praised for his efforts in behalf of projects sponsored by the volunteers.

Had Anniversary Song

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hull, celebrating their 18th wedding anniversary, stood while the assemblage sang in their honor.

During the proceedings President William B. Martin called for a period of silent prayer for "the boys who are fighting in the war for peace and democracy—that they may be returned safely to their families."

President Martin, whose name is synonymous with Excelsior Hose, next to whose firehouse he conducts his printing business, has seen 43 years of service as an officer of the company, having held most of the positions right up to the presidency he now occupies.

He is as proud of the Ladies' Auxiliary as of his Excelsiors and calls them "the right arm of the company." In introducing the officers he remarked, "thank God for the ladies, we couldn't get along without them."

January Savings Set Top, Says Loan Firms

Total savings received during January, 1951 by the 236 savings and loan associations throughout New York state were greater than for any January on record, Zebulon V. Woodard, executive vice president of the New York State Savings and Loan League announced today. Members placed $68,875,000 and withdrew $58,604,000 or 85.1 per cent of share receipts, and thus increased savings capital by $10,271,000 or eight-tenths of one per cent.

A total of 3,983 mortgages valued at $22,039,000 was closed by savings and loan associations during January, Mr. Woodard stated. This amount represents a $2.5 million decrease from the December, 1950 figure but still exceeds any January on record, topping the figure for January a year ago by ten per cent.

As of January 31, 1951 total share capital of all associations stood at $1,248,8000,000; total assets amounted to $1,449,800,000; and the ratio of cash and government bonds to total resources remained at 14.7 per cent.

Honolulu, Feb. 23 (AP)—Military secrecy today hid details of a probable record flight by a six-engined B-47 jet bomber of the U. S. Air Force from the mainland to Hawaii. Three Ulster Men Named to Capital Realty Committee

Three appointments to the enlarged Realtors' Washington Committee were made at a meeting of the Ulster County Real Estate Board at the Stuyvesant Hotel Tuesday night.

The new committee members are George W. Moore, president of the county board, F. T. Loomis and Harold W. O'Connor.

Through the committee, the local board is kept informed of the bills in Washington and Albany that vitally affect real estate owners and realtors. Periodic surveys of the real estate market are made and reports from the local board are forwarded to the National Association through this committee.

The local board was also informed at Tuesday night's meeting that an effort is being made to organize 12 million small owners of residence and business rental property. An organizational meeting will be held in Washington, D. C., "in a few weeks," it was stated in a communication. The National Association of Real Estate Boards has pledged "friendly help" to the new association, although the new organization is not officially connected with the N.A.R.E.B.

Other important business was transacted at the meeting, which was presided over by G. W. Moore, president, and Lawrence J. MacAvery, secretary.

What is a dry beer?

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY TELLS YOU—
dry—Lacking sweetness—said of wines and other fermented liquors the sugar of which has been used up during fermentation.

From the dictionary, from the people who make beer, and from the people who drink beer, here are important questions and answers about dryness in beer.

Q. What makes a beer dry?
A. The dryness of a beer depends to a large extent on the amount of non-fermented sugar remaining in the finished beer after the fermentation and brewing process is completed. In producing a dry beer all brewers strive to remove as much of this non-fermented sugar as possible. Naturally, more complete fermentation (conversion of sugar) means less non-fermented sugar in the beer you drink. Piel's traditionally employs a slower, more thorough brewing process to achieve this result. This also is a costlier brewing process.

Q. Are all dry beers equally dry?
A. Definitely not. All fine beers have their qualities of dryness, but when an independent laboratory took samples at random of 10 of the largest-selling beers, and compared them, Piel's was found to contain less non-fermented sugar than any other brand tested. Yes, Piel's slower, more thorough, more costly brewing means a beer that is more dry... proven so.

Q. Is a drier beer more satisfying?
A. People who drink beer regularly say that it is more refreshing, more appetizing, more enjoyable. Men and women alike agree that the more dry the beer, the more the flavor and bouquet come through to you. And because Piel's is more dry, we sincerely believe no other beer can match the delightful bouquet and the satisfying flavor of Piel's. But prove it for yourself. Try Piel's at home—or at your favorite tavern—tonight.

Q. Is the drier beer the more popular beer?
A. Yes. Consumer opinion confirms that American tastes have shifted from the old-fashioned, sweeter beers of Grandfather's day to the more fully fermented, more dry beers of the present day. And there is ample proof of this trend in the fact that the sales of Piel's—the beer that is more dry—have grown steadily over the years, and that today more people are asking for Piel's than ever before in Piel's 68 years of brewing experience.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 23, 1951

YELLOW OLEO WITHOUT TAX

Since 1893 there has been a law against the sale of oleomargarine in New York State. You can buy oleo in white and when you get home color it with a little pellet inclosed by the manufacturer.

Just how much the prohibition on oleo has actually helped the dairy farmers of New York State is debatable, since for every pound produced in New York and sold in this state there are nineteen pounds of butter imported from other states.

This year a bill has been introduced in both the Senate and Assembly to legalize yellow margarine, but with the imposition of one or two cents per pound on the product. The money collected would go for the enforcement of rigorous safeguards against infringement on butter. However, other foods are not especially taxed to pay those who see that they conform to the pure food and drug acts.

The imposition of this tax is plainly discriminatory. The people who can less afford the taxes would be made shoulder the burden.

The Federal Government has repealed the ancient ten-cents a pound federal tax on yellow margarine and colored oleo is sold freely in thirty-four states around the country.

The lawmakers at Albany should see to it that the colored product, without the tax, is placed on the market.

STIFF SENTENCES FOR BRIBERY

Governor Dewey has approved the purposes of the bills introduced by Senator Wicks and Assemblyman Mailler to increase the maximum possible sentence from five to ten years for anyone who offers or gives bribes to athletes.

The person who offers or gives a bribe to an athlete is subject only to the same sentence as the athlete, which is one to five years.

The governor believes this increase in the penal sanctions should have a deterrent effect.

Sports—high school, college, semi-professional and professional—of all kinds have a large following in this country. It is too bad that crooks have seen a opportunity for "easy" money in sports and worse still that college athletes have fallen for the bribes.

The local senator is to be commended for his interest in clean sports, and in the protection of athletes who might be tempted.

Let's hope that when convicted those who use bribery to "fix" sports events will be given the maximum sentence.

THE HATS OF SPRING

It occurred to a male reader to wonder what there was in the stars or the tides of public opinion which tended to make the hats of one year so crazy and those of another year comparatively sane. A milliner clarified this most important problem for us. She says the first hats shown in any spring are always a little on the queer and striking side. It's true in the autumn, too, but is not noticed so much because people in general are busier about more varied activities.

After the trials of winter, public attention concentrates on all signs of spring, weird hats among them. When a few week have gone by and the trial balloon hats have come and gone, the styles settle down into something more reasonable and men notice them no more. The individual pretty hat on the individual woman looks good to them, but the styles as styles cease to attract attention to the same degree.

Ain't it wonderful to learn the psychology of things like hats?

HELP FOR HOUSING

Northern Greece, the battleground of the National Army and the Communist-led guerrillas, suffered extensive damage in the recent fighting in Greece. Left homeless as winter approached last fall were 850,000 persons. Heaps of rubble have been salvaged and added to corrugated iron, tile and brick to provide the materials for housing projects. No one is now without adequate shelter, says the Greek government.

This huge program has been accomplished by the Greek government housing organization and the Economic Cooperation Administration. The villagers, pooling their own abilities and resources and helped by funds and added materials from E.C.A. have constructed their own homes and schools.

The vital part of the work of E.C.A. comes from its operations under the heading of cooperation. An attitude of self-reliance and self-respect is fostered in the recipients of aid when their own efforts are underwritten and helped to fruition. In most cases, not a handout but a boost is needed.

'These Days'

IN THE FAMILY

Perhaps you will permit me to say that mine is a very mixed family. We have in our home several religions which are taken seriously. On the Passover, my family goes along with me at the traditional seder; and then we all go along with my wife to her Easter service. We maintain our differences, yet live a peaceful and even, if I may say so, a happy family life.

What brings that to mind is that religion plays so real a role in our lives and through it all pass our spiritual mentors, Rabbi Jonah B. Wise of Central Synagogue, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, minister of the Marble Collegiate Church, Bishop William A. Scully of Albany, Dr. Wilbur K. Thomas of the Congregational Church in Otis, Massachusetts. We somehow have accumulated a host of spiritual advisers and each exercises his influence upon some member of the family. Wilbur Thomas, who is a Quaker, has, for instance, made a lasting impression on a young son.

Perhaps we have found in our little family the secret of cooperation without compromise, a recognition that unity is under God but that each must be truly himself. While each moves in his own direction, we all do go together.

So, this week we shall all be celebrating a birthday on my side of the house—that of Rabbi Jonah Wise, who buried my first wife, a Chinese lady of rare nobility of character, and married me to the mistress of our home.

I can only know the quality of a man by his kindliness. I do not like secular or, if you please, civil marriages. I feel that mariages are not just contracts between two persons; that always a third party is present at a marriage and that makes it perfect, for the third party is God.

So when I asked my rabbi whether he would unite us who are of different faiths, he not only was willing but invented a beautiful ritual for the occasion out of the Book of Ruth. It has not been forgotten by us because it was so graceful an introduction to the creation of a family.

Rabbi Jonah Wise was born in Cincinnati; his father being the distinguished founder of reformed Judaism in this country. Isaac M. Wise, although an immigrant from Bohemia, loved this country and sought to establish here a ritual and a Jewish way of life that would be a union of the philosophy of his faith and the philosophy of America. He surely believed that so much of the feeling of America came from the Old Testament that we were here spiritually one people.

Out of his labors came the many reformed synagogues and temples throughout this country, the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati, the Union prayer book in Hebrew and English, and the Americanization of the ancient ritual—an attempt to hold on to the hard core of tradition yet recognizing that the new world has a way of its own.

One of his daughters married an enthusiastic young newspapeman of Chattanooga, Tennessee, Adolph S. Ochs, who in time purchased the then faltering "New York Times" and made of it the most important newspaper in this country and perhaps in all the world. One of his sons is my rabbi, now celebrating his 70th birthday.

Our synagogue was founded in 1846 and its leader for a quarter of a century has been Jonah Wise, but that has been a small part of his career. For since Hitler came upon the scene, Dr. Wise has devoted himself to the rebuilding of wrecked lives through the United Jewish Appeal of which he is the national chairman. Trip after trip he took to Germany before the war, seeking means to rescue the frightened and hungry and broken in spirit. He risked much on these visits to Hitler's Germany.

Each year, on Thanksgiving Day, our synagogue holds union services with Christ Church Methodist and the Central Presbyterian Church, the three clergyman, Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, Dr. Theodore C[illegible] and Dr. Wise, standing together in a [illegible] of gratitude for God's mercy.

[illegible] famous preachers, famous sermons; some are eminent as scholars; some are wonder-workers in public affairs. Jonah Wise is beloved. Little more can be said of any man who is moving into his seventies after a life of labor for humanity.

That Body of Yours

PAIN IN NECK AND SHOULDER

Some months ago I wrote about the various conditions that cause pain in the neck and shoulder: a draft from an open window, infection, pressure of an extra rib, a crushed vertebra pressing on nerves supplying back or neck and shoulder. I quoted Dr. A. F. Jonas in Pennsylvania Medical Journal as stating that pain in the shoulder and upper arm frequently is dismissed as neuritis, or treated by heat or salicylates with poor results whereas the pain often is caused by a condition that can be removed by surgery.

There are so many cases of pain in the neck, shoulder and arm, most of which can be corrected by removal of infection or by surgery, that further information on this condition is worth our consideration.

In the Boston issue, Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. Edwin F. Cave, Associate in Orthopedic Surgery, Harvard Medical School, states that pain about the neck and shoulder is a common complaint. The causes are many and varied, but in general the pain arises from the spine bones at back of neck and is supporting structures (muscles and ligaments) and extends from the spinal column over the shoulder and sometimes down the arm, or it may come directly from shoulder girdle (the arch formed by the joint connecting the shoulder blade and collar bone at the point of the shoulder.) In the shoulder region, there may be fluid or calcium in the little burse or bag of water protecting the shoulder joint where upper arm bone meets shoulder blade and collar bone. Infecton of any kind can occur (as in other joints) in the neck part of the spinal column (arthritis of the spine).

Where pressure on nerves of neck part of spine is present, any extension or lifting of head off the neck, stretching upwards of the neck, such as wearing a specially high collar, plaster of paris collar, hanging by the neck, or lying with arms stretched out in line with or slightly above the shoulders, gives relief. When this pressure is caused by a ruptured disc, operation is the usual treatment.

For all pain about neck and shoulder, temporary relief is obtained by hot applications and acetylsalicylate (aspirin), two 5-grain tablets every four hours.

Don't suffer with painful neck and shoulder: Consult your family doctor and dentist first, and if necessary, you will be referred to an orthopedic specialist.

Fishing With the Right Bait

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Only fragmentary details have been cabled to the Pentagon, but open fighting has been reported between the Chinese Communists and North Koreans.

Generally these skirmishes have been discounted by American intelligence as accidental. It isn't unusual for trigger-happy troops to open fire on their own men by mistake.

However, at least one incident has been reported as a revolt against the Chinese. This was a shooting scrape between Chinese Communists and North Koreans on January 19 behind enemy lines. The Chinese quickly crushed the revolt after killing 150 North Ko-

[illegible] hints of friction [illegible] enemies continue to filter across the 38th Parallel. American inteligence officers do not believe a serious rift is imminent. However, they have detected a strange inferiority complex toward the Chinese among the Koreans — a combination of fear and hatred.

This is particularly true of South Korean troops, who fight fiercely against the North Koreans but seem to crumble under Chinese attack. Except for the South Korean wing that has advanced up the east coast under the supporting guns of the U. S. navy, the South Koreans have not won a major victory against the Chinese.

As a result, Lt. Gen. Matt Ridgway has now assigned South Korean patrols to count the Chinese dead. The psychological effect is to convince them that the Chinese are not supermen. Ridgway is also rotating South Korean units, integrating them with American units for a few weeks. The purpose is to bolster their confidence by experiencing victory over the Chinese.

Tense President

White House insiders are privately concerned by a dramatic change in Harry Truman. Once easygoing and warm-hearted, he is now tense and irritable. They attribute the change to the understandable strain of near war and the terrific burden placed on every president of the United States.

The President always had occasional moods of anger and bitterness. But, according to insiders, these have increased steadily in the past six months.

A visit with Mr. Truman used to be a real treat for a congressman or a visiting Elk. The President would greet him with a warm smile, put him at ease with a friendly comment, and listen sympathetically. Today, however, Mr. Truman is likely to drum the desk impatiently and break into the conversation with a savage denunciation of a real or imagined foe.

Recent visitors have been startled by the vigor and bluntness of his venom at Sen. Bill Fulbright, who hit at White House favoritism in the RFC.

The President's physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, is also worried by Mr. Truman's inability to relax and take those refreshing naps which helped him so much in the past.

Since the attempt on his life Mr. Truman has also shown an understandable reluctance to get out before the public. Congressional leaders and Democratic chieftains have been begging him to stump the country in support of his foreign policy. To this he recently replied:

"It's not up to me to go out. It's the responsibility of the Democratic party and our congressmen. They're laying down on the job and expect me to do everything."

Close friends of the President lay his irritability and tenseness to three factors:

1. The assassination attempt of the two Puerto Rican Nationalists. This left a deep scar. The President often talks among his intimates of this assassination attempt and what he would do if another attempt were made on his life.

2. The recent period of continued American defeats in Korea and the mass evacuation was more trying on Mr. Truman than even he cares to admit. The responsibility for this has weighed heavily on his mind.

During the critical days of the evacuation, the President slept little. On one particular evening he was told that Russian submarines and airplanes might menace most of the U. S. fleet. Friends say it was at this time that all the pent-up feeling came out in the President's stinging letter to music critic Paul Hume.

3. The loss of Press Secretary Charley Ross was a heavy blow to Mr. Truman. Ross was an old and completely devoted friend who could soothe the President or give him common-sense advice.

This change in the President has convinced Democratic bigwigs that he definitely will not run again, but will retire in 1953.

Army Orders

This writer, who has sometimes griped about army inefficiency, would like to congratulate Assistant Secretary of the Army Archibald Alexander for his efficient handling of the army's procurement and munitions program.

Placing orders for armament is not an easy job. Furthermore, Congress was a little slow in allocating money. However, once the army got its hands on a sizable appropriation, around the first of the year, it placed actual orders for 2-½ billion dollars between January 2 and January 23.

Despite this record in January, it will probably be broken in February.

For example, within seven days after January 2, the army had committed though had not drawn up all the contracts for 3½ billion dollars for heavy vehicles. This is the entire heavy-vehicle program, up to now. Of the $12,530,000,000 that the army has been authorized to spend for "logistical business," the army has already committed $8,362,000,000.

Alexander should be especially congratulated for insisting that little business get a fair share of the contracts. While the figures are only available through November, at that time 75 per cent of all army contracts — numerically—had gone to small business—defined as unaffiliated firms with 500 or fewer employees. Of course, only 30 per cent of the actual volume went to little business, because the heavy orders must go to firms big enough to handle them. Yet through subcontracts small business also gets a share of what the army considers contracts for big business. For example, the average tank manufacturer lets out 3,000 subcontracts and handles only 15 per cent of the dollar volume himself.

'Liberals' Today Are for Freedom of Speech Provided Thought Agrees With Theirs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 23—Maybe the United States Senate should investigate every election among its members and let the loser come in and complain about the statements made by the victor. Maybe the so-called "liberals" want a national board of censorship which shall pass upon what the candidates say and what their overzealous managers and supporters write or print during a campaign.

Maybe the "liberal" of today isn't much different under the skin from the totalitarian who wants to regulate everything by a law and who doesn't really at heart believe in free speech or a free press unless the views expressed happen to agree with his own.

But, unfortunately, the hullabaloo which has been started by Senator Tydings of Maryland, Democrat, because he was defeated by John M. Butler, Republican, isn't going to resolve any of these questions. It is merely going to prove that Mr. Tydings is a bad loser—which in politics is rather unpardonable.

It is also going to open up for debate in a congressional committee the whole question of free speech and a free press. Unfortunately the senators who gave the go-ahead to this inquiry cannot have read the major cases decided by the Supreme Court of the United States and the lengths to which freedom of expression may go without violating constitutional rights.

In one insance, the editor of a weekly newspaper in Minnesota printed the most vitriolic stuff imaginable, but the court held that free speech doesn't depend on the severity of anybody's denunciation and that, if anything truly slanderous or libelous is written, there are state laws which can protect the aggrieved individual.

It was the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, associate justice of the Supreme Court and a true liberal, who said that freedom of speech is "freedom for the thought we hate." Few "liberals" today show that degree of tolerance in defining freedom of speech.

Now, there is no doubt that the attacks on Senator Tydings were bitter. But he let himself in for much of it by his own vitriolic condemnation of those who had sought a fair and impartial inquiry by the Senate into the alleged Communistic influences in the government. The Tydings Report had in it many statements which were unfair and might even be called scurrilous in relation to those who had asked for a fair investigation. The report itself was so unsatisfactory that the job now has to be done over again by a new committee.

Hardly an election contest occurs in which one side doesn't argue the other side is unfair. The laws of libel and slander protect a candidate against extremes. Sometimes during the campaigns a threat to sue for libel is made and usually these suits are never heard from again or filed.

But the spectacle of a United States Senate Committee inquiring now into election literature and trying to set itself up as a judge as to what is "fair" or "unfair" in a political campaign is something startling. It represents a trend which began with the recent interference with the right of petition under the constitution.

It certainly is puzzling just why under a so-called "liberal" concept there are such frequent attempts to muzzle free speech or to question it. Thus, it is the "liberal" of today who wants to abolish congressional immunity and make it possible to intimidate a member of Congress and prevent him from exposing fraud and crime. The gamblers and racketeers would certainly have made short shrift of the Kefauver Committee if congressmen were subject to libel suits for what they say in speeches or reports on the floor of Congress.

Campaign literature has no immunity from suits. If anything libelous was said about Senator Tydings in the last campaign, he has a right to file suit against his opponent or anybody connected with his opponent's campaign. But to denounce somebody in public office whose views are unpalatable is not yet a crime or an offense for which the laws inflict punishment.

If the Senate Committee means merely to give publicity to the nasty methods used in campaigns, that's a worthy objective. But, to be honest about it, the committee must not hesitate to go into Ohio and take a look also at the campaign literature circulated against Senator Taft. Some of the stuff would hardly be covered by such a gentle word as "scurrilous."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I think you would like to become acquainted with Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, of New York, the director of the American Jewish League Against Communist, who has suffered much for his opposition to the creeping treason which became systemic in our government under Franklin D. Roosevelt. Rabbi Schultz was stoned in the market a few years ago for a series of articles against the silent sedition. It was he who conducted the funeral of Ben Stolberg, when that gay little scrapper died of a heart attack in the old Chelsea Hotel downtown a few weeks ago. That was a sorry day for our team. Only a few weeks before, we had lost Jim McGuinness the same way. And now, along toward five on a Sunday afternoon, Dr. J. B. Matthews called up and said Ruthie, his wife, had hurried over to the Chelsea in response to a feeble call from Ben. Ben was in terrible pain and choking. I raised Doctor Tom Case at the New York A.C., where he was having a rub. He whipped into his clothes and was on his way. But the minutes were long and Ruth called back, very frightened, to say that Ben was slipping away from her. St. Vincent's sent an ambulance, but all this took minutes and Doctor Case, who got there just ahead of the intern, barely caught the last flutters of little Benny's heart.

Now what to do? Was Benny a religious Jew?

Rabbi Schultz said, yes. Ben had told him not long before that he believed religious faith was important. If the world was to be saved from the Communists the people must practice religion. He told Rabbi Schultz that if he were not so old and set in his ways even he would again join a temple.

Doctor Schultz said there were few minimal prayers without which no Jew could be committed to the earth and so little Benny went to his rest after brief exercises in which the rabbi and George Sokolsky, a powerful threnodist, brought many a one of a mixed and outwardly secular company to tears and some even to sob.

There are several anti-Jewish movements, mostly petty paper fronts with interlocking membership, a device that makes a few seem a lot. Without exception they try to identify Jewishness with communism. Some Communist dodges use a variety of terms to try to make people believe that they are genuinely Jewish. The purpose is to seduce Jews into Communist traps and to arouse anti-Jewish feeling among Gentiles. They do a fairly effective job. In this strange way, these enemies plug each other's racket and keep a little kettle at a kicking boil.

Rabbi Schultz's American Jewish League against communism has a little office at 220 West 42nd street. It is just an office on the flea-circus stretch of the old run-down Rialto. Rabbi Schultz works, in the open for proclaimed purposes. Alfred Kohlberg, a Jew who fights the Communists with exuberant gusto, is one of the patrons of the rabbi'e league. Mr. Kohlberg is a textile merchant who has traded long in the Orient and long since learned that dumb George Marshall was throwing us in with the Kremlin there. I once attended a meeting under formal Catholic auspices where eminent clergy paid honor to Mr. Kohlberg.

While, as I say, the anti-Jewish group is numerically small, it gets as much power from organizations which profess to fight "intolerance" and anti-semitism as it gets from Gerald L. K. Smith.

Wilbur Thomas, who is a Quaker, has, for instance, made a lasting impression on a young scn.

Perhaps we have found in our little family the secret of cooperation without compromise, a recognition that unity is under God but that each must be truly himself. While each moves in his own direction, we all do go together.

So, this week we shall all be celebrating a birthday on my side of the house—that of Rabbi Jonah Wise, who buried my first wife, a Chinese lady of rare nobility of character, and married me to the mistress of our home.

I can only know the quality of a man by his kindliness. I do not like secular or, if you please, civil marriages. I feel that mariages are not just contracts between two persons; that always a third party is present at a marriage and that makes it perfect, for the third party is God.

So when I asked my rabbi whether he would unite us who are of different faiths, he not only was willing but invented a beautiful ritual for the occasion out of the Book of Ruth. It has not been forgotten by us because it was so graceful an introduction to the creation of a family.

Rabbi Jonah Wise was born in Cincinnati; his father being the distinguished founder of reformed Judaism in this country. Isaac M. Wise, although an immigrant from Bohemia, loved this country and sought to establish here a ritual and a Jewish way of life that would be a union of the philosophy of his faith and the philosophy of America. He surely believed that so much of the feeling of America came from the Old Testament that we were here spiritually one people.

Out of his labors came the many reformed synagogues and temples throughout this country, the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati, the Union prayer book in Hebrew and English, and the Americanization of the ancient ritual—an attempt to hold on to the hard core of tradition yet recognizing that the new world has a way of its own.

One of his daughters married an enthusiastic young newspapeman of Chattanooga, Tennessee, Adolph S. Ochs, who in time purchased the then faltering "New York Times" and made of it the most important newspaper in this country and perhaps in all the world. One of his sons is my rabbi, now celebrating his 70th birthday.

Our synagogue was founded in 1846 and its leader for a quarter of a century has been Jonah Wise, but that has been a small part of his career. For since Hitler came upon the scene, Dr. Wise has devoted himself to the rebuilding of wrecked lives through the United Jewish Appeal of which he is the national chairman. Trip after trip he took to Germany before the war, seeking means to rescue the frightened and hungry and broken in spirit. He risked much on these visits to Hitler's Germany.

Each year, on Thanksgiving Day, our synagogue holds union services with Christ Church Methodist and the Central Presbyterian Church, the three clergymen, Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, Dr. Theodore Cuyler Speers, and Dr. Wise, standing together in a union of gratitude for God's mercy.

All the clergymen are famous for their sermons; some are renowned as scholars; some are wonder-workers in public affairs. Jonah Wise is beloved. Little more can be said of any man who is moving into his seventies after a life of labor for humanity.

PAIN IN NECK AND SHOULDER

Some months ago I wrote about the various conditions that cause pain in the neck and shoulder: a draft from an open window, infection, pressure of an extra rib, a crushed vertebra pressing on nerves supplying back or neck and shoulder. I quoted Dr. A. F. Jonas in Pennsylvania Medical Journal as stating that pain in the shoulder and upper arm frequently is dismissed as neuritis, or treated by heat or salicylates with poor results whereas the pain often is caused by a condition that can be removed by surgery.

There are so many cases of pain in the neck, shoulder and arm, most of which can be corrected by removal of infection or by surgery, that further information on this condition is worth our consideration.

In the Boston issue, Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. Edwin F. Cave, Associate in Orthopedic Surgery, Harvard Medical School, states that pain about the neck and shoulder is a common complaint. The causes are many and varied, but in general the pain arises from the spine bones at back of neck and is supporting structures (muscles and ligaments) and extends from the spinal column over the shoulder and sometimes down the arm, or it may come directly from shoulder girdle (the arch formed by the joint connecting the shoulder blade and collar bone at the point of the shoulder.) In the shoulder region, there may be fluid or calcium in the little burse or bag of water protecting the shoulder joint where upper arm bone meets shoulder blade and collar bone. Infecton of any kind can occur (as in other joints) in the neck part of the spinal column (arthritis of the spine).

Where pressure on nerves of neck part of spine is present, any extension or lifting of head off the neck, stretching upwards of the neck, such as wearing a specially high collar, plaster of paris collar, hanging by the neck, or lying with arms stretched out in line with or slightly above the shoulders, gives relief. When this pressure is caused by a ruptured disc, operation is the usual treatment.

For all pain about neck and shoulder, temporary relief is obtained by hot applications and acetylsalicylate (aspirin), two 5-frain tablets every four hours.

Don't suffer with painful neck and shoulder. Consult your family doctor and dentist first, and if necessary, you will be referred to an orthopedic specialist.

Fishing With the Right Bait

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Only fragmentary details have been cabled to the Pentagon, but open fighting has been reported between the Chinese Communists and North Koreans.

Generally these skirmishes have been discounted by American intelligence as accidental. It isn't unusual for trigger-happy troops to open fire on their own men by mistake.

However, at least one incident has been reported as a revolt against the Chinese. This was a shooting scrape between Chinese Communists and North Koreans on January 19 behind enemy lines. The Chinese quickly crushed the revolt after killing 150 North Koreans.

Meanwhile, hints of friction among our enemies continue to filter across the 38th Parallel. American inteligence officers do not believe a serious rift is imminent. However, they have detected a strange inferiority complex toward the Chinese among the Koreans — a combination of fear and hatred.

This is particularly true of South Korean troops, who fight fiercely against the North Koreans but seem to crumble under Chinese attack. Except for the South Korean wing that has advanced up the east coast under the supporting guns of the U. S. navy, the South Koreans have not won a major victory against the Chinese.

As a result, Lt. Gen. Matt Ridgway has now assigned South Korean patrols to count the Chinese dead. The psychological effect is to convince them that the Chinese are not supermen. Ridgway is also rotating South Korean units, integrating them with American units for a few weeks. The purpose is to bolster their confidence by experiencing victory over the Chinese.

Tense President

White House insiders are privately concerned by a dramatic change in Harry Truman. Once easygoing and warm-hearted, he is now tense and irritable. They attribute the change to the understandable strain of near war and the terrific burden placed on every president of the United States.

The President always had occasional moods of anger and bitterness. But, according to insiders, these have increased steadily in the past six months.

A visit with Mr. Truman used to be a real treat for a congressman or a visiting Elk. The President would greet him with a warm smile, put him at ease with a friendly comment, and listen sympathetically. Today, however, Mr. Truman is likely to drum the desk impatiently and break into the conversation with a savage denunciation of a real or imagined foe.

Recent visitors have been startled by the vigor and bluntness of his venom at Sen. Bill Fulbright, who hit at White House favoritism in the RFC.

The President's physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, is also worried by Mr. Truman's inability to relax and take those refreshing naps which helped him so much in the past.

Since the attempt on his life Mr. Truman has also shown an understandable reluctance to get out before the public. Congressional leaders and Democratic chieftains have been begging him to stump the country in support of his foreign policy. To this he recently replied:

"It's not up to me to go out. It's the responsibility of the Democratic party and our congressmen. They're laying down on the job and expect me to do everything."

Close friends of the President lay his irritability and tenseness to three factors:

1. The assassination attempt of the two Puerto Rican Nationalists. This left a deep scar. The President often talks among his intimates of this assassination attempt and what he would do if another attempt were made on his life.

2. The recent period of continued American defeats in Korea and the mass evacuation was more trying on Mr. Truman than even he cares to admit. The responsibility for this has weighed heavily on his mind.

During the critical days of the evacuation, the President slept little. On one particular evening he was told that Russian submarines and airplanes might menace most of the U. S. fleet. Friends say it was at this time that all the pent-up feeling came out in the President's stinging letter to music critic Paul Hume.

3. The loss of Press Secretary Charley Ross was a heavy blow to Mr. Truman. Ross was an old and completely devoted friend who could soothe the President or give him common-sense advice.

This change in the President has convinced Democratic bigwigs that he definitely will not run again, but will retire in 1953.

Army Orders

This writer, who has sometimes griped about army inefficiency, would like to congratulate Assistant Secretary of the Army Archibald Alexander for his efficient handling of the army's procurement and munitions program.

Placing orders for armament is not an easy job. Furthermore, Congress was a little slow in allocating money. However, once the army got its hands on a sizable appropriation, around the first of the year, it placed actual orders for 2-½ billion dollars between January 2 and January 23.

Despite this record in January, it will probably be broken in February.

For example, within seven days after January 2, the army had committed though had not drawn up all the contracts for 3¼ billion dollars for heavy vehicles. This is the entire heavy-vehicle program, up to now. Of the $12,530,000,000 that the army has been authorized to spend for "logistical business," the army has already committed $8,362,000,000.

Alexander should be especially congratulated for insisting that little business get a fair share of the contracts. While the figures are only available through November, at that time 75 per cent of all army contracts — numerically—had gone to small business—defined as unaffiliated firms with 500 or fewer employees. Of course, only 30 per cent of the actual volume went to little business, because the heavy orders must go to firms big enough to handle them. Yet through subcontracts small business also gets a share of what the army considers contracts for big business. For example, the average tank manufacturer lets out 3,000 subcontracts and handles only 15 per cent of the dollar volume himself.

'Liberals' Today Are for Freedom of Speech Provided Thought Agrees With Theirs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 23—Maybe the United States Senate should investigate every election among its members and let the loser come in and complain about the statements made by the victor. Maybe the so-called "liberals" want a national board of censorship which shall pass upon what the candidates say and what their overzealous managers and supporters write or print during a campaign.

Maybe the "liberal" of today isn't much different under the skin from the totalitarian who wants to regulate everything by a law and who doesn't really at heart believe in free speech or a free press unless the views expressed happen to agree with his own.

But, unfortunately, the hullabaloo which has been started by Senator Tydings of Maryland, Democrat, because he was defeated by John M. Butler, Republican, isn't going to resolve any of these questions. It is merely going to prove that Mr. Tydings is a bad loser—which in politics is rather unpardonable.

It is also going to open up for debate in a congressional committee the whole question of free speech and a free press. Unfortunately the senators who gave the go-ahead to this inquiry cannot have read the major cases decided by the Supreme Court of the United States and the lengths to which freedom of expression may go without violating constitutional rights.

In one insance, the editor of a weekly newspaper in Minnesota printed the most vitriolic stuff imaginable, but the court held that free speech doesn't depend on the severity of anybody's denunciation and that, if anything truly slanderous or libelous is written, there are state laws which can protect the aggrieved individual.

It was the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, associate justice of the Supreme Court and a true liberal, who said that freedom of speech is "freedom for the thought we hate." Few "liberals" today show that degree of tolerance in defining freedom of speech.

Now, there is no doubt that the attacks on Senator Tydings were bitter. But he let himself in for much of it by his own vitriolic condemnation of those who had sought a fair and impartial inquiry by the Senate into the alleged Communistic influences in the government. The Tydings Report had in it many statements which were unfair and might even be called scurrilous in relation to those who had asked for a fair investigation. The report itself was so unsatisfactory that the job now has to be done over again by a new committee.

Hardly an election contest occurs in which one side doesn't argue the other side is unfair. The laws of libel and slander protect a candidate against extremes. Sometimes during the campaigns a threat to sue for libel is made and usually these suits are never heard from again or filed.

But the spectacle of a United States Senate Committee inquiring now into election literature and trying to set itself up as a judge as to what is "fair" or "unfair" in a political campaign is something startling. It represents a trend which began with the recent interference with the right of petition under the constitution.

It certainly is puzzling just why under a so-called "liberal" concept there are such frequent attempts to muzzle free speech or to question it. Thus, it is the "liberal" of today who wants to abolish congressional immunity and make it possible to intimidate a member of Congress and prevent him from exposing fraud and crime. The gamblers and racketeers would certainly have made short shrift of the Kefauver Committee if congressmen were subject to libel suits for what they say in speeches or reports on the floor of Congress.

Campaign literature has no immunity from suits. If anything libelous was said about Senator Tydings in the last campaign, he has a right to file suit against his opponent or anybody connected with his opponent's campaign. But to denounce somebody in public office whose views are unpalatable is not yet a crime or an offense for which the laws inflict punishment.

If the Senate Committee means merely to give publicity to the nasty methods used in campaigns, that's a worthy objective. But, to be honest about it, the committee must not hesitate to go into Ohio and take a look also at the campaign literature circulated against Senator Taft. Some of the stuff would hardly be covered by such a gentle word as "scurrilous."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I think you would like to become acquainted with Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, of New York, the director of the American Jewish League Against Communist, who has suffered much for his opposition to the creeping treason which became systemic in our government under Franklin D. Roosevelt. Rabbi Schultz was stoned in the market a few years ago for a series of articles against the silent sedition. It was he who conducted the funeral of Ben Stolberg, when that gay little scrapper died of a heart attack in the old Chelsea Hotel downtown a few weeks ago. That was a sorry day for our team. Only a few weeks before, we had lost Jim McGuinness the same way. And now, along toward five on a Sunday afternoon, Dr. J. B. Matthews called up and said Ruthie, his wife, had hurried over to the Chelsea in response to a feeble call from Ben. Ben was in terrible pain and choking. I raised Doctor Tom Case at the New York A.C., where he was having a rub. He whipped into his clothes and was on his way. But the minutes were long and Ruth called back, very frightened, to say that Ben was slipping away from her. St. Vincent's sent an ambulance, but all this took minutes and Doctor Case, who got there just ahead of the intern, barely caught the last flutters of little Benny's heart.

Now what to do? Was Benny a religious Jew?

Rabbi Schultz said, yes. Ben had told him not long before that he believed religious faith was important. If the world was to be saved from the Communists the people must practice religion. He told Rabbi Schultz that if he were not so old and set in his ways even he would again join a temple.

Doctor Schultz said there were few minimal prayers without which no Jew could be committed to the earth and so little Benny went to his rest after brief exercises in which the rabbi and George Sokolsky, a powerful threnodist, brought many a one of a mixed and outwardly secular company to tears and some even to sob.

There are several anti-Jewish movements, mostly petty paper fronts with interlocking membership, a device that makes a few seem a lot. Without exception they try to identify Jewishness with communism. Some Communist dodges use a variety of terms to try to make people believe that they are genuinely Jewish. The purpose is to seduce Jews into Communist traps and to arouse anti-Jewish feeling among Gentiles. They do a fairly effective job. In this strange way, these enemies plug each other's racket and keep a little kettle at a kicking boil.

Rabbi Schultz's American Jewish League against communism has a little office at 220 West 42nd street. It is just an office on the flea-circus stretch of the old rundown Rialto. Rabbi Schultz works in the open for proclaimed purposes. Alfred Kohlberg, a Jew who fights the Communists with exuberant gusto, is one of the patrons of the rabbi'e league. Mr. Kohlberg is a textile merchant who has traded long in the Orient and long since learned that dumb George Marshall was throwing us in with the Kremlin there. I once attended a meeting under formal Catholic auspices where eminent clergy paid honor to Mr. Kohlberg.

While, as I say, the anti-Jewish group is numerically small, it gets as much power from organizations which profess to fight "intolerance" and anti-semitism as it gets from Gerald L. K. Smith.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 23, 1951

YELLOW OLEO WITHOUT TAX

Since 1893 there has been a law against the sale of oleomargarine in New York State. You can buy oleo in white and when you get home color it with a little pellet inclosed by the manufacturer.

Just how much the prohibtiion on oleo has actually helped the dairy farmers of New York State is debatable, since for every pound produced in New York and sold in this state there are nineteen pounds of butter imported from other states.

This year a bill has been introduced in both the Senate and Assembly to legalize yellow margarine, but with the imposition of one or two cents per pound on the product. The money collected would go for the enforcement of rigorous safeguards against infringement on butter. However, other foods are not especially taxed to pay those who see that they conform to the pure food and drug acts.

The imposition of this tax is plainly discriminatory. The people who can less afford the taxes would be made shoulder the burden.

The Federal Government has repealed the ancient ten-cents a pound federal tax on yellow margarine and colored oleo is sold freely in thirty-four states around the country.

The lawmakers at Albany should see to it that the colored product, without the tax, is placed on the market.

STIFF SENTENCES FOR BRIBERY

Governor Dewey has approved the purposes of the bills introduced by Senator Wicks and Assemblyman Mailler to increase the maximum possible sentence from five to ten years for anyone who offers or gives bribes to athletes.

The person who offers or gives a bribe to an athlete is subject only to the same sentence as the athlete, which is one to five years.

The governor believes this increase in the penal sanctions should have a deterrent effect.

Sports—high school, college, semi-professional and professional—of all kinds have a large following in this country. It is too bad that crooks have seen a opportunity for "easy" money in sports and worse still that college athletes have fallen for the bribes.

The local senator is to be commended for his interest in clean sports, and in the protection of athletes who might be tempted.

Let's hope that when convicted those who use bribery to "fix" sports events will be given the maximum sentence.

THE HATS OF SPRING

It occurred to a male reader to wonder what there was in the stars or the tides of public opinion which tended to make the hats of one year so crazy and those of another year comparatively sane. A milliner clarified this most important problem for us. She says the first hats shown in any spring are always a little on the queer and striking side. It's true in the autumn, too, but is not noticed so much because people in general are busier about more varied activities.

After the trials of winter, public attention concentrates on all signs of spring, weird hats among them. When a few week have gone by and the trial balloon hats have come and gone, the styles settle down into something more reasonable and men notice them no more. The individual pretty hat on the individual woman looks good to them, but the styles as styles cease to attract attention to the same degree.

Ain't it wonderful to learn the psychology of things like hats?

HELP FOR HOUSING

Northern Greece, the battleground of the National Army and the Communist-led guerrillas, suffered extensive damage in the recent fighting in Greece. Left homeless as winter approached last fall were 850,000 persons. Heaps of rubble have been salvaged and added to corrugated iron, tile and brick to provide the materials for housing projects. No one is now without adequate shelter, says the Greek government.

This huge program has been accomplished by the Greek government housing organization and the Economic Cooperation Administration. The villagers, pooling their own abilities and resources and helped by funds and added materials from E.C.A. have constructed their own homes and schools.

The vital part of the work of E.C.A. comes from its operations under the heading of cooperation. An attitude of self-reliance and self-respect is fostered in the recipients of aid when their own efforts are underwritten and helped to fruition. In most cases, not a handout but a boost is needed.

'These Days'

IN THE FAMILY

Perhaps you will permit me to say that mine is a very mixed family. We have in our home several religions which are taken seriously. On the Passover, my family goes along with me at the traditional seder; and then we all go along with my wife to her Easter service. We maintain our differences, yet live a peaceful and even, if I may say so, a happy family life.

What brings that to mind is that religion plays so real a role in our lives and through it all pass our spiritual mentors, Rabbi Jonah B. Wise of Central Synagogue, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, minister of the Marble Collegiate Church, Bishop William A. Scully of Albany, Dr. Wilbur K. Thomas of the Congregational Church in Otis, Massachusetts. We somehow have accumulated a host of spiritual advisers and each exercises his influence upon some member of the family. Wilbur Thomas, who is a Quaker, has, for instance, made a lasting impression on a young son.

Perhaps we have found in our little family the secret of cooperation without compromise, a recognition that unity is under God but that each must be truly himself. While each moves in his own direction, we all do go together.

So, this week we shall all be celebrating a birthday on my side of the house—that of Rabbi Jonah Wise, who buried my first wife, a Chinese lady of rare nobility of character, and married me to the mistress of our home.

I can only know the quality of a man by his kindliness. I do not like secular or, if you please, civil marriages. I feel that mariages are not just contracts between two persons; that always a third party is present at a marriage and that makes it perfect, for the third party is God.

So when I asked my rabbi whether he would unite us who are of different faiths, he not only was willing but invented a beautiful ritual for the occasion out of the Book of Ruth. It has not been forgotten by us because it was so graceful an introduction to the creation of a family.

Rabbi Jonah Wise was born in Cincinnati; his father being the distinguished founder of reformed Judaism in this country. Isaac M. He surely believed that so much of the feeling of America came from the Old Testament that we were here spiritually one people.

Out of his labors came the many reformed synagogues and temples throughout this country, the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati, the Union prayer book in Hebrew and English, and the Americanization of the ancient ritual—an attempt to hold on to the hard core of tradition yet recognizing that the new world has a way of its own.

One of his daughters married an enthusiastic young newspapeman of Chattanooga, Tennessee, Adolph S. Ochs, who in time purchased the then faltering "New York Times" and made of it the most important newspaper in this country and perhaps in all the world. One of his sons is my rabbi, now celebrating his 70th birthday.

Our synagogue was founded in 1846 and its leader for a quarter of a century has been Jonah Wise, but that has been a small part of his career. For since Hitler came upon the scene, Dr. Wise has devoted himself to the rebuilding of wrecked lives through the United Jewish Appeal of which he is the national chairman. Trip after trip he took to Germany before the war, seeking means to rescue the frightened and hungry and broken in spirit. He risked much on these visits to Hitler's Germany.

Each year, on Thanksgiving Day, our synagogue holds union services with Christ Church Methodist and the Central Presbyterian Church, the three clergymen, Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, Dr. Theodore Cuyler Speers, and Dr. Wise, standing together in a union of gratitude for God's mercy.

Some clergymen are famous for their sermons; some are renowned as scholars; some are wonderworkers in public affairs. Jonah Wise is beloved. Little more can be said of any man who is moving into his seventies after a life of labor for humanity.

PAIN IN NECK AND SHOULDER

Some months ago I wrote about the various conditions that cause pain in the neck and shoulder: a draft from an open window, infection, pressure of an extra rib, a crushed vertebra pressing on nerves supplying back or neck and shoulder. I quoted Dr. A. F. Jonas in Pennsylvania Medical Journal as stating that pain in the shoulder and upper arm frequently is dismissed as neuritis, or treated by heat or salicylates with poor results whereas the pain often is caused by a condition that can be removed by surgery.

There are so many cases of pain in the neck, shoulder and arm, most of which can be corrected by removal of infection or by surgery, that further information on this condition is worth our consideration.

Where pressure on nerves of neck part of spine is present, any extension or lifting of head off the neck, stretching upwards of the neck, such as wearing a specially high collar, plaster of paris collar, hanging by the neck, or lying with arms stretched out in line with or slightly above the shoulders, gives relief. When this pressure is caused by a ruptured disc, operation is the usual treatment.

For all pain about neck and shoulder, temporary relief is obtained by hot applications and acetylsalicylate (aspirin), two 5-frain tablets every four hours.

Don't suffer with painful neck and shoulder. Consult your family doctor and dentist first, and if necessary, you will be referred to an orthopedic specialist.

Washington—Only fragmentary details have been cabled to the Pentagon, but open fighting has been reported between the Chinese Communists and North Koreans.

Generally these skirmishes have been discounted by American intelligence as accidental. It isn't unusual for trigger-happy troops to open fire on their own men by mistake.

However, at least one incident has been reported as a revolt against the Chinese. This was a shooting scrape between Chinese Communists and North Koreans on January 19 behind enemy lines. The Chinese quickly crushed the revolt after killing 150 North Koreans.

Meanwhile, hints of friction among our enemies continue to filter across the 38th Parallel. American inteligence officers do not believe a serious rift is imminent. However, they have detected a strange inferiority complex toward the Chinese among the Koreans — a combination of fear and hatred.

This is particularly true of South Korean troops, who fight fiercely against the North Koreans but seem to crumble under Chinese attack. Except for the South Korean wing that has advanced up the east coast under the supporting guns of the U. S. navy, the South Koreans have not won a major victory against the Chinese.

As a result, Lt. Gen. Matt Ridgway has now assigned South Korean patrols to count the Chinese dead. The psychological effect is to convince them that the Chinese are not supermen. Ridgway is also rotating South Korean units, integrating them with American units for a few weeks. The purpose is to bolster their confidence by experiencing victory over the Chinese.

Tense President

White House insiders are privately concerned by a dramatic change in Harry Truman. Once easygoing and warm-hearted, he is now tense and irritable. They attribute the change to the understandable strain of near war and the terrific burden placed on every president of the United States.

The President always had occasional moods of anger and bitterness. But, according to insiders, these have increased steadily in the past six months.

A visit with Mr. Truman used to be a real treat for a congressman or a visiting Elk. The President would greet him with a warm smile, put him at ease with a friendly comment, and listen sympathetically. Today, however, Mr. Truman is likely to drum the desk impatiently and break into the conversation with a savage denunciation of a real or imagined foe.

Recent visitors have been startled by the vigor and bluntness of his venom at Sen. Bill Fulbright, who hit at White House favoritism in the RFC.

The President's physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, is also worried by Mr. Truman's inability to relax and take those refreshing naps which helped him so much in the past.

Since the attempt on his life Mr. Truman has also shown an understandable reluctance to get out before the public. Congressional leaders and Democratic chieftains have been begging him to stump the country in support of his foreign policy. To this he recently replied:

"It's not up to me to go out. It's the responsibility of the Democratic party and our congressmen. They're laying down on the job and expect me to do everything."

Close friends of the President lay his irritability and tenseness to three factors:

1. The assassination attempt of the two Puerto Rican Nationalists. This left a deep scar. The President often talks among his intimates of this assassination attempt and what he would do if another attempt were made on his life.

2. The recent period of continued American defeats in Korea and the mass evacuation was more trying on Mr. Truman than even he cares to admit. The responsibility for this has weighed heavily on his mind.

During the critical days of the evacuation, the President slept little. On one particular evening he was told that Russian submarines and airplanes might menace most of the U. S. fleet. Friends say it was at this time that all the pent-up feeling came out in the President's stinging letter to music critic Paul Hume.

3. The loss of Press Secretary Charley Ross was a heavy blow to Mr. Truman. Ross was an old and completely devoted friend who could soothe the President or give him common-sense advice.

This change in the President has convinced Democratic bigwigs that he definitely will not run again, but will retire in 1953.

Army Orders

This writer, who has sometimes griped about army inefficiency, would like to congratulate Assistant Secretary of the Army Archibald Alexander for his efficient handling of the army's procurement and munitions program.

Placing orders for armament is not an easy job. Furthermore, Congress was a little slow in allocating money. However, once the army got its hands on a sizable appropriation, around the first of the year, it placed actual orders for 2-½ billion dollars between January 2 and January 23.

Despite this record in January, it will probably be broken in February.

For example, within seven days after January 2, the army had committed though had not drawn up all the contracts for 3½ billion dollars for heavy vehicles. This is the entire heavy-vehicle program, up to now. Of the $12,530,000,000 that the army has been authorized to spend for "logistical business," the army has already committed $8,362,000,000.

Alexander should be especially congratulated for insisting that little business get a fair share of the contracts. While the figures are only available through November, at that time 75 per cent of all army contracts — numerically—had gone to small business—defined as unaffiliated firms with 500 or fewer employees. Of course, only 30 per cent of the actual volume went to little business, because the heavy orders must go to firms big enough to handle them. Yet through subcontracts small business also gets a share of what the army considers contracts for big business. For example, the average tank manufacturer lets out 3,000 subcontracts and handles only 15 per cent of the dollar volume himself.

'Liberals' Today Are for Freedom of Speech Provided Thought Agrees With Theirs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 23—Maybe the United States Senate should investigate every election among its members and let the loser come in and complain about the statements made by the victor. Maybe the so-called "liberals" want a national board of censorship which shall pass upon what the candidates say and what their overzealous managers and supporters write or print during a campaign.

Maybe the "liberal" of today isn't much different under the skin from the totalitarian who wants to regulate everything by a law and who doesn't really at heart believe in free speech or a free press unless the views expressed happen to agree with his own.

But, unfortunately, the hullabaloo which has been started by Senator Tydings of Maryland, Democrat, because he was defeated by John M. Butler, Republican, isn't going to resolve any of these questions. It is merely going to prove that Mr. Tydings is a bad loser—which in politics is rather unpardonable.

It is also going to open up for debate in a congressional committee the whole question of free speech and a free press. Unfortunately the senators who gave the go-ahead to this inquiry cannot have read the major cases decided by the Supreme Court of the United States and the lengths to which freedom of expression may go without violating constitutional rights.

In one insance, the editor of a weekly newspaper in Minnesota printed the most vitriolic stuff imaginable, but the court held that free speech doesn't depend on the severity of anybody's denunciation and that, if anything truly slanderous or libelous is written, there are state laws which can protect the aggrieved individual.

It was the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, associate justice of the Supreme Court and a true liberal, who said that freedom of speech is "freedom for the thought we hate." Few "liberals" today show that degree of tolerance in defining freedom of speech.

Now, there is no doubt that the attacks on Senator Tydings were bitter. But he let himself in for much of it by his own vitriolic condemnation of those who had sought a fair and impartial inquiry by the Senate into the alleged Communistic influences in the government. The Tydings Report had in it many statements which were unfair and might even be called scurrilous in relation to those who had asked for a fair investigation. The report itself was so unsatisfactory that the job now has to be done over again by a new committee.

Hardly an election contest occurs in which one side doesn't argue the other side is unfair. The laws of libel and slander protect a candidate against extremes. Sometimes during the campaigns a threat to sue for libel is made and usually these suits are never heard from again or filed.

But the spectacle of a United States Senate Committee inquiring now into election literature and trying to set itself up as a judge as to what is "fair" or "unfair" in a political campaign is something startling. It represents a trend which began with the recent interference with the right of petition under the constitution.

It certainly is puzzling just why under a so-called "liberal" concept there are such frequent attempts to muzzle free speech or to question it. Thus, it is the "liberal" of today who wants to abolish congressional immunity and make it possible to intimidate a member of Congress and prevent him from exposing fraud and crime. The gamblers and racketeers would certainly have made short shrift of the Kefauver Committee if congressmen were subject to libel suits for what they say in speeches or reports on the floor of Congress.

Campaign literature has no immunity from suits. If anything libelous was said about Senator Tydings in the last campaign, he has a right to file suit against his opponent or anybody connected with his opponent's campaign. But to denounce somebody in public office whose views are unpalatable is not yet a crime or an offense for which the laws inflict punishment.

If the Senate Committee means merely to give publicity to the nasty methods used in campaigns, that's a worthy objective. But, to be honest about it, the committee must not hesitate to go into Ohio and take a look also at the campaign literature circulated against Senator Taft. Some of the stuff would hardly be covered by such a gentle word as "scurrilous."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I think you would like to become acquainted with Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, of New York, the director of the American Jewish League Against Communist, who has suffered much for his opposition to the creeping treason which became systemic in our government under Franklin D. Roosevelt. Rabbi Schultz was stoned in the market a few years ago for a series of articles against the silent sedition. It was he who conducted the funeral of Ben Stolberg, when that gay little scrapper died of a heart attack in the old Chelsea Hotel downtown a few weeks ago. That was a sorry day for our team. Only a few weeks before, we had lost Jim McGuinness the same way. And now, along toward five on a Sunday afternoon, Dr. J. B. Matthews called up and said Ruthie, his wife, had hurried over to the Chelsea in response to a feeble call from Ben. Ben was in terrible pain and choking. I raised Doctor Tom Case at the New York A.C., where he was having a rub. He whipped into his clothes and was on his way. But the minutes were long and Ruth called back, very frightened, to say that Ben was slipping away from her. St. Vincent's sent an ambulance, but all this took minutes and Doctor Case, who got there just ahead of the intern, barely caught the last flutters of little Benny's heart.

Now what to do? Was Benny a religious Jew?

Rabbi Schultz said, yes. Ben had told him not long before that he believed religious faith was important. If the world was to be saved from the Communists the people must practice religion. He told Rabbi Schultz that if he were not so old and set in his ways even he would again join a temple.

Doctor Schultz said there were few minimal prayers without which no Jew could be committed to the earth and so little Benny went to his rest after brief exercises in which the rabbi and George Sokolsky, a powerful threnodist, brought many a one of a mixed and outwardly secular company to tears and some even to sob.

There are several anti-Jewish movements, mostly petty paper fronts with interlocking membership, a device that makes a few seem a lot. Without exception they try to identify Jewishness with communism. Some Communist dodges use a variety of terms to try to make people believe that they are genuinely Jewish. The purpose is to seduce Jews into Communist traps and to arouse anti-Jewish feeling among Gentiles. They do a fairly effective job. In this strange way, these enemies plug each other's racket and keep a little kettle at a kicking boil.

Rabbi Schultz's American Jewish League against communism has a little office at 220 West 42nd street. It is just an office on the flea-circus stretch of the old rundown Rialto. Rabbi Schultz works, in the open for proclaimed purposes. Alfred Kohlberg, a Jew who fights the Communists with exuberant gusto, is one of the patrons of the rabbi'e league. Mr. Kohlberg is a textile merchant who has traded long in the Orient and long since learned that dumb George Marshall was throwing us in with the Kremlin there. I once attended a meeting under formal Catholic auspices where eminent clergy paid honor to Mr. Kohlberg.

While, as I say, the anti-Jewish group is numerically small, it gets as much power from organizations which profess to fight "intolerance" and anti-semitism as it gets from Gerald L. K. Smith.

Belgian Artist Beaten by Youths; Paintings Ruined

Singapore, Feb. 23 (AP)—A Belgian artist, dean of painters on the beautiful island of Bali, was beaten up recently by a gang of Javanese youths intoxicated with their new freedom and determined that no more shall the unclad bosoms of Balinese maidens be pictured by foreigners.

Reports reaching here today said the artist, Jean LeMayeur, was set upon in his Bali home by native hoodlums who tore up paintings of the artist's Balinese wife, Pollak. The paintings of her unclothed figure are famous among tourists who visit the islands. Pollak has been a favorite model of artists and tourists.

LeMayeur long has been a resident in Bali and is revered by the rest of the artists' colony as their leader.

Grew From Decree

Recently the Bali government, bowing to new pressures, issued a decree forbidding foreigners to paint or photograph unclothed Balinese maidens. The attack on LeMayeur grew out of this decree.

Theo Meier, Swiss painter who settled in Bali many years ago, recently returned from Switzerland and learned that his island home had been ransacked. The story goes that he complained to Jakarta, Indonesia's capital. President Soekarno, a patron of modern art, tried to make amends by commissioning Meier to paint a Balinese semi-nude for the presidential collection.

Typical of Condition

What is happening in Bali is typical of the sort of restiveness against westerners that has been evident since merdeka (freedom) grom the Dutch was achieved.

Shipping men tell stories of big losses in their cargoes through breakage at Indonesian ports by Javanese dockhands who are apt to smash loads of wine against the ship's side and otherwise express defiance.

Bali until recently was still an island of intoxicating song and music and beautiful, half-clad women, where the march of civilization seemed only a sort of misty dream. When the revolution raged on adjacent Java, Bali, only two miles away across the water, was relatively untouched.

Then eight months ago the federation of Indonesian states was replaced by the central government system and things began to change on Bali. Freedom-conscious Javanese police moved in and fiery youth organizations sprang up. In two months, 70 persons suspected of having collaborated with the Dutch were murdered.

Teen-Ager Accused Of Having Revolver

Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum yesterday apprehended a 15-year-old boy who was carrying a .32 calibre Derringer revolver, which he had apparently tried to sell at a second hand store.

The police report at 2:30 p. m. said that two boys had been trying to sell the revolver, but only one was apprehended. Other information today indicated that the revolver had been taken from a house at Bloomington, which was recently damaged by fire, and later became the possession of the local boy. The latter angle was turned over to the sheriff's office for investigation.

Walsh to Resign

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Lawrence E. Walsh will resign soon as counsel to Governor Dewey and return to his former post as counsel to the Public Service Commission. It was learned today that Walsh, 39, had relinquished his PSC job late in 1949 only on a "loan" basis after Dewey appointed Charles D. Breitel, his former counsel, to the State Supreme Court. Walsh has been assured by Dewey that he will be re-appointed to the PSC post as soon as possible after the current let-up in the present pressure of work on bills and other legislative matters.

Where 'Operation Killer' Is Underway

Arrows show area where United Nations troops plunged forward in a campaign to wipe out 40,000 Reds south of Parallel 38, February 22. The "kickoff" front extends from near Yangpyong to Pyongchang. The new offensive, called "operation killer", gained up to 8½ miles in one sector. Biggest opposition was expected in Hoengsong area.

Americans Seize

primarily is killing Reds rather than taking ground.

Allied naval vessels continued to pound both the eastern and western shores of the peninsula Thursday for the ninth straight day. This featured a new bombardment by the U. S. battleship Missouri 185 miles north of 38 at the northeast coastal city of Songjin. The Missouri's 16-inch guns hurled one-ton shells at railroad yards and comand posts.

Disruption Is Aim

The continued bombardments and far-ranging allied air strikes are aimed to disrupt the Reds' tenuous supply lines to central Korea. The pivot point of the enemy's defense apparently is Hongchon, 15 miles north of Hoengsong.

More than 10,000 of an estimated 40,000-man Red force are reported massed around Hoengsong. Air observers reported Reds in division force on high ground around a village between Hoengsong and Hongchon.

General MacArthur's early morning war summary, covering the previous 24-hour period, reported the main hinderance to the offensive was deep mud which bogged down tanks and big guns. Torrential rains swept the front Wednesday and part of Thursday.

Three Red Planes Sent

AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported the Reds sent three planes against allied ground forces Thursday night in the west-central sector. Two were twin-engined bombers, the third a jet.

They bombed and strafed allied positions.

Twelve other Red jets jumped a lone U. S. F-80 Shooting Star south of the Manchurian border Friday. The American escaped unhit when three of the Russian-made MIGs fired on him.

The F-80 is a photographic plane piloted by Lt. Daniel Boone of Little Rock, Ark.

Allied aerial might continued to strike Red targets at will, however. B-29 Superforts rained big bombs on railroad bridges from Manpojin, on the Yalu river, to Hwangju, south of the Red capital of Pyongyang.

Fighter-bombers of the U. S. Fifth Air Force and Allied carrier planes pounded the Reds through overcast skies. More than 300 sorties were flown by noon Friday.

Red casualties since Allied ground forces launched their hunter-killer strikes Jan. 25 neared 120,000—by U. S. Eighth Army estimate.

"Yes," replied a woman carrying an immaculate suitcase, "fifty pounds of coal." It was allowed in duty free.

As they watched, a 17-foot high, 75-foot long brick wall collapsed as a result of heavy rain, and slid into the apartment building. Thirty-five families were evacuated. Another youngster, Richard Selby, 11, was also watching television and escaped injury.

Police Check Story

used to gain confessions in the present "fix" case.

The newspapers said 40 wiretap recordings made during the 1949-1950 season indicated a giant "fix" involving all Garden dates kept by every metropolitan area team.

Hogan had a long talk yesterday with Eddie Gard, former Long Island University (Brooklyn) player accused of offering bribes to three LIU stars, and a trio of City College of New York team members. Gard also is charged with acting as a go-between for the alleged brains of the fix, Salvatore P. Sollazzo.

Gard Is Questioned

The district attorney said he questioned Gard about any others who might have ben mixed up in the scandal. Hogan declined to say what progress, if any, resulted from the questioning. He added that the inquiry was "far from complete."

As a result of the New York investigation some half dozen schools throughout the nation have pulled their teams out of further Garden competition.

In a radio address last night, Commissioner Murphy praised the progress of the fix inquiry and assured out-of-town teams there would be no relaxation in police vigilance against future fix attempts.

Offers 'Special Word'

Offering "a special word" to the mothers and fathers and friends of college athletes whose teams play in New York in the future, Murphy said:

"Let me assure them that New York * * * is a city we are proud of, and we propose to maintain it in the best interests of those we welcome as visitors and our own citizens alike."

The New York grand jury, which started sifting fix evidence Wednesday, is expected to take about a week or 10 days before deciding what charges might be made against eight accused collegians and Sollazzo.

Accused in the fix case, besides Solazzo and Gard, are C.C.N.Y. players Ed Warner, Ed Roman and Al Roth, L.I.U. stars Leroy Smith, Adolph Bigos and Sherman White, and N.Y.U. player Harvey (Connie) Schaff.

No Extensive Study

As other basketball bribe attempts were reported around the country, the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee indicated it might look into basketball fixes but said that no extensive study was planned.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), committee chairman, pointed out in Washington yesterday that the committee officially goes out of business March 31.

The New York probe, he said, "is in mighty good hands"—referring to the conduct of Hogan's investigation.

Kefauver said the committee may consider the basketball situation when it resumes its crime hearings in New York city next month. The committee first began making inquiries on basketball betting pools throughout the country about three months ago.

Reports Attempt

Gary Burke (above), star forward of Maine's top-rated schoolboy basketball team, Bangor High, told police Feb. 21, of an attempt to bribe him before a game. Burke told his coach an anonymous telephone caller asked him if he would "like to make some money" on a game. Instead of keeping an appointment set by the caller to "talk things over," Gary reported the call to his coach who notified police.

May Ask Steelman to Talk

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, under sharp attack by a union leader in the rail dispute, probably will get a bid to testify at a Senate inquiry. Whether Steelman will accept is another matter. He usually turns down the invitations of congressional committees to take the stand. Steelman, key White House aide, came under fire late yesterday at the Senate Labor Committee's investigation of the stormy two-year-old dispute between railway workers and the carriers. The argument is over union demands for higher pay and revision of working conditions.

Press Resents

The paper front-paged a cartoon of British naval hero Lord Nelson, high on his column overlooking Trafalgar Square—but with his right arm upraised with a "Statue of Liberty" torch and wearing horn-rimmed spectacles to the horror of a London pigeon.

From the Conservative side, the Daily Telegraph wrote:

"It cannot be agreeable to have to point out at this stage how strongly people in Britain would resent the assuption that leadership should always fall to our American associates under the (Atlantic) treaty. But feeling is strong."

Likewise, from the liberal News Chronicle:

"There exists in this country—or in any other—no better friend of America than Churchill. No one can pretend that he was motivated by anti-American feelings when he raised objections to the nomination. Churchill was therefore right to raise the issue and Attlee was wise to promise that he will reconsider it. America will understand both our anxiety and our point of view."

Love Own Naval Tradition

"No naval tradition," said the conservative Daily Mail, "can stand against that of these islands. It is incomparable. * * * We have no criticism to make of the United States fleet. America has also a fine naval tradition.

"But she should not have expected such a surrender from Britain," the Daily Mail continued. "The British people have willingly allowed their land forces to be placed under the command of Eisenhower—as they did under that of Marshal Foch more than 30 years ago. But to command western waters is Britain's responsibility and Britain's right."

President Soekarno, a patron of modern art, tried to make amends by commissioning Meier to paint a Balinese semi-nude for the presidential collection.

Typical of Condition

What is happening in Bali is typical of the sort of restiveness against westerners that has been evident since merdeka (freedom) grom the Dutch was achieved.

Shipping men tell stories of big losses in their cargoes through breakage at Indonesian ports by Javanese dockhands who are apt to smash loads of wine against the ship's side and otherwise express defiance.

Bali until recently was still an island of intoxicating song and music and beautiful, half-clad women, where the march of civilization seemed only a sort of misty dream. When the revolution raged on adjacent Java, Bali, only two miles away across the water, was relatively untouched.

Then eight months ago the federation of Indonesian states was replaced by the central government system and things began to change on Bali. Freedom-conscious Javanese police moved in and fiery youth organizations sprang up. In two months, 70 persons suspected of having collaborated with the Dutch were murdered.

Teen-Ager Accused Of Having Revolver

Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum yesterday apprehended a 15-year-old boy who was carrying a .32 calibre Derringer revolver, which he had apparently tried to sell at a second hand store.

The police report at 2:30 p. m. said that two boys had been trying to sell the revolver, but only one was apprehended. Other information today indicated that the revolver had been taken from a house at Bloomington, which was recently damaged by fire, and later became the possession of the local boy. The latter angle was turned over to the sheriff's office for investigation.

Walsh to Resign

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Lawrence E. Walsh will resign soon as counsel to Governor Dewey and return to his former post as counsel to the Public Service Commission. It was learned today that Walsh, 39, had relinquished his PSC job late in 1949 only on a "loan" basis after Dewey appointed Charles D. Breitel, his former counsel, to the State Supreme Court. Walsh has been assured by Dewey that he will be re-appointed to the PSC post as soon as possible after the current let-up in the present pressure of work on bills and other legislative matters.

primarily is killing Reds rather than taking ground.

Allied naval vessels continued to pound both the eastern and western shores of the peninsula Thursday for the ninth straight day. This featured a new bombardment by he U. S. battleship Missouri 185 miles north of 38 at the northeast coastal city of Songjin. The Misouri's 16-inch guns hurled one-ton shells at railroad yards and comand posts.

Disruption Is Aim

The continued bombardments and far-ranging allied air strikes are aimed to disrupt the Reds' tenuous supply lines to central Korea. The pivot point of the enemy's defense apparently is Hongchon, 15 miles north of Hoengsong.

More than 10,000 of an estimated 40,000-man Red force are reported massed around Hoengsong. Air observers reported Reds in division force on high ground around a village between Hoengsong and Hongchon.

General MacArthur's early morning war summary, covering the previous 24-hour period, reported the main hinderance to the offensive was deep mud which bogged down tanks and big guns. Torrential rains swept the front Wednesday and part of Thursday.

Three Red Planes Sent

AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported the Reds sent three planes against allied ground forces Thursday night in the west-central sector. Two were twin-engined bombers, the third a jet.

They bombed and strafed allied positions.

Twelve other Red jets jumped a lone U. S. F-80 Shooting Star south of the Manchurian border Friday. The American escaped unhit when three of the Russian-made MIGs fired on him.

The F-80 is a photographic plane piloted by Lt. Daniel Boone of Little Rock, Ark.

Allied aerial might continued to strike Red targets at will, however. B-29 Superforts rained big bombs on railroad bridges from Manpojin, on the Yalu river, to Hwangju, south of the Red capital of Pyongyang.

Fighter-bombers of the U. S. Fifth Air Force and Allied carrier planes pounded the Reds through overcast skies. More than 300 sorties were flown by noon Friday.

Had Coal in Suitcase

London, Feb. 23 (AP)—"Anything to declare?" asked the customs officer at London's Victoria Station to a traveler returning from France. "Yes," replied a woman carrying an immaculate suitcase. "fifty pounds of coal." She told newsmen the coal was a gift from friends she had been visiting in France who were concerned over the fuel shortage in Britain. The coal was valued at two shillings nine pence. It was allowed in duty free.

Early the night before the youngsters, who normally sleep in this bed, were given permission to see "just one more" television show. As they watched, a 17-foot high, 75-foot long brick wall collapsed as a result of heavy rain, and slid into the apartment building. Thirty-five families were evacuated. Another youngster, Richard Selby, 11, was also watching television and escaped injury.

used to gain confessions in the present "fix" case.

The newspapers said 40 wiretap recordings made during the 1949-1950 season indicated a giant "fix" involving all Garden dates kept by every metropolitan area team.

Hogan had a long talk yesterday with Eddie Gard, former Long Island University (Brooklyn) player accused of offering bribes to three LIU stars, and a trio of City College of New York team members. Gard also is charged with acting as a go-between for the alleged brains of the fix, Salvatore P. Sollazzo.

Gard Is Questioned

The district attorney said he questioned Gard about any others who might have ben mixed up in the scandal. Hogan declined to say what progress, if any, resulted from the questioning. He added that the inquiry was "far from complete."

As a result of the New York investigation some half dozen schools throughout the nation have pulled their teams out of further Garden competition.

In a radio address last night, Commissioner Murphy praised the progress of the fix inquiry and assured out-of-town teams there would be no relaxation in police vigilance against future fix attempts.

Offers 'Special Word'

Offering "a special word" to the mothers and fathers and friends of college athletes whose teams play in New York in the future, Murphy said:

"Let me assure them that New York * * * is a city we are proud of, and we propose to maintain it in the best interests of those we welcome as visitors and our own citizens alike."

The New York grand jury, which started sifting fix evidence Wednesday, is expected to take about a week or 10 days before deciding what charges might be made against eight accused collegians and Sollazzo.

Accused in the fix case, besides Solazzo and Gard, are C.C.N.Y. players Ed Warner, Ed Roman and Al Roth, L.I.U. stars Leroy Smith, Adolph Bigos and Sherman White, and N.Y.U. player Harvey (Connie) Schaff.

No Extensive Study

As other basketball bribe attempts were reported around the country, the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee indicated it might look into basketball fixes but said that no extensive study was planned.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), committee chairman, pointed out in Washington yesterday that the committee officially goes out of business March 31.

The New York probe, he said, "is in mighty good hands"—referring to the conduct of Hogan's investigation.

Kefauver said the committee may consider the basketball situation when it resumes its crime hearings in New York city next month. The committee first began making inquiries on basketball betting pools throughout the country about three months ago.

Reports Attempt

Gary Burke (above), star forward of Maine's top-rated schoolboy basketball team, Bangor High, told police Feb. 21, of an attempt to bribe him before a game. Burke told his coach an anonymous telephone caller asked him if he would "like to make some money" on a game. Instead of keeping an appointment set by the caller to "talk things over," Gary reported the call to his coach who notified police.

May Ask Steelman to Talk

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, under sharp attack by a union leader in the rail dispute, probably will get a bid to testify at a Senate inquiry. Whether Steelman will accept is another matter. He usually turns down the invitations of congressional committees to take the stand. Steelman, key White House aide, came under fire late yesterday at the Senate Labor Committee's investigation of the stormy two-year-old dispute between railway workers and the carriers. The argument is over union demands for higher pay and revision of working conditions.

The paper front—paged a cartoon of British naval hero Lord Nelson, high on his column overlooking Trafalgar Square—but with his right arm upraised with a "Statue of Liberty" torch and wearing horn-rimmed spectacles to the horror of a London pigeon.

From the Conservative side, the Daily Telegraph wrote:

"It cannot be agreeable to have to point out at this stage how strongly people in Britain would resent the assuption that leadership should always fall to our American associates under the (Atlantic) treaty. But feeling is strong."

Likewise, from the liberal News Chronicle:

"There exists in this country—or in any other—no better friend of America than Churchill. No one can pretend that he was motivated by anti-American feelings when he raised objections to the nomination. Churchill was therefore right to raise the issue and Attlee was wise to promise that he will reconsider it. America will understand both our anxiety and our point of view."

Love Own Naval Tradition

"No naval tradition," said the conservative Daily Mail, "can stand against that of these islands. It is incomparable. * * * We have no criticism to make of the United States fleet. America has also a fine naval tradition.

"But she should not have expected such a surrender from Britain," the Daily Mail continued. "The British people have willingly allowed their land forces to be placed under the command of Eisenhower—as they did under that of Marshal Foch more than 30 years ago. But to command western waters is Britain's responsibility and Britain's right."

Belgian Artist Beaten by Youths; Paintings Ruined

Singapore, Feb. 23 (AP)—A Belgian artist, dean of painters on the beautiful island of Bali, was beaten up recently by a gang of Javanese youths intoxicated with their new freedom and determined that no more shall the unclad bosoms of Balinese maidens be pictured by foreigners.

Reports reaching here today said the artist, Jean LeMayeur, was set upon in his Bali home by native hoodlums who tore up paintings of the artist's Balinese wife, Pollak. The paintings of her unclothed figure are famous among tourists who visit the islands. Pollak has been a favorite model of artists and tourists.

LeMayeur long has been a resident in Bali and is revered by the rest of the artists' colony as their leader.

Grew From Decree

Recently the Bali government, bowing to new pressures, issued a decree forbidding foreigners to paint or photograph unclothed Balinese maidens. The attack on LeMayeur grew out of this decree.

Theo Meier, Swiss painter who settled in Bali many years ago, recently returned from Switzerland and learned that his island home had been ransacked. The story goes that he complained to Jakarta, Indonesia's capital. President Soekarno, a patron of modern art, tried to make amends by commissioning Meier to paint a Balinese semi-nude for the presidential collection.

Teen-Ager Accused Of Having Revolver

Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum yesterday apprehended a 15-year-old boy who was carrying a .32 calibre Derringer revolver, which he had apparently tried to sell at a second hand store.

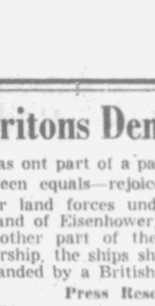

The police report at 2:30 p. m. said that two boys had been trying to sell the revolver, but only one was apprehended. Other information today indicated that the revolver had been taken from a house at Bloomington, which was recently damaged by fire, and later became the possession of the local boy. The latter angle was turned over to the sheriff's office for investigation.

Shaky Benevolence

Bless people as you meet 'em—
Praiseworthy! But I find
I don't dare take a second look
For fear I'll change my mind!
—Herbert Bechtold.

Mary—Harry wanted me to tell him your age, dear.

Jane—Well, did you do it?

Mary—No. I refused. I told him I could not do it because I was one of your best friends.

He—Do you want to marry a one-eyed man?

She—No, why?

He—Then let me carry your umbrella.

It was his first speech, and he wanted it to be a success. His oration was long and passionate, and he wished to end it with a warning. He could have couched his warning in the old proverb about locking the stable door after the horse had been stolen, but that was too commonplace. He wanted something better. Then he shouted: "Don't, I beg you—don't wait until the house takes fire before you summon the firemen."

Surprising how frequently one hears normally peace-loving men and women exclaim that it might be better to bomb Russians than wait for them to send atomic bombs on us.

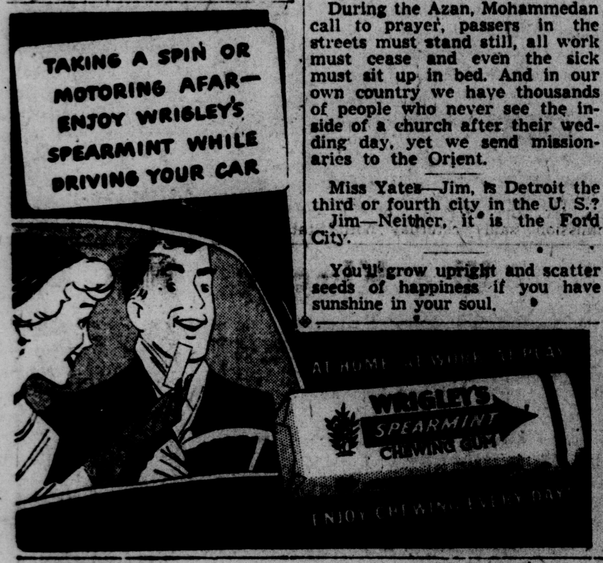

Money doesn't talk these days—it goes without saying.

Reports Are Given On Soviet Election

Moscow, Feb. 23 (AP)—Election results in the Soviet Union:

Number voting in the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic last Sunday for the Supreme Soviet (Legislature) 64,821,310—99.96 per cent of the total 64,832,312 eligible voters.

Number voting for the government's Communist and non-party bloc candidates—64,665,587—99.76 per cent of those voting.

Number voting against the government slate—155,723—.23 per cent of the ballots.

The government announced these results yesterday. Ten of the Soviet Union's 16 republics elected Legislatures in Sunday's elections. The Russian Republic is much the largest of the 16.

Unanimous election of Prime Minister Stalin to a legislative seat already had been announced. Among other Politburo members elected were V. M. Molotov, G. M. Malenkov, L. P. Beria, N. S. Khrushchev and N. A. Bulganin.

Dmitri Shotakovich, the composer, was elected from a Leningrad district. In Moscow's Shchelkovo district air force Lieut. Gen. Vassily Stalin, the generalissimo's son, also was elected.

Guard Is Assigned

Chicago, Feb. 23 (AP)—Two policemen were assigned to guard the home of Chicago's police commissioner today after a brick was hurled through a window of his south side apartment last night. Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor was not at home when the brick crashed through a bedroom window. His wife and three children were in another room in their first floor apartment at 7325 South Princeton avenue. "Possibly it was a prank," O'Connor said. "If it was deliberate and if I find out who did it, I'll take care of it myself."

Asks 8-Week Restriction

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A Manhattan assemblyman urges that a prize fighter be kept out of action for at least eight weeks after he has been knocked out. The measure, introduced by Democrat Louis A. Cioffi, would leave it up to a doctor to set the time of inactivity, between eight weeks and three months.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23—Only a spiritual world awakening can prevent another World War sometime. Wars appear to be one of God's ways of bringing people to their knees. There, however, is no need for another World War now.

The basic reason why no World War is probable this year is that all nations are waiting to learn what atomic bombs can do to ground troops. To answer this question is the reason for the Nevada Atomic Experiments of the past few weeks. The Korean war has shown that ordinary bombs, dropped from the air, have not succeeded in destroying ground troops. The infantry no longer marches in concentrated ranks as they used to do. Now they are so spread out that the individual soldiers are 50 or more feet apart.

For nine months of the year our bombers have been useful in destroying bridges and smashing supply lines. During the remaining three months, after the rivers froze, these bridges and highways were no longer necessary and the bombers were greatly handicapped. This explains why the Chinese armies waited until the rivers froze up before they attacked. This further explains one reason why our military experts do not expect Russia to attempt overrunning Europe before October or November, if then. The other reason is that Russia wants to gather her much needed crops from Bulgaria, Rumania, Poland and Czechoslovakia before war begins. But the real reason Stalin has delayed an attack on Europe is his fear of what the new form of atomic bombs could do to masses of foot soldiers and tanks.

World Oil Situation

Irrespective of the bomb, the United Nations could delay a World War for many years if it would only use its great organization (the 10,000 employes and annual expense of $40,000,000) for constructive work. Today these delegates are wasting their time on foolish arguments. They should be ashamed of themselves. Let me give one of the many possible illustrations of what I mean.

Nearly all the top brass are agreed that Russia's first attack will be against Yugoslavia, Turkey and Greece, to get the oil fields of Iran and neutralize Italy and France. Here are the powder kegs which could destroy the world. Yet, it must seem terribly wicked to God to see His people go to war over the fair distribution of oil which He has freely given to all. People who own and develop oil land are entitled to receive fair compensation for their risk and expenses; but God will not forgive the hogging of this precious oil against the welfare of mankind. It truly seems as if the entire world is crazy not to insist now on a fair distribution of this oil to all nations, including Russia. For not leading such a movement, it seems as if the United Nations is the "international insane asylum" of our world.

There are many causes of war. God made people different and made nations different. Some are black, others are white; some are lazy, others are industrious; some are intelligent and others are ignorant. Nations also differ as to climate, rivers, harbors, and other resources. It would take a century to equalize many of these differences. The world's oil, however, which is needed everywhere by every nation, could be fairly distributed by the United Nations.

Until every nation—including Russia and China—has a fair quantity of oil, we must expect another World War. As God "sends His rain on the just and unjust", so the United Nations should send the oil of Iran to every other nation, instead of cowardly sitting by and making speeches.

What the UN Should Do

The United Nations should stop arguing over technicalities and calling each other names like silly children. The delegates should realize that God gave the world the great oil fields. The delegates should insist that Iran shall have a just recompense and not be scared by bribes, threats or intrigue, whether by England, Russia or the United States. The United Nations should further insist on a fair distribution of this oil and have all nations recognize that they need no resort to war to keep from being shut off from these God given resources. This is an illustration of what the United Nations should plan and fight for. Have we "Christian" nations forgotten THE FOUR FREEDOMS, to which Churchill and Roosevelt agreed when World War II was going against them?

Would Memorialize FDR

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—A resolution to make the birthday of the late President Roosevelt, Jan. 30, a legal public holiday was introduced yesterday by Senator Lehman (D-N.Y.).

God, Peculiar People

God's standard for his people,
Has always been the same,
A call to separation,
Down through the ages came.

He wants us to be Holy,
His challenge still is hurled,
That His peculiar people,
Be different from the world.

Yes, different in our conduct,
From others round about,
Our lives are speaking louder,
Than sermon song or shout.

So let us then be careful,
That all men in us find,
A life that speaks for Jesus,
Forgiving, courteous and kind.

In conversation also,
By this may all men know,
For from the heart's abundance,
The mouth will overflow.

The worldling mouth is filthy,
His talk is foolish light,
The Christian's talk is different,
Because his heart is right.

The reason we are different,
To God we give the praise,
He changed our hearts completely,
And ordered all our ways.

God keep us always different,
In conduct, dress and talk,
Not walking as the world,
But as a Christian ought.

Auto Club Can't See Rationing Now

Despite the increased tempo of the country's mobilization program, there is no indication that motorists will be faced with restructions or consumer rationing in the immediate future, Martin Colodny, secretary of the Automobile Club of New York, yesterday advised car owners.

Colodny said that, although there will be cutbacks in production and some temporary shortages, current surveys show that automobile travel will not be affected to any great degree.

He pointed out that automobile production is likely to be reduced anywhere from 20 to 50 per cent. However, it will be a gradual decline from the all-time record high of 6,672,700 passenger cars built last year.

Gasoline supplies, according to Colodny, are plentiful and government officials have stated that no rationing is being contemplated.

While restrictions have been placed on the use of rubber, synthetic plants are being rapidly placed back in production. Colodny said that by March 1 the output of natural and synthetic rubber should be at a rate of 50 per cent higher than consumption in any previous year.

Slash Appears Likely

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A drastic slash in flour mill production appeared likely today in the face of a growing box car shortage. General Mills, Inc., which operates the world's largest flour mill here, cut production in half yesterday. A full shut-down was imminent. Other flour mills also anticipate quick shut-downs unless the box car shortage is solved.

As Pegler Sees It

able old fake, has made a lot of unpleasantness for Jews by whipping up scares, ostensibly in their interest. Its bag-man is Isidore Lipschutz, a refugee diamond merchant, who compiled a sordid personal reputation while awaiting naturalization. A congressional inquiry would turn up the sources of his income, which seems to be large, and expose more details of his private gestapo, which, includes some disreputable professional sneaks. Anyway, the Anti-Nazi League thrives on the fears of Jews that Hitlerian anti-Semitism is just around the corner in our country. In that respect it plays catch with Smith.

The league is always stridently aghast at Smith. Smith is always aghast at the league. They get along together like a pair of bellowing behemoths of the wrestling racket.

Yet a real anti-Communist, such as Rabbi Schultz, runs a risk of being tarred with the same stick that tars Gerald Smith. I submit that he does very well, considering.

Rabbi Schultz first gave the alarm against Admiral Nimitz as chairman of a new fake known as the President's Commission on Internal Security and Internal Rights. This is absolutely no good. Nimitz was a good sailor so Rabbi Schultz had his nerve to sound off at a meeting of a patriotic society of women in Washington with a warning that Nimitz would be worse than a dummy on that commission. A dummy would be harmless. But Nimitz would be a plant because he has a glamorous reputation and a dull, stubborn predisposition, and a saluting mind. "Aye-aye, Mr. President!"

"Nimitz is being used in a deliberate attempt to whitewash an evil pro-Communist situation," the rabbi said. "Nimitz, a naval hero, is sincere and loyal. But his record on tolerance of pro-Communists is bad. He is on the board of regents of the University of California. Last July, in a close vote of 10 to 9, Nimitz voted to keep the 40 professors who refused to take the non-Communist oath. On August 25, the regents reversed themselves 12 to 10. Nimitz was absent but, according to the New York Times, he sent word that he would have voted as he had before. On September 9, when the regents were in court against the professors, Nimitz announced that the regents did not represent him as an individual. He has a very definite philosophy on loyalty. His commission will reflect that philosophy."

The Nimitz Commission is a phony arrangement, reeking of respectability but devoid of alert, expert knowledge of the wiles of the Kremlin's fifth column. Its purpose from the beginning is to "stop witch hunts." That is the tip-off. Every traitor among the hundreds turned up within the government has hollered "witch hunt." Truman topped it all with his disgraceful "red herring" defense of Alger Hiss.

Rabbi Schultz works under handicaps. Even some of his own people who exalt the name of Roosevelt, suspect him of "fascism." Yet he cries out against "misleaders of my people" and hollers up a fight to "root the Communists and fellow-travelers out of government, education, churches and synagogues." He is on the right side.

Federal Plan Is Hard on State Defense Program

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Who's going to bear the cost of New York state's civil defense?

That's the big hitch now that the Dewey administration's defense-regimentation bill has been toned down.

Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore said last night that plans for financing were stymied by what he called an "unworkable" federal approach to the problem.

Moore talked for four hours with a dozen municipal representatives, and then told newsmen that the localities seemed "willing to bear a very substantial share of the cost of the civil defense effort."

But, he said, discussion was hampered "by reason of the failure of the federal government to define clearly a workable relationship with the state and localities for financing civil defense."

Moore said the municipal officials had agreed that:

1—All civil defense personnel should receive financial protection against injury.

2—The federal government was unrealistic in proposing to limit financial aid to establishment of bomb shelters to be used exclusively for that purpose.

3—The conferees must find out whether the federal government would make available to local CD organizations equipment such as stretchers, auxiliary fire-fighting units and helmets.

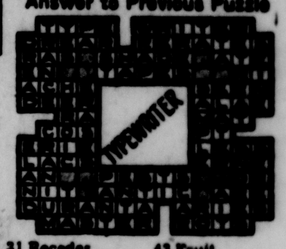

Moore will meet with the local representatives again Monday. They are expected to know then whether present municipal insurance protection would cover employes participating in civil defense.

Urges State to Act

Philadelphia, Feb. 23 (AP)—An official of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin urges prompt action on a proposed project which would supply additional water to the four-state area including Pennsylvania. James H. Allen, executive secretary of the commission, said yesterday both the city of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania must act quickly to share in the joint program with Delaware, New Jersey and New York before the latter two states feel impelled to go ahead independently.

An average of 87 persons a day are killed in traffic in the United States.

For from the heart's abundance,
The mouth will overflow.

The worldling mouth is filthy,
His talk is foolish light,
The Christian's talk is different,
Because his heart is right.

The reason we are different,
To God we give the praise,
He changed our hearts completely,
And ordered all our ways.

God keep us always different,
In conduct, dress and talk,
Not walking as the world,
But as a Christian ought.

Auto Club Can't See Rationing Now

Despite the increased tempo of the country's mobilization program, there is no indication that motorists will be faced with restructions or consumer rationing in the immediate future, Martin Colodny, secretary of the Automobile Club of New York, yesterday advised car owners.

Colodny said that, although there will be cutbacks in production and some temporary shortages, current surveys show that automobile travel will not be affected to any great degree.

He pointed out that automobile production is likely to be reduced anywhere from 20 to 50 per cent. However, it will be a gradual decline from the all-time record high of 6,672,700 passenger cars built last year.

Gasoline supplies, according to Colodny, are plentiful and government officials have stated that no rationing is being contemplated.

While restrictions have been placed on the use of rubber, synthetic plants are being rapidly placed back in production. Colodny said that by March 1 the output of natural and synthetic rubber should be at a rate of 50 per cent higher than consumption in any previous year.

Slash Appears Likely

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A drastic slash in flour mill production appeared likely today in the face of a growing box car shortage. General Mills, Inc., which operates the world's largest flour mill here, cut production in half yesterday. A full shut-down was imminent. Other flour mills also anticipate quick shut-downs unless the box car shortage is solved.

As Pegler Sees It

able old fake, has made a lot of unpleasantness for Jews by whipping up scares, ostensibly in their interest. Its bag-man is Isidore Lipschutz, a refugee diamond merchant, who compiled a sordid personal reputation while awaiting naturalization. A congressional inquiry would turn up the sources of his income, which seems to be large, and expose more details of his private gestapo, which includes some disreputable professional sneaks. Anyway, the Anti-Nazi League thrives on the fears of Jews that Hitlerian anti-Semitism is just around the corner in our country. In that respect it plays catch with Smith.

The league is always stridently aghast at Smith. Smith is always aghast at the league. They get along together like a pair of bellowing behemoths of the wrestling racket.

Yet a real anti-Communist, such as Rabbi Schultz, runs a risk of being tarred with the same stick that tars Gerald Smith. I submit that he does very well, considering.

Rabbi Schultz first gave the alarm against Admiral Nimitz as chairman of a new fake known as the President's Commission on Internal Security and Internal Rights. This is absolutely no good. Nimitz was a good sailor so Rabbi Schultz had his nerve to sound off at a meeting of a patriotic society of women in Washington with a warning that Nimitz would be worse than a dummy on that commission. A dummy would be harmless. But Nimitz would be a plant because he has a glamorous reputation and a dull, stubborn predisposition, and a saluting mind. "Aye-aye, Mr. President!"

"Nimitz is being used in a deliberate attempt to whitewash an evil pro-Communist situation," the rabbi said. "Nimitz, a naval hero, is sincere and loyal, But his record on tolerance of pro-Communists is bad. He is on the board of regents of the University of California. Last July, in a close vote of 10 to 9, Nimitz voted to keep the 40 professors who refused to take the non-Communist oath. On August 25, the regents reversed themselves 12 to 10. Nimitz was absent but, according to the New York Times, he sent word that he would have voted as he had before. On September 9, when the regents were in court against the professors, Nimitz announced that the regents did not represent him as an individual. He has a very definite philosophy on loyalty. His commission will reflect that philosophy."

The Nimitz Commission is a phony arrangement, reeking of respectability but devoid of alert, expert knowledge of the wiles of the Kremlin's fifth column. Its purpose from the beginning is to "stop witch hunts." That is the tip-off. Every traitor among the hundreds turned up within the government has hollered "witch hunt." Truman topped it all with his disgraceful "red herring" defense of Alger Hiss.

Rabbi Schultz works under handicaps. Even some of his own people who exalt the name of Roosevelt, suspect him of "fascism." Yet he cries out against "misleaders of my people" and hollers up a fight to "root the Communists and fellow-travelers out of government, education, churches and synagogues." He is on the right side.

Federal Plan Is Hard on State Defense Program

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Who's going to bear the cost of New York state's civil defense?

That's the big hitch now that the Dewey administration's defense-regimentation bill has been toned down.

Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore said last night that plans for financing were stymied by what he called an "unworkable" federal approach to the problem.

Moore talked for four hours with a dozen municipal representatives, and then told newsmen that the localities seemed "willing to bear a very substantial share of the cost of the civil defense effort."

But, he said, discussion was hampered "by reason of the failure of the federal government to define clearly a workable relationship with the state and localities for financing civil defense."

Moore said the municipal officials had agreed that:

1—All civil defense personnel should receive financial protection against injury.

2—The federal government was unrealistic in proposing to limit financial aid to establishment of bomb shelters to be used exclusively for that purpose.

3—The conferees must find out whether the federal government would make available to local CD organizations equipment such as stretchers, auxiliary fire-fighting units and helmets.

Moore will meet with the local representatives again Monday. They are expected to know then whether present municipal insurance protection would cover employes participating in civil defense.

Urges State to Act

Philadelphia, Feb. 23 (AP)—An official of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin urges prompt action on a proposed project which would supply additional water to the four-state area including Pennsylvania. James H. Allen, executive secretary of the commission, said yesterday both the city of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania must act quickly to share in the joint program with Delaware, New Jersey and New York before the latter two states feel impelled to go ahead independently.

An average of 87 persons a day are killed in traffic in the United States.

Reports Are Given On Soviet Election

Moscow, Feb. 23 (AP)—Election results in the Soviet Union:

Number voting in the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic last Sunday for the Supreme Soviet (Legislature) 64,821,310—99.98 per cent of the total 64,832,312 eligible voters.

Number voting for the government's Communist and non-party bloc candidates—64,665,587—99.76 per cent of those voting.

Number voting against the government slate—155,723—.23 per cent of the ballots.

The government announced these results yesterday. Ten of the Soviet Union's 16 republics elected Legislatures in Sunday's elections. The Russian Republic is much the largest of the 16.

Unanimous election of Prime Minister Stalin to a legislative seat already had been announced. Among other Politburo members elected were V. M. Molotov, G. M. Malenkov, L. P. Beria, N. S. Khruschev and N. A. Bulganin.

Dmitri Shotakovich, the composer, was elected from a Leningrad district. In Moscow's Shchelkovo district air force Lieut. Gen. Vassily Stalin, the generalissimo's son, also was elected.

Guard Is Assigned

Chicago, Feb. 23 (AP)—Two policemen were assigned to guard the home of Chicago's police commissioner today after a brick was hurled through a window of his south side apartment last night. Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor was not at home when the brick crashed through a bedroom window. His wife and three children were in another room in their first floor apartment at 7325 South Princeton avenue. "Possibly it was a prank," O'Connor said. "If it was deliberate and if I find out who did it, I'll take care of it myself."

Asks 8-Week Restriction

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—A Manhattan assemblyman urges that a prize fighter be kept out of action for at least eight weeks after he has been knocked out. The measure, introduced by Democrat Louis A. Cioffi, would leave it up to a doctor to set the time of inactivity, between eight weeks and three months.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23—Only a spiritual world awakening can prevent another World War sometime. Wars appear to be one of God's ways of bringing people to their knees. There, however, is no need for another World War now.

The basic reason why no World War is probable this year is that all nations are waiting to learn what atomic bombs can do to ground troops. To answer this question is the reason for the Nevada Atomic Experiments of the past few weeks. The Korean war has shown that ordinary bombs, dropped from the air, have not succeeded in destroying ground troops. The infantry no longer marches in concentrated ranks as they used to do. Now they are so spread out that the individual soldiers are 50 or more feet apart.

For nine months of the year our bombers have been useful in destroying bridges and smashing supply lines. During the remaining three months, after the rivers froze, these bridges and highways were no longer necessary and the bombers were greatly handicapped. This explains why the Chinese armies waited until the rivers froze up before they attacked. This further explains one reason why our military experts do not expect Russia to attempt overrunning Europe before October or November, if then. The other reason is that Russia wants to gather her much needed crops from Bulgaria, Rumania, Poland and Czechoslovakia before war begins. But the real reason Stalin has delayed an attack on Europe is his fear of what the new form of atomic bombs could do to masses of foot soldiers and tanks.

World Oil Situation

Irrespective of the bomb, the United Nations could delay a World War for many years if it would only use its great organization (the 10,000 employes and annual expense of $40,000,000) for constructive work. Today these delegates are wasting their time on foolish arguments. They should be ashamed of themselves. Let me give one of the many possible illustrations of what I mean.

Nearly all the top brass are agreed that Russia's first attack will be against Yugoslavia, Turkey and Greece, to get the oil fields of Iran and neutralize Italy and France. Here are the powder kegs which could destroy the world. Yet, it must seem terribly wicked to God to see His people go to war over the fair distribution of oil which He has freely given to all. People who own and develop oil land are entitled to receive fair compensation for their risk and expenses; but God will not forgive the hogging of this precious oil against the welfare of mankind. It truly seems as if the entire world is crazy not to insist now on a fair distribution of this oil to all nations, including Russia. For not leading such a movement, it seems as if the United Nations is the "international insane asylum" of our world.

There are many causes of war. God made people different and made nations different. Some are black, others are white; some are lazy, others are industrious; some are intelligent and others are ignorant. Nations also differ as to climate, rivers, harbors, and other resources. It would take a century to equalize many of these differences. The world's oil, however, which is needed everywhere by every nation, could be fairly distributed by the United Nations.

Until every nation—including Russia and China—has a fair quantity of oil, we must expect another World War. As God "sends His rain on the just and unjust", so the United Nations should send the oil of Iran to every other nation, instead of cowardly sitting by and making speeches.

What the UN Should Do

The United Nations should stop arguing over technicalities and calling each other names like silly children. The delegates should realize that God gave the world the great oil fields. The delegates should insist that Iran shall have a just recompense and not be scared by bribes, threats or intrigue, whether by England, Russia or the United States. The United Nations should further insist on a fair distribution of this oil and have all nations recognize that they need no resort to war to keep from being shut off from these God given resources. This is an illustration of what the United Nations should plan and fight for. Have we "Christian" nations forgotten THE FOUR FREEDOMS, to which Churchill and Roosevelt agreed when World War II was going against them?

Would Memorialize FDR

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—A resolution to make the birthday of the late President Roosevelt, Jan. 30, a legal public holiday was introduced yesterday by Senator Lehman (D-N.Y.).

God, Peculiar People

God's standard for his people,
Has always been the same,
A call to separation.
Down through the ages came.

He wants us to be Holy.
His challenge still is hurled,
That His peculiar people,
Be different from the world.

Yes, different in our conduct,
From others round about,
Our lives are speaking louder,
Than sermon song or shout.

So let us then be careful,
That all men in us find,
A life that speaks for Jesus,
Forgiving, courteous and kind.

In conversation also,
By this may all men know,
For from the heart's abundance,
The mouth will overflow.

The worldling mouth is filthy,
His talk is foolish light,
The Christian's talk is different,
Because his heart is right.

The reason we are different,
To God we give the praise,
He changed our hearts completely,
And ordered all our ways.

God keep us always different,
In conduct, dress and talk,
Not walking as the world,
But as a Christian ought.

Footlighters Work On Period Piece 'My Fine Ladies'

Most amateur little theatre groups in the country have, in all probability, two great ambitions. They would like to present a real period piece, complete with the costumes, and they'd like to give a premier performance of a new and celebrated play. The Kingston Footlighters will realize both ambitions in March when they present K. J. Peabody's "My Fine Ladies" at their official "theatre warming." The play, based on the immortal Moliere's most-laughed-at comedy, "Les Precieuses Ridicules," is under the direction of John Mayo of Woodstock.

Starring in the cast are Wanda Lewis as Blanche, John Mayo as Briskit, George Ruffing as Mascara, George Sagar Captain Poop, Sylvia Williams as Madame Cliche, Jules Viglielmo as Dubonnet, Betty Williams as Belle, Sgt. "Doc" McGinnis as LaPox, John Carro as Gavotte, Ernest Grafe as First Chairman, Grace Stewart as Macaroon, and Francis P. Mack as Second Chairman.

The "double feature" program, to borrow a leaf from Hollywood's book, will also include another premiere performance; K. J. Peabody's saucy new farce, "Permanent May it Wave."

This one-act curtain raiser stars Dorothy Stewart as Bobby Pin, and Joan Jablonski as Lucrecia Gorgeous. Ruth Frederick, Grace Stewart, and Marianne Maugg portray the three matrons with, it has been reported, skillful characterization to their final, outraged gasps. This is also under John Mayo's direction.

Men's Club Dinner

McNamee Says . . .

cial interest in the date for in 1782 when General Washington traveled to Kingston he had paid a visit to the church. That visit had come at the conclusion of the revolution and when there still had been no peace treaty signed. There was unrest in this area and many of the citizens wondered whether it would not be better to again align themselves with English rule rather than to face what appeared to them to be a hopeless future.

Visited Area in 1782

On November 16, 1782 General Washington came to this area to allay these fears. He visited the Bogardus Tavern at Fair street and Maiden Lane, dined with Judge Dirk Wynkoop and spent the night at the Chris Tappen home near the present Bernstein building at Wall and North Front street. On his way to Kingston he stopped at Stone Ridge to visit Col. Wynkoop and again he stopped at Hurley. In Kingston he also visited the Old Dutch Church and later wrote a message to the minister which was read by St. John. As a result of this visit the people of the area were "given inner strength" and the young republic prospered in this area.

Prior to presenting the speaker, Overfield said Col. McNamee had been secured through Senator Arthur H. Wicks and it had been hoped the senator would be present but legislative duties in Albany prevented his appearance.

Col. McNamee said he was going to speak on "the greatest thing of the day, outside of Korea, the A-bomb" and he then proceeded to give a report on the use of the bomb and the defense to its use.

Many people feel, he said, that there is no hope, that there is nothing one can do and that use of the bomb is absolute destruction. This is not so. He said there is a comparatively easy defense to the bomb and except for those in the immediate area where the bomb explodes you can survive if simple precautions are taken.

Is 'Blast Weapon'

The atom bomb was developed primarily as a "blast weapon" and only about 20 per cent of those who died in the Japan blasts died of radio activities. The great danger lies from the effects of the explosive qualities of the bomb. Flying debris, fire which follows a blast kills far more persons than the other properties of the bomb. Through the destruction of military industry, through the weaking of the morale of the workmen and through the loss of labor because of bomb casualties any bombing contributes to end war. Col. McNamee referred to the 60,000 killed in the United Kingdom during five years of bombing in World War II; of the saturation raids on Europe where 1,000 bombers dropped bombs in a single night on a city; of the 60,000 killed in an eight square mile area of Hamburg following five night raids and he then said 60,000 died in five minutes when the atom bomb was dropped in Japan. This is an indication of development of strength. The atom bomb is new in its efficiency.

Col. McNamee spoke of the dropping of the atom bomb from a single plane which had failed to attract much attention from the Japanese and had not even been considered of sufficient importance to cause an air raid alarm. The bomb exploded at 2,000 feet around 8 in the morning when people were en route to work. The result was terrific. After the blast there were only 30 out of 200 doctors who survived to assist the casualties; of 45 hospitals only three remained. The blast was followed by a "fire storm" which swept the city as it created a 30 to 40 mile wind and 4½ square miles were burned over when 70% of the fire fighting equipment was destroyed or made useless because of 7,000 breaks in the water system of Hiroshima.

12 Times the Potential

"The atom bomb today has twelve times the potentials of that Hiroshima bomb," said Col. McNamee and later he said the H-bomb is 50 times as powerful as the A-bomb.

At Nagasaki where the country was more rolling the effect of the bomb was less than at Hiroshima. In this fact he pointed out was protection. While the blast from an atom bomb may be compared to the explosion of 20,000 tons of TNT, a small amount of shielding from the direct blast can protect a human. Danger lies in falling debris in the open and within an area of a half mile from the explosion of the atom bomb death will come from either the explosive effect or radioactive properties of the bomb. A mile from the bomb there is danger but a mile and a half away "nothing happens" said McNamee. He then said the greatest protection from the atom bomb is earth. Six to eight feet of earth is perfect protection and five inches of earth reduces danger 50% even at close range. McNamee said fifteen minutes after a bomb is exploded it is safe to travel the territory in a jeep, there is no residuary nuclear effect from an air burst shortly after the explosion.

By education and simple training the public can protect itself from atom bomb danger. McNamee stressed the fact that the greatest damage comes from secondary causes such as falling debris and fire which follows.

"You can and ought to survive the A bomb", said Col. McNamee and he said within a half mile of the explosion one out of ten survive; at a half mile to a mile five out of ten survive and at distances of a mile or more there are nine chances out of ten you will survive.

Following the talk a motion picture showing the atom bomb effects was shown and then Col. McNamee spoke briefly on the H bomb which he said was 50 times more powerful than the A bomb but which required a million degrees of heat to explode and he indicated that this heat could be derived only from the atom bomb. He indicated that recent experiments in the west may have been this type of experiment.

Use of the atom bomb was not considered effective in the Korean war he said because of the nature of the country which makes hand to hand fighting the only means of effective combat.

During a question period he was asked if he considered an immediate attack by Russia possible and his reply was that he was not worrying about it, indicating that he held no such impression now.

He went into considerable discussion of the statistical problems of atom bomb use, of its effects and power compared to other bombs and said that much of this data had but recently been released for public use although it had been known to the service since the study of the Japan atom bomb explosions and the later tests at Bikini.

REFUSING SOMETHING TO DRINK

No one has the least hesitancy in refusing candy and yet it is not uncommon to have someone ask: "What is the proper way, if there is any, to refuse strong drinks which are passed to the guests? I don't care for anything and yet I'm beginning to believe that people here in this new town take for granted that everybody does. I don't want to be shunned because of lack of conformity to neighborhood custom. Also, what about when they come to see me?"

It is inconceivable that everyone in a community should be forced to take strong "drink." There are more reasons than moral principles why people do not drink, and all hosts should be prepared to offer expected guests something "soft." At all events, I certainly cannot recommend that you conform to a drinking custom of any such degree as you suggest. On the other hand, I do agree that you should be very careful not to refuse with any more self-consciousness than you would show when saying "no thank you" to a piece of candy. People will furthermore understand your attitude and respect it, if when they come to your house they find that you in turn provide what they like!

Choosing Wedding Attendants

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister-in-law is getting married and she has asked me to be her matron of honor. Her future husband prefers to have his brother-in-law as best man. We'd like to know if it's correct to separate a married couple like this and whether I shouldn't perhaps decline after all?

Answer: This is not at all unusual. In fact, being able to include both would be the exception. Of course the husband (or wife) who is not taking part must be invited to all the parties which include the wedding members as well as to the wedding ceremony and reception.

The Second Baby

Dear Mrs. Post: Our first little darling died at the age of three months. We'd sent announcements and received many baby presents. None of these have I returned. We're soon to have another baby. What about announcements again? Will it make people feel obligated? I wouldn't want that, of course, and yet I'd like to let everyone know about the new baby.

Answer: I can't see why sending your happy announcement will obligate any of your friends to send you a present—especially those who sent a present the first time.

Details for the christening of the new baby are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-26, "The New Baby." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 10 cents to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Also attracting attention was a dinner dress of painted, imported organdy, almost completely made by hand.

Footlighters Work On Period Piece 'My Fine Ladies'

Most amateur little theatre groups in the country have, in all probability, two great ambitions. They would like to present a real period piece, complete with the costumes, and they'd like to give a premier performance of a new and celebrated play. The Kingston Footlighters will realize both ambitions in March when they present K. J. Peabody's "My Fine Ladies" at their official "theatre warming." The play, based on the immortal Moliere's most-laughed-at comedy, "Les Precieuses Ridicules," is under the direction of John Mayo of Woodstock.

Starring in the cast are Wanda Lewis as Blanche, John Mayo as Briskit, George Ruffing as Mascara, George Sagar Captain Poop, Sylvia Williams as Madame Cliche, Jules Viglielmo as Dubonnet, Betty Williams as Belle, Sgt. "Doc" McGinnis as LaPox, John Carro as Gavotte, Ernest Grafe as First Chairman, Grace Stewart as Macaroon, and Francis P. Mack as Second Chairman.

The "double feature" program, to borrow a leaf from Hollywood's book, will also include another premiere performance; K. J. Peabody's saucy new farce, "Permanent May it Wave."

This one-act curtain raiser stars Dorothy Stewart as Bobby Pin, and Joan Jablonski as Lucrecia Gorgeous. Ruth Frederick, Grace Stewart, and Marianne Maugg portray the three matrons with, it has been reported, skillful characterization to their final, outraged gasps. This is also under John Mayo's direction.

Designer Has First Kingston Showing

Mrs. Laura Willis presented her first Kingston showing of original designs in clothing at 41 Brewster street, Tuesday afternoon. Tea was served following the fashion show.

Included in her collection were "at home" fashions for morning, noon and night wear, using taffeta, cotton, and silk jersey. Most popular dress in the group was a black and green reversible silk jersey that could be worn five ways. Also attracting attention was a dinner dress of painted, imported organdy, almost completely made by hand.

The designs were modelled by Mrs. Richard Drew of Hurley. Tea was served by Mrs. Willis assisted by Mrs. Harry Le Fever, Jr., and Mrs. David F. Derringer, Jr., of Stone Ridge.

Footlighters Work On Period Piece 'My Fine Ladies'

Most amateur little theatre groups in the country have, in all probability, two great ambitions. They would like to present a real period piece, complete with the costumes, and they'd like to give a premier performance of a new and celebrated play. The Kingston Footlighters will realize both ambitions in March when they present K. J. Peabody's "My Fine Ladies" at their official "theatre warming." The play, based on the immortal Moliere's most-laughed-at comedy, "Les Precieuses Ridicules," is under the direction of John Mayo of Woodstock.

Starring in the cast are Wanda Lewis as Blanche, John Mayo as Briskit, George Ruffing as Mascara, George Sagar Captain Poop, Sylvia Williams as Madame Cliche, Jules Viglielmo as Dubonnet, Betty Williams as Belle, Sgt. "Doc" McGinnis as LaPox, John Carro as Gavotte, Ernest Grafe as First Chairman, Grace Stewart as Macaroon, and Francis P. Mack as Second Chairman.

The "double feature" program, to borrow a leaf from Hollywood's book, will also include another premiere performance; K. J. Peabody's saucy new farce, "Permanent May it Wave."

This one-act curtain raiser stars Dorothy Stewart as Bobby Pin, and Joan Jablonski as Lucrecia Gorgeous. Ruth Frederick, Grace Stewart, and Marianne Maugg portray the three matrons with, it has been reported, skillful characterization to their final, outraged gasps. This is also under John Mayo's direction.

Berlanga, who graduated from Kingston High School with the class of '50, told students about his college's courses, program, extra-curricular activities, and social life.

At the State Institute he is a member of Tau Omicron Pi, social fraternity, and Circle "K" service organization under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis International.

In Rehearsal for March Opening

"Doc" McGinnis, Wanda Lewis of this city, Francis Mack of Whiteport, George Ruffing and Grace Stewart, both of this city; George Sagar of Creek Locks; Sylvia Williams and John Carro, both of this city; John Mayo of Woodstock; Betti Williams of this city; and Jules Viglielmo of Ulster Park. (George Sagar Photo)

McNamee Says . . .

cial interest in the date for in 1782 when General Washington traveled to Kingston he had paid a visit to the church. That visit had come at the conclusion of the revolution and when there still had been no peace treaty signed. There was unrest in this area and many of the citizens wondered whether it would not be better to again align themselves with English rule rather than to face what appeared to them to be a hopeless future.

Visited Area in 1782

On November 16, 1782 General Washington came to this area to allay these fears. He visited the Bogardus Tavern at Fair street and Maiden Lane, dined with Judge Dirk Wynkoop and spent the night at the Chris Tappen home near the present Bernstein building at Wall and North Front street. On his way to Kingston he stopped at Stone Ridge to visit Col. Wynkoop and again he stopped at Hurley. In Kingston he also visited the Old Dutch Church and later wrote a message to the minister which was read by St. John. As a result of this visit the people of the area were "given inner strength" and the young republic prospered in this area.

Prior to presenting the speaker, Overfield said Col. McNamee had been secured through Senator Arthur H. Wicks and it had been hoped the senator would be present but legislative duties in Albany prevented his appearance.

Col. McNamee said he was going to speak on "the greatest thing of the day, outside of Korea, the A-bomb" and he then proceeded to give a report on the use of the bomb and the defense to its use.

Many people feel, he said, that there is nothing one can do and that use of the bomb is absolute destruction. This is not so. He said there is a comparatively easy defense to the bomb and except for those in the immediate area where the bomb explodes you can survive if simple precautions are taken.

Is 'Blast Weapon'

The atom bomb was developed primarily as a "blast weapon" and only about 20 per cent of those who died in the Japan blasts died of radio activities. The great danger lies from the effects of the explosive qualities of the bomb. Flying debris, fire which follows a blast kills far more persons than the other properties of the bomb. Through the destruction of military industry, through the weaking of the morale of the workmen and through the loss of labor because of bomb casualties any bombing contributes to end war. Col. McNamee referred to the 60,000 killed in the United Kingdom during five years of bombing in World War II; of the saturation raids on Europe where 1,000 bombers dropped bombs in a single night on a city; of the 60,000 killed in an eight square mile area of Hamburg following five night raids and he then said 60,000 died in five minutes when the atom bomb was dropped in Japan. This is an indication of development of strength. The atom bomb is new in its efficiency.

Col. McNamee spoke of the dropping of the atom bomb from a single plane which had failed to attract much attention from the Japanese and had not even been considered of sufficient importance to cause an air raid alarm. The bomb exploded at 2,000 feet around 8 in the morning when people were en route to work. The result was terrific. After the blast there were only 30 out of 200 doctors who survived to assist the casualties; of 45 hospitals only three remained. The blast was followed by a "fire storm" which swept the city as it created a 30 to 40 mile wind and 4½ square miles were burned over when 70% of the fire fighting equipment was destroyed or made useless because of 7,000 breaks in the water system of Hiroshima.

12 Times the Potential

"The atom bomb today has twelve times the potentials of that Hiroshima bomb," said Col. McNamee and later he said the H-bomb is 50 times as powerful as the A-bomb.

At Nagasaki where the country was more rolling the effect of the bomb was less than at Hiroshima. In this fact he pointed out was protection. While the blast from an atom bomb may be compared to the explosion of 20,000 tons of TNT, a small amount of shielding from the direct blast can protect a human. Danger lies in falling debris in the open and within an area of a half mile from the explosion of the atom bomb death will come from either the explosive effect or radioactive properties of the bomb. A mile from the bomb there is danger but a mile and a half away "nothing happens" said McNamee. He then said the greatest protection from the atom bomb is earth. Six to eight feet of earth is perfect protection and five inches of earth reduces danger 50% even at close range. McNamee said fifteen minutes after a bomb is exploded it is safe to travel the territory in a jeep, there is no residuary nuclear effect from an air burst shortly after the explosion.

By education and simple training the public can protect itself from atom bomb danger. McNamee stressed the fact that the greatest damage comes from secondary causes such as falling debris and fire which follows.

"You can and ought to survive the A bomb", said Col. McNamee and he said within a half mile of the explosion one out of ten survive; at a half mile to a mile five out of ten survive and at distances of a mile or more there are nine chances out of ten you will survive.

Following the talk a motion picture showing the atom bomb effects was shown and then Col. McNamee spoke briefly on the H bomb which he said was 50 times more powerful than the A bomb but which required a million degrees of heat to explode and he indicated that this heat could be derived only from the atom bomb. He indicated that recent experiments in the west may have been this type of experiment.

Use of the atom bomb was not considered effective in the Korean war he said because of the nature of the country which makes hand to hand fighting the only means of effective combat.

During a question period he was asked if he considered an immediate attack by Russia possible and his reply was that he was not worrying about it, indicating that he held no such impression now.

He went into considerable discussion of the statistical problems of atom bomb use, of its effects and power compared to other bombs and said that much of this data had but recently been released for public use although it had been known to the service since the study of the Japan atom bomb explosions and the later tests at Bikini.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

REFUSING SOMETHING TO DRINK

No one has the least hesitancy in refusing candy and yet it is not uncommon to have someone ask: "What is the proper way, if there is any, to refuse strong drinks which are passed to the guests? I don't care for anything and yet I'm beginning to believe that people here in this new town take for granted that everybody does. I don't want to be shunned because of lack of conformity to neighborhood custom. Also, what about when they come to see me?"

It is inconceivable that everyone in a community should be forced to take strong "drink." There are more reasons than moral principles why people do not drink, and all hosts should be prepared to offer expected guests something "soft." At all events, I certainly cannot recommend that you conform to a drinking custom of any such degree as you suggest. On the other hand, I do agree that you should be very careful not to refuse with any more self-consciousness than you would show when saying "no thank you" to a piece of candy. People will furthermore understand your attitude and respect it, if when they come to your house they find that you in turn provide what they like!

Choosing Wedding Attendants

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister-in-law is getting married and she has asked me to be her matron of honor. Her future husband prefers to have his brother-in-law as best man. We'd like to know if it's correct to separate a married couple like this and whether I shouldn't perhaps decline after all?

Answer: This is not at all unusual. In fact, being able to include both would be the exception. Of course the husband (or wife) who is not taking part must be invited to all the parties which include the wedding members as well as to the wedding ceremony and reception.

The Second Baby

Dear Mrs. Post: Our first little darling died at the age of three months. We'd sent announcements and received many baby presents. None of these have I returned. We're soon to have another baby. What about announcements again? Will it make people feel obligated? I wouldn't want that, of course, and yet I'd like to let everyone know about the new baby.

Answer: I can't see why sending your happy announcement will obligate any of your friends to send you a present—especially those who sent a present the first time.

Details for the christening of the new baby are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-26, "The New Baby." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 10 cents to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Dinner Successful

A chicken dinner, served for the benefit of St. Mark's A.M.E. Church, 12 Foxhall avenue, was highly successful, Mrs. Daniel Haynes announced today. Present at the dinner, which approximately 63 attended, were the Coach House Players, the city's new little theatre group.

Designer Has First Kingston Showing

Mrs. Laura Willis presented her first Kingston showing of original designs in clothing at 41 Brewster street, Tuesday afternoon. Tea was served following the fashion show.

Included in her collection were "at home" fashions for morning, noon and night wear, using taffeta, cotton, and silk jersey. Most popular dress in the group was a black and green reversible silk jersey that could be worn five ways. Also attracting attention was a dinner dress of painted, imported organdy, almost completely made by hand.

The designs were modelled by Mrs. Richard Drew of Hurley. Tea was served by Mrs. Willis assisted by Mrs. Harry Le Fever, Jr., and Mrs. David F. Derringer, Jr., of Stone Ridge.

Jeritza Receives Audience Tumult

BY BOB FARRINGTON

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—"Jeritza," they shouted, "Jeritza!" and a roar of applause went up as the famous Austrian soprano of an earlier generation bowed low over the opera footlights.

Nearly two decades ago, blonde, tempestuous Maria Jeritza said goodbye to the Metropolitan Opera House. Last night she was back in a special performance to help the Met raise $750,000 to meet increased expenses.

Her return as "Rosalinda" in Johann Straus' comic opera "Die Fledermaus" was a personal triumph. She had never sung it before in English. Though it was not one of the roles for which she won sensational acclaim in the '20's, her admirers packed the opera house to the doors.

Stops Show at Opening

She stopped the show cold for nearly a minute when she first stepped on the stage. As the first act curtain closed, tier after tier of the glittering house applauded and called to her in a long ovation.

Ignoring her 63 years, the dramatic soprano whirled and danced and sang through the famous second act Czardas with a gaiety that carried across the footlights.

And as the light nonsense of the opera came to an end, her name echoed from the great gilt ceiling as the audience told her whom it had come to see.

"They were wonderful—wonderful," she said in her dressing room. She had told friends to send checks to the Metropolitan instead of flowers to her, but flower boxes were piled almost to the ceiling anyway.

Sensation in 1921

Maria Jeritza was the sensation of the season when she made her Met debut in 1921. Her singing of Puccini's "Tosca" and Strauss' "Salome" led both composers to describe her as the greatest artist ever to perform those roles.

She left the Met in 1932, but has sung in opera and concert recitals elsewhere.

Programs on Problem Of Prejudice in U. S.

Leading stars of Hollywood, Broadway and radio, Tyrone Power, Richard Widmark, Martha Scott, Cornel Wilde, Walter Hampden, Edward R. Murrow and many others, will be heard on Station WKNY, starting Sunday, February 25 at 2 p. m., in "The New Frontier," a new series of dramatic programs dealing with problems of prejudice and discrimination in the United States today.

The Kingston Lodge of B'nai B'rith, as in the past, is sponsoring this series.

The New Frontier, produced by Harold Franklin for the Institute for Democratic Education, New York is designed to dramatize the vast potential of human resources, energies and contributions which can be made available to democracy if present barriers of prejudice and discrimination are removed.

Among the areas covered in the 13 programs in "The New Frontier" are discrimination in higher education, employment, housing public accommodations, resorts and clubs. Good human relations in a neighborhood and worldwide human rights, with emphasis on what the average American can do about them, is the objective of the series which will be broadcast as a public service by Station WKNY.

"The New Frontier," like earlier series produced by the Institute for Democratic Education, will be broadcast by more than 1,000 radio stations in the United States and will be made available to schools for use as educational aids.

Last Words Before Crash

London, Feb. 23 (AP)—The voice—and last words—of a dead pilot rang out yesterday at a court of inquiry into an air crash which killed 28 persons. The voice was that of Capt. John Clayton, pilot of a British European Airways plane which overshot a runway, piled into a stack of sewer pipe and burned last Oct. 31 at London Airport. The airport was veiled with fog and the plane, inbound from Paris, was being "talked down" by a ground radar operator. The voices of the pilot and operator were taken down by a recorder which is standard equipment at some British air fields. Listeners at the inquiry heard the radar men tell the pilot "you are going slightly left of the center line." Then came the voice of Captain Clayton: "I am overshooting." It was followed by the sound of a tearing crash.

Jeritza Receives Audience Tumult

BY BOB FARRINGTON

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—"Jeritza," they shouted, "Jeritza!" and a roar of applause went up as the famous Austrian soprano of an earlier generation bowed low over the opera footlights.

Nearly two decades ago, blonde, tempestuous Maria Jeritza said goodbye to the Metropolitan Opera House. Last night she was back in a special performance to help the Met raise $750,000 to meet increased expenses.

Her return as "Rosalinda" in Johann Straus' comic opera "Die Fledermaus" was a personal triumph. She had never sung it before in English. Though it was not one of the roles for which she won sensational acclaim in the '20's, her admirers packed the opera house to the doors.

Stops Show at Opening

She stopped the show cold for nearly a minute when she first stepped on the stage. As the first act curtain closed, tier after tier of the glittering house applauded and called to her in a long ovation.

Ignoring her 63 years, the dramatic soprano whirled and danced and sang through the famous second act Czardas with a gaiety that carried across the footlights.

And as the light nonsense of the opera came to an end, her name echoed from the great gilt ceiling as the audience told her whom it had come to see.

"They were wonderful—wonderful," she said in her dressing room. She had told friends to send checks to the Metropolitan instead of flowers to her, but flower boxes were piled almost to the ceiling anyway.

Sensation in 1921

Maria Jeritza was the sensation of the season when she made her Met debut in 1921. Her singing of Puccini's "Tosca" and Strauss' "Salome" led both composers to describe her as the greatest artist ever to perform those roles.

She left the Met in 1932, but has sung in opera and concert recitals elsewhere.

Programs on Problem Of Prejudice in U. S.

Leading stars of Hollywood, Broadway and radio, Tyrone Power, Richard Widmark, Martha Scott, Cornel Wilde, Walter Hampden, Edward R. Murrow and many others, will be heard on Station WKNY, starting Sunday, February 25 at 2 p. m., in "The New Frontier," a new series of dramatic programs dealing with problems of prejudice and discrimination in the United States today.

The Kingston Lodge of B'nai B'rith, as in the past, is sponsoring this series.

The New Frontier, produced by Harold Franklin for the Institute for Democratic Education, New York is designed to dramatize the vast potential of human resources, energies and contributions which can be made available to democracy if present barriers of prejudice and discrimination are removed.

Among the areas covered in the 13 programs in "The New Frontier" are discrimination in higher education, employment, housing public accommodations, resorts and clubs. Good human relations in a neighborhood and worldwide human rights, with emphasis on what the average American can do about them, is the objective of the series which will be broadcast as a public service by Station WKNY.

"The New Frontier," like earlier series produced by the Institute for Democratic Education, will be broadcast by more than 1,000 radio stations in the United States and will be made available to schools for use as educational aids.

Last Words Before Crash

London, Feb. 23 (AP)—The voice—and last words—of a dead pilot rang out yesterday at a court of inquiry into an air crash which killed 28 persons. The voice was that of Capt. John Clayton, pilot of a British European Airways plane which overshot a runway, piled into a stack of sewer pipe and burned last Oct. 31 at London Airport. The airport was veiled with fog and the plane, inbound from Paris, was being "talked down" by a ground radar operator. The voices of the pilot and operator were taken down by a recorder which is standard equipment at some British air fields. Listeners at the inquiry heard the radar men tell the pilot "you are going slightly left of the center line." Then came the voice of Captain Clayton: "I am overshooting." It was followed by the sound of a tearing crash.

Sister Sees Body

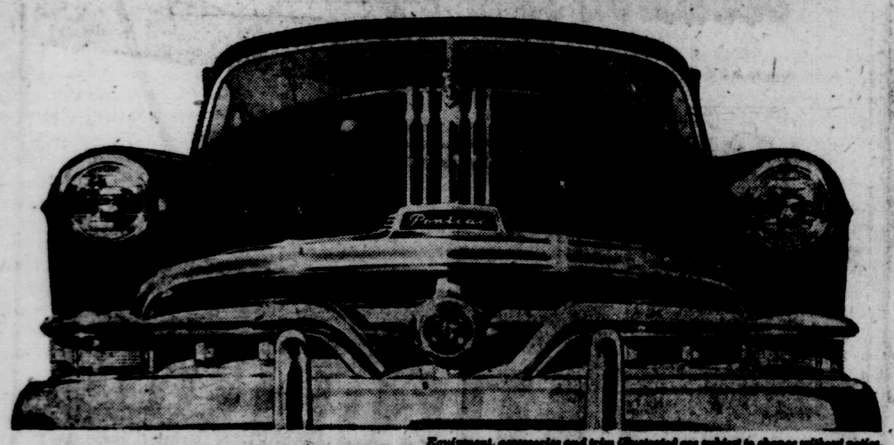

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Edythe Mongiove, 16, was enjoying a Washington's Birthday picnic along the lake in Brooklyn's Prospect Park when she saw police removing a body from the water. "That's my brother," she cried. Her brother, Thomas, 17, had been missing a month when he left his home to attend church.

High School Resumes Schedule Against Catskill High Tonight

Wagner Yearns For Buc Pennant

Pittsburgh, Feb. 23 (AP)—Honus Wagner, baseball's Mr. Shortstop of yore, celebrates his 77th birthday tomorrow with one big wish—that he'll live to see his beloved Pittsburgh Pirates win another National League pennant.

The Flying Dutchman, "among the first greats named to the game's Hall of Fame, feels "it's about time" the Bucs came through again.

For Honus, the 1951 season will be his 40th with the Bucs. He's been coach 19 of them. As for the future, he'll stay with the Pirates as long as he likes.

He swung his booming bat in National League parks for 23 years and eight consecutive batting titles. He scored 1,740 runs and batted .300 or better for 17 years and pounded out 3,430 hits and posted an all-time batting average of .329. In 1917, he hung up his spikes.

No great fuss is being made over Honus' birthday. He expects to have friends in for dinner, then read through the stacks of cards and telegrams he receives every year from admirers old and new.

The Pennsylvania Rail Road will honor him by naming a signal station at Rosslyn, Pa., "Wagner Tower."

Janiro-Pruden Bout at Garden

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Fitzie Pruden, a willing welter from St. Catherines, Ont., gets his big chance tonight because Jimmy Flood was ruled "not in condition" for his scheduled Madison Square Garden bout with Tony Janiro of Youngstown, Ohio.

Pruden signed yesterday as a late substitute for Flood, ordered out because of a bad ear by the New York State Athletic Commission at the suggestion of three doctors.

"Perhaps the condition will have cleared up in a month," said Dr. Charles Muzzicato.

Pruden, a Canadian now fighting out of Paterson, N. J., has won 45 of 55 bouts, whipping Beau Jack at Milwaukee, Jan. 1 in his last start.

'Little Flower' Debut Saturday

Hudson valley wrestling fans will get the chance to see the great Benito Gardini," Chicago's TV sensation in person when he grapples the fast moving Polish-Jewish star, Abe Coleman, in the main event of the all-star wrestling show Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

With the prospects for good weather for the first time since he resumed promotion of the Saturday night wrestling exhibitions, promoter Bill Johnston expects a good attendance.

Gardini is one of the greatest attractions in the mat industry today as the result of sensational headline bouts in Chicago Stadium. These shows are carried every Saturday night at 11 p. m. on a national television hookup. The bout will mark his eastern debut.

Coleman, an outstanding performer for the past two decades, is well known to Kingston fans, having appeared here several times, including one against Don Evans of Flatbush.

Gorky in Semi-Final

Known as "The Little Flower" Gardini is noted for his spectacular, rough and vicious style of attack. In Coleman he meets a worthy opponent who knows all the answers.

Supporting bouts feature Ivan Gorky, the Mad Russian who has estimated two ribs during the last two shootings here and Chick Garibaldi, who is among the best known bad men of the ring.

Gorky will meet Fritz Zeigfreid, the German Blond Bombshell in a two-out-of-three fall match, with a one-hour time limit.

The opening 30-minute bout pairs Mikial Kilonis of Greece and Chick Garibaldi.

Branca Hurt

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Ralph Branca, husky righthand pitcher, is the first training camp casualty among the Brooklyn Dodgers. The big fellow was a bit too enthusiastic about getting his legs in condition and too much hard running caused a minor strain of a groin muscle.

Maroons Have Three More Games

DUSO Standings

Newburgh	11	2
Poughkeepsie	10	3
Ellenville	10	3
Kingston	9	4

While Kingston High resumes non-conference play against Catskill High tonight at the municipal auditorium, other DUSO teams will be in action, with the principal interest centered in the Poughkeepsie-Ellenville contest at Sam Kalloch's Smith Brothers cough drop court in the Bridge City.

In other games, Middletown is at Beacon; Newburgh at Liberty and Port Jervis travels to Fallsburg.

Kingston has two more regular games remaining on the schedule after tonight's fracas. Fallsburg Central will be here next Tuesday for the playoff of a postponed game and the DUSO slate winds up on Friday, March 2, against Middletown.

The Maroons defeated Catskill by a substantial margin earlier in the season on the Greene county court and are expected to rebound from the Newburgh debacle for another win.

Newburgh travels to Liberty where the Redskins might make things interesting for a few minutes, but hardly figure to stage an upset. Even then the Goldbacks' pennant aspirations would not be in serious jeopardy, since they are a game to the good in the lost column.

Battle for Second

Poughkeepsie and Ellenville are currently tied for second place with 10 and 3 records. The form chart says Poughkeepsie should win and the real scramble for the rest of the way will be between Kingston and Ellenville for third place.

Kingston's loss to Newburgh was not unexpected, but the final result came as a disappointment to some who thought the Maroons might rise to the occasion and achieve a spectacular upset.

The pattern of the contest proved, however, that Newburgh was clearly the superior quintet. It asserted itself quickly, built up a comfortable lead and then coasted in virtually to assure George "Lanky" Masterson's second straight DUSO pennant.

The Kingston-Newburgh rivalry will be resumed in the intersectional playoffs scheduled early in March. Kingston, Newburgh and Middletown will represent the DUSO in the preliminary round.

Sky Bang Away Upset In Boston Dog Show

Boston, Feb. 23 (AP)—For the second time in three years a Westminster best-in-show winner, generally regarded as the ruler of American dogdom, has been dethroned after a week's reign.

The two-year-old boxer, Ch. Bang Away of Sirrah Crest, owned by Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Harris of Santa Ana, Calif., wound up second best behind a little known 20-months-old Welsh terrier, Topflight Template of Twin Ponds, which was imported last summer by Mrs. Edward P. Alker of Great Neck, N. Y., during last night's final Eastern Dog Club show judging.

Training Camp News in Brief

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Roy Campanella, sturdy catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is so in love with the major leagues, he doesn't ever want to leave.

"I'll never quit," the good-natured Negro slugger remarked yesterday during a chinfest around the dining room table. "It's too good up here. They'll have to carry me off. After my playing days are over, I'm going to get me a job as a bullpen catcher if they'll have me. I love the game too much to quit."

There isn't anybody in baseball who enjoys his work more than Campanella. He doesn't even regard catching as work. A perfect season for him would be to catch every one of the 154 games.

"They say catching is the hardest position to play," he said. "Shucks, if you know how to catch, it ain't hard. No position is hard if you know how to play it. Baseball is fun for me—especially the way they play it up here."

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP) — Veteran Outfielder Dom DiMaggio has checked into the Boston Red Sox training camp and reported to Manager Steve O'Neill that he is ready to sign his 1951 contract. DiMaggio, who flew in from San Francisco, said he was too concerned about his mother's illness to attend to that detail.

With DiMaggio in line, the Red Sox have only Mel Parnell, their 18-game winning southpaw, outside the fold. Parnell has indicated he will remain at home in New Orleans until General Manager Joe Cronin ups his salary terms.

Catalina Island, Calif., Feb. 23 —This island awaited the arrival of the Chicago Cubs baseball team today.

The Cubs, travelling west by train, were scheduled to arrive at Wilmington, Calif., this morning and then sail to Catalina immediately. Training camp drills are scheduled for today.

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—The start of spring training for the Philadelphia Phillies, National League champions, has been marred by injuries — though minor ones—to two players.

First baseman Eddie Waitkus and catcher Stan Lopata were injured yesterday. Both are expected to be out of action for several days.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Jimmy Dykes is the boss alright, but Connie Mack is still the main attraction around any Philadelphia Athletics training camp.

Asked how he liked being a spectator rather than the man running the show, the White-haired Connie, his face wrinkling into a grin, replied: "So far, I haven't noticed any difference."

Visitors swarm around him as they always have done, clamor for autographs, try to draw him out on all manner of baseball slants, and wheedle him into posing with them for pictures.

Sanford, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—One of the most discussed subjects in the New York Giants camp is whether Whitey Lockman can become a successful first baseman.

Manager Leo Durocher thinks the North Carolinian, heretofore an outfielder, can make the grade at first and plans to play him there in Sunday's first intrasquad game.

Monte Irvin, who wound up at first base last season, is slated to play right field provided he gets over his virus infection in time.

Phoenix, Feb. 23 (AP) — Only three New York Yankees remain on the unsigned list today—pitcher Tommy Byrne, infielder Bill Johnson and catcher Yogi Berra.

Gene Markland, a rookie who hit .298 last year as an infielder with Buffalo, signed yesterday.

Aces Trip Firemen By 44-35; Chevies Upset Robin Cagers

The Newkirk Aces moved into sole possession of second place in the B Division of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League Wednesday night with a close 44 to 35 victory over the Esopus Firemen.

Schuler's Inn holds down the No. 1 position.

Biggest news of the night was supplied by the Accord Chevies who pulled through with an overtime upset victory of the Robins, 53 to 52.

In the other game the Yellow Jackets, spanked by DeCicco who scored 34 points, drubbed Hurley 74 to 38.

Fouls Hurt Firemen

Missing 19 foul shots cost the Esopus Firemen a chance of knocking over the Aces. The Firemen converted 13 fouls but found their aim faulty on 19 other shots as the Aces were charged with 29 personals.

Both clubs resorted to defensive tactics in the final period after the Aces led by 36 to 28 at the end of the third canto.

Win in Overtime

Playing possession basketball after trailing by eight points in the last period, the Accord Chevies made their style pay off and went on to score a squeaker victory over the Robins.

Mort Gazley, former Kingston High School player, ripped in three deuces to sew up the game at 50-50 in the regulation play. In the three minute overtime, Frank Fiore dumped in a deuce for the Robins but Al Ebert kept Accord's hopes alive with a two-pointer. Gazley, who powered the Chevies through the final period, decided the outcome with a converted foul shot with 18 seconds of the overtime period left.

Fiore of the Robins turned in the spectacular shot of the night. Fiore, lying on his back, caught a loose ball and more out of self-protection than anything else, flipped the ball into the air. The ball, as if tossed with all the accuracy in the world, slipped through the nets for two points.

Gazley led the winners with 14 points while Ebert followed with 12. Fiore, Rienzo and Madajeski sparked the losers with 17, 14 and 12 points respectively.

With DeCicco and Morrisey hitting for 34 and 24 points, the Yellow Jackets had little trouble in defeating Hurley, 74 to 38.

Twi Meeting Set Tonight

A preliminary meeting of the City Baseball League has been called for 7:30 tonight at the Y.M.C.A. League managers who have been reported alternately optimistic and pessimistic about re-organization prospects for 1951 will furnish the first real line on the loop's plans for the forthcoming season. A couple of managers have indicated privately that they would prefer a six-team setup because of manpower situation which figures to get worse between now and opening time. The question of the Athletic Field as a playing site in view of the present traffic detour and no-parking restrictions in the area will also command considerable attention.

No Slap at Garden Bradley U. Says

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP) — Art Bergstrom, Bradley University athletic director, is "sorry" the meaning of a vote among the school's basketball players has been "misconstrued" as a slap at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Bradley, one of the nation's top teams, voted earlier this week to reject an invitation to play in the metropolitan Invitational tournament in the Garden this year, if one were offered.

Instead, the Bradley players decided they would consider playing in the proposed Invitational meet at the Chicago Stadium or taking a basketball tour of the Hawaiian Islands.

At the time, Bradley President Dr. David Blair Owen was said to have indicated the current scandal involving alleged fixes of college games in the Garden was a factor in the voting.

Bergstrom said this was a misconception.

"Actually, the gambling business had nothing to do with the decision," Bergstrom said. "We have played in Madison Square Garden a number of times and the boys simply decided they would prefer something else in the tournament line.

Belleayre Skiing

The Belleayre Ski Center is the only area slope mentioned in week-end reports by the state Department of Commerce. The report for the Ulster county resort is: half inch powder on 1-6 old base, poor to fair.

'New' CCNY Five Blasts Lafayette

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Coach Nat Holman's "new" CCNY basketball team won't win any grand slams around the tournament circuit this spring, but he's proud of "my kids" today.

The City College team, a patchwork job put together in four days of heart-break after three of his biggest stars were arrested for accepting bribes to fix games, made its first appearance last night at Madison Square Garden since the scandal rocked the basketball world.

Led by Floyd Layne, a 6-3 Negro spark of determination, CCNY blasted Lafayette, 67-48. Layne, who previously played under the shadows of such banished stars as Ed Warner, Ed Roman and Al Roth, hooked them in, and fired from all angles to score 19 points.

"I was very proud of my kids tonight," said Holman afterward in the dressing room. He was a happy man in contrast to earlier in the week, when the district attorney permanently benched the three big stars who led CCNY to a double sweep in the National Invitation and NCAA tournaments a year ago.

The crowd of 7,493, far below the usual turnout for Garden games, contained about 3,200 wildly-cheering students.

Louis Resumes Comeback Trail

San Francisco, Feb. 23 (AP)—Joe Louis, fighting his way along the comeback trail to another crack at the title he held nearly 12 years, squares off tonight against tough Andy Walker in a 10-round bout at the Cow Palace.

The fight starts about 10 p. m. (1 a. m., Saturday, EST.)

Louis, still the greatest fistic attraction of them all, is almost solely responsible for drawing a capacity crowd to the huge pavilion. More than 17,000 fans will jam the place.

High School Resumes Schedule Against Catskill High Tonight

Wagner Yearns For Buc Pennant

Pittsburgh, Feb. 23 (AP)—Honus Wagner, baseball's Mr. Shortstop of yore, celebrates his 77th birthday tomorrow with one big wish—that he'll live to see his beloved Pittsburgh Pirates win another National League pennant.

The Flying Dutchman, "among the first greats named to the game's Hall of Fame, feels "it's about time" the Bucs came through again.

For Honus, the 1951 season will be his 40th with the Bucs. He's been coach 19 of them. As for the future, he'll stay with the Pirates as long as he likes.

He swung his booming bat in National League parks for 23 years and eight consecutive batting titles. He scored 1,740 runs and batted .300 or better for 17 years and pounded out 3,430 hits and posted an all-time batting average of .329. In 1917, he hung up his spikes.

No great fuss is being made over Honus' birthday. He expects to have friends in for dinner, then read through the stacks of cards and telegrams he receives every year from admirers old and new.

The Pennsylvania Rail Road will honor him by naming a signal station at Rosslyn, Pa., "Wagner Tower."

Janiro-Pruden Bout at Garden

Pruden signed yesterday as a late substitute for Flood, ordered out because of a bad ear by the New York State Athletic Commission at the suggestion of three doctors.

"Perhaps the condition will have cleared up in a month," said Dr. Charles Muzzicato.

'Little Flower' Debut Saturday

Hudson valley wrestling fans will get the chance to see the great Benito Gardini, Chicago's TV sensation in person when he grapples the fast moving Polish-Jewish star, Abe Coleman, in the main event of the all-star wrestling show Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

With the prospects for good weather for the first time since he resumed promotion of the Saturday night wrestling exhibitions, promoter Bill Johnston expects a good attendance.

Gardini is one of he greatest attractions in the mat industry today as the result of sensational headline bouts in Chicago Stadium. These shows are carried every Saturday night at 11 p. m. on a national television hookup. The bout will mark his eastern debut.

Coleman, an outstanding performer for the past two decades, is well known to Kingston fans, having appeared here several times, including one against Don Evans of Flatbush.

Gorky in Semi-Final

Known as "The Little Flower" Gardini is noted for his spectacular, rough and vicious style of attack. In Coleman he meets a worthy opponent who knows all the answers.

Supporting bouts feature Ivan Gorky, the Mad Russian who has instigated two riots during the last two showings here and Chick Garibaldi, who is among the best known bad men of the ring.

Gorky will meet Fritz Zeigfreid, the German Blond Bombshell in a two-out-of-three fall match, with a one-hour time limit.

The opening 30-minute bout pairs Mikial Kilonis of Greece and Chick Garibaldi.

Branca Hurt

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Ralph Branca, husky righthand pitcher, is the first training camp casualty among the Brooklyn Dodgers. The big fellow was a bit too enthusiastic about getting his legs in condition and too much hard running caused a minor strain of a groin muscle.

Maroons Have Three More Games

DUSO Standings

Newburgh	11	2
Poughkeepsie	10	3
Ellenville	10	3
Kingston	9	4

While Kingston High resumes non-conference play against Catskill High tonight at the municipal auditorium, other DUSO teams will be in action, with the principal interest centered in the Poughkeepsie-Ellenville contest at Sam Kalloch's Smith Brothers cough drop court in the Bridge City.

In other games, Middletown is at Beacon; Newburgh at Liberty and Port Jervis travels to Fallsburg.

Kingston has two more regular games remaining on the schedule after tonight's fracas. Fallsburg Central will be here next Tuesday for the playoff of a postponed game and the DUSO slate winds up on Friday, March 2, against Middletown.

The Maroons defeated Catskill by a substantial margin earlier in the season on the Greene county court and are expected to rebound from the Newburgh debacle for another win.

Newburgh travels to Liberty where the Redskins might make things interesting for a few minutes, but hardly figure to stage an upset. Even then the Goldbacks' pennant aspirations would not be in serious jeopardy, since they are a game to the good in the lost column.

Battle for Second

Poughkeepsie and Ellenville are currently tied for second place with 10 and 3 records. The form chart says Poughkeepsie should win and the real scramble for the rest of the way will be between Kingston and Ellenville for third place.

Kingston's loss to Newburgh was not unexpected, but the final result came as a disappointment to some who thought the Maroons might rise to the occasion and achieve a spectacular upset.

The pattern of the contest proved, however, that Newburgh was clearly the superior quintet. It asserted itself quickly, built up a comfortable lead and then coasted in virtually to assure George "Lanky" Masterson's second straight DUSO pennant.

The Kingston-Newburgh rivalry will be resumed in the intersectional playoffs scheduled early in March. Kingston, Newburgh and Middletown will represent the DUSO in the preliminary round.

Ch. Bang Away Upset In Boston Dog Show

Boston, Feb. 23 (AP)—For the second time in three years a Westminster best-in-show winner, generally regarded as the ruler of American dogdom, has been dethroned after a week's reign.

The two-year-old boxer, Ch. Bang Away of Sirrah Crest, owned by Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Harris of Santa Ana, Calif., wound up second best behind a little known 20-months-old Welsh terrier, Topflight Template of Twin Ponds, which was imported last summer by Mrs. Edward P. Alker of Great Neck, N. Y., during last night's final Eastern Dog Club show judging.

Training Camp News in Brief

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Roy Campanella, sturdy catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is so in love with the major leagues, he doesn't ever want to leave.

"I'll never quit," the good-natured Negro slugger remarked yesterday during a chinfest around the dining room table. "It's too good up here. They'll have to carry me off. After my playing days are over, I'm going to get me a job as a bullpen catcher if they'll have me. I love the game too much to quit."

There isn't anybody in baseball who enjoys his work more than Campanella. He doesn't even regard catching as work. A perfect season for him would be to catch every one of the 154 games.

"They say catching is the hardest position to play," he said. "Shucks, if you know how to catch, it ain't hard. No position is hard if you know how to play it. Baseball is fun for me—especially the way they play it up here."

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP) — Veteran Outfielder Dom DiMaggio has checked into the Boston Red Sox training camp and reported to Manager Steve O'Neill that he is ready to sign his 1951 contract. DiMaggio, who flew in from San Francisco, said he was too concerned about his mother's illness to attend to that detail.

With DiMaggio in line, the Red Sox have only Mel Parnell, their 18-game winning southpaw, outside the fold. Parnell has indicated he will remain at home in New Orleans until General Manager Joe Cronin ups his salary terms.

Catalina Island, Calif., Feb. 23 —This island awaited the arrival of the Chicago Cubs baseball team today.

The Cubs, travelling west by train, were scheduled to arrive at Wilmington, Calif., this morning and then sail to Catalina immediately. Training camp drills are scheduled for today.

'New' CCNY Five Blasts Lafayette

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Coach Nat Holman's "new" CCNY basketball team won't win any grand slams around the tournament circuit this spring, but he's proud of "my kids" today.

The City College team, a patchwork job put together in four days of heart-break after three of his biggest stars were arrested for accepting bribes to fix games, made its first appearance last night at Madison Square Garden since the scandal rocked the basketball world.

Led by Floyd Layne, a 6-3 Negro spark of determination, CCNY blasted Lafayette, 67-48. Layne, who previously played under the shadows of such banished stars as Ed Warner, Ed Roman and Al Roth, hooked them in, and fired from all angles to score 19 points.

"I was very proud of my kids tonight," said Holman afterward in the dressing room. He was a happy man in contrast to earlier in the week, when the district attorney permanently benched the three big stars who led CCNY to a double sweep in the National Invitation and NCAA tournaments a year ago.

The crowd of 7,493, far below the usual turnout for Garden games, contained about 3,200 wildly-cheering students.

Louis Resumes Comeback Trail

San Francisco, Feb. 23 (AP)—Joe Louis, fighting his way along the comeback trail to another crack at the title he held nearly 12 years, squares off tonight against tough Andy Walker in a 10-round bout at the Cow Palace.

The fight starts about 10 p. m. (1 a. m., Saturday, EST.)

Louis, still the greatest fistic attraction of them all, is almost solely responsible for drawing a capacity crowd to the huge pavilion. More than 17,000 fans will jam the place.

High School Resumes Schedule Against Catskill High Tonight

Wagner Yearns For Buc Pennant

Pittsburgh, Feb. 23 (AP)—Honus Wagner, baseball's Mr. Shortstop of yore, celebrates his 77th birthday tomorrow with one big wish—that he'll live to see his beloved Pittsburgh Pirates win another National League pennant.

The Flying Dutchman, "among the first greats named to the game's Hall of Fame, feels "it's about time" the Bucs came through again.

For Honus, the 1951 season will be his 40th with the Bucs. He's been coach 19 of them. As for the future, he'll stay with the Pirates as long as he likes.

He swung his booming bat in National League parks for 23 years and eight consecutive batting titles. He scored 1,740 runs and batted .300 or better for 17 years and pounded out 3,430 hits and posted an all-time batting average of .329. In 1917, he hung up his spikes.

No great fuss is being made over Honus' birthday. He expects to have friends in for dinner, then read through the stacks of cards and telegrams he receives every year from admirers old and new.

The Pennsylvania Rail Road will honor him by naming a signal station at Rosslyn, Pa., "Wagner Tower."

Janiro-Pruden Bout at Garden

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Fitzie Pruden, a willing welter from St. Catherines, Ont., gets his big change tonight because Jimmy Flood was ruled "not in condition" for his scheduled Madison Square Garden bout with Tony Janiro of Youngstown, Ohio.

Pruden signed yesterday as a late substitute for Flood, ordered out because of a bad ear by the New York State Athletic Commission at the suggestion of three doctors.

"Perhaps the condition will have cleared up in a month," said Dr. Charles Muzzicato.

'Little Flower' Debut Saturday

Hudson valley wrestling fans will get the chance to see the great Benito Gardini," Chicago's TV sensation in person when he grapples the fast moving Polish-Jewish star, Abe Coleman, in the main event of the all-star wrestling show Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

With the prospects for good weather for the first time since he resumed promotion of the Saturday night wrestling exhibitions, promoter Bill Johnston expects a good attendance.

Gardini is one of he greatest attractions in the mat industry today as the result of sensational headline bouts in Chicago Stadium. These shows are carried every Saturday night at 11 p. m. on a national television hookup. The bout will mark his eastern debut.

Coleman, an outstanding performer for the past two decades, is well known to Kingston fans, having appeared here several times, including one against Don Evans of Flatbush.

Gorky in Semi-Final

Known as "The Little Flower" Gardini is noted for his spectacular, rough and vicious style of attack. In Coleman he meets a worthy opponent who knows all the answers.

Supporting bouts feature Ivan Gorky, the Mad Russian who has instigated two riots during the last two showings here and Chick Garibaldi, who is among the best known bad men of the ring.

Gorky will meet Fritz Zeigfreid, the German Blond Bombshell in a two-out-of-three fall match, with a one-hour time limit.

The opening 30-minute bout pairs Mikial Kilonis of Greece and Chick Garibaldi.

Branca Hurt

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Ralph Branca, husky righthand pitcher, is the first training camp casualty among the Brooklyn Dodgers. The big fellow was a bit too enthusiastic about getting his legs in condition and too much hard running caused a minor strain of a groin muscle.

Maroons Have Three More Games

DUSO Standings

Newburgh	11	2
Poughkeepsie	10	3
Ellenville	10	3
Kingston	9	4

While Kingston High resumes non-conference play against Catskill High tonight at the municipal auditorium, other DUSO teams will be in action, with the principal interest centered in the Poughkeepsie-Ellenville contest at Sam Kalloch's Smith Brothers cough drop court in the Bridge City.

In other games, Middletown is at Beacon; Newburgh at Liberty and Port Jervis travels to Fallsburg.

Kingston has two more regular games remaining on the schedule after tonight's fracas. Fallsburg Central will be here next Tuesday for the playoff of a postponed game and the DUSO slate winds up on Friday, March 2, against Middletown.

The Maroons defeated Catskill by a substantial margin earlier in the season on the Greene county court and are expected to rebound from the Newburgh debacle for another win.

Newburgh travels to Liberty where the Redskins might make things interesting for a few minutes, but hardly figure to stage an upset. Even then the Goldbacks' pennant aspirations would not be in serious jeopardy, since they are a game to the good in the lost column.

Battle for Second

Poughkeepsie and Ellenville are currently tied for second place with 10 and 3 records. The form chart says Poughkeepsie should win and the real scramble for the rest of the way will be between Kingston and Ellenville for third place.

Kingston's loss to Newburgh was not unexpected, but the final result came as a disappointment to some who thought the Maroons might rise to the occasion and achieve a spectacular upset.

The pattern of the contest proved, however, that Newburgh was clearly the superior quintet. It asserted itself quickly, built up a comfortable lead and then coasted in virtually to assure George "Lanky" Masterson's second straight DUSO pennant.

The Kingston-Newburgh rivalry will be resumed in the intersectional playoffs scheduled early in March. Kingston, Newburgh and Middletown will represent the DUSO in the preliminary round.

Ch. Bang Away Upset In Boston Dog Show

Boston, Feb. 23 (AP)—For the second time in three years a Westminster best-in-show winner, generally regarded as the ruler of American dogdom, has been dethroned after a week's reign.

The two-year-old boxer, Ch. Bang Away of Sirrah Crest, owned by Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Harris of Santa Ana, Calif., wound up second best behind a little known 20-months-old Welsh terrier, Topflight Template of Twin Ponds, which was imported last summer by Mrs. Edward P. Alker of Great Neck, N. Y., during last night's final Eastern Dog Club show judging.

Training Camp News in Brief

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Roy Campanella, sturdy catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is so in love with the major leagues, he doesn't ever want to leave.

"I'll never quit," the good-natured Negro slugger remarked yesterday during a chinfest around the dining room table. "It's too good up here. They'll have to carry me off. After my playing days are over, I'm going to get me a job as a bullpen catcher if they'll have me. I love the game too much to quit."

There isn't anybody in baseball who enjoys his work more than Campanella. He doesn't even regard catching as work. A perfect season for him would be to catch every one of the 154 games.

"They say catching is the hardest position to play," he said. "Shucks, if you know how to catch, it ain't hard. No position is hard if you know how to play it. Baseball is fun for me—especially the way they play it up here."

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP) — Veteran Outfielder Dom DiMaggio has checked into the Boston Red Sox training camp and reported to Manager Steve O'Neill that he is ready to sign his 1951 contract. DiMaggio, who flew in from San Francisco, said he was too concerned about his mother's illness to attend to that detail.

With DiMaggio in line, the Red Sox have only Mel Parnell, their 18-game winning southpaw, outside the fold. Parnell has indicated he will remain at home in New Orleans until General Manager Joe Cronin ups his salary terms.

Catalina Island, Calif., Feb. 23 —This island awaited the arrival of the Chicago Cubs baseball team today.

The Cubs, travelling west by train, were scheduled to arrive at Wilmington, Calif., this morning and then sail to Catalina immediately. Training camp drills are scheduled for today.

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—The start of spring training for the Philadelphia Phillies, National League champions, has been marred by injuries — though minor ones—to two players.

First baseman Eddie Waitkus and catcher Stan Lopata were injured yesterday. Both are expected to be out of action for several days.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Jimmy Dykes is the boss alright, but Connie Mack is still the main attraction around any Philadelphia Athletics training camp.

Asked how he liked being a spectator rather than the man running the show, the Whitehaired Connie, his face wrinkling into a grin, replied: "So far, I haven't noticed any difference."

Visitors swarm around him as they always have done, clamor for autographs, try to draw him out on all manner of baseball slants, and wheedle him into posing with them for pictures.

Sanford, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—One of the most discussed subjects in the New York Giants camp is whether Whitey Lockman can become a successful first baseman.

Manager Leo Durocher thinks the North Carolinian, heretofore an outfielder, can make the grade at first and plans to play him there in Sunday's first intrasquad game.

Monte Irvin, who wound up at first base last season, is slated to play right field provided he gets over his virus infection in time.

Phoenix, Feb. 23 (AP) — Only three New York Yankees remain on the unsigned list today—pitcher Tommy Byrne, infielder Bill Johnson and catcher Yogi Berra.

Gene Markland, a rookie who hit .298 last year as an infielder with Buffalo, signed yesterday.

Aces Trip Firemen By 44-35; Chevies Upset Robin Cagers

The Newkirk Aces moved into sole possession of second place in the B Division of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League Wednesday night with a close 44 to 35 victory over the Esopus Firemen.

Schuler's Inn holds down the No. 1 position.

Biggest news of the night was supplied by the Accord Chevies who pulled through with an overtime upset victory of the Robins, 53 to 52.

In the other game the Yellow Jackets, sparked by DeCicco who scored 34 points, drubbed Hurley 74 to 38.

Fouls Hurt Firemen

Missing 19 foul shots cost the Esopus Firemen a chance of knocking over the Aces. The Firemen converted 13 fouls but found their aim faulty on 19 other shots as the Aces were charged with 29 personals.

Both clubs resorted to defensive tactics in the final period after the Aces led by 36 to 28 at the end of the third canto.

Win in Overtime

Playing possession basketball after trailing by eight points in the last period, the Accord Chevies made their style pay off and went on to score a squeaker victory over the Robins.

Mort Gazley, former Kingston High School player, ripped in three deuces to sew up the game at 50-50 in the regulation play. In the three minute overtime, Frank Fiore dumped in a deuce for the Robins but Al Ebert kept Accord's hopes alive with a two-pointer. Gazley, who powered the Chevies through the final period, decided the outcome with a converted foul shot with 18 seconds of the overtime period left.

Fiore of the Robins turned in the spectacular shot of the night. Fiore, lying on his back, caught a loose ball and more out of self-protection than anything else, flipped the ball into the air. The ball, as if tossed with all the accuracy in the world, slipped through the nets for two points.

Gazley led the winners with 14 points while Ebert followed with 12. Fiore, Rienzo and Madajeski sparked the losers with 17, 14 and 12 points respectively.

With DeCicco and Morrisey hitting for 34 and 24 points, the Yellow Jackets had little trouble in defeating Hurley, 74 to 38.

Twi Meeting Set Tonight

A preliminary meeting of the City Baseball League has been called for 7:30 tonight at the Y.M.C.A. League managers who have been reported alternately optimistic and pessimistic about re-organization prospects for 1951 will furnish the first real line on the loop's plans for the forthcoming season. A couple of managers have indicated privately that they would prefer a six-team setup because of manpower situation which figures to get worse between now and opening time. The question of the Athletic Field as a playing site in view of the present traffic detour and no-parking restrictions in the area will also command considerable attention.

No Slap at Garden Bradley U. Says

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP) — Art Bergstrom, Bradley University athletic director, is "sorry" the meaning of a vote among the school's basketball players has been "misconstrued" as a slap at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Bradley, one of the nation's top teams, voted earlier this week to reject an invitation to play in the metropolitan Invitational tournament in the Garden this year, if one were offered.

Instead, the Bradley players decided they would consider playing in the proposed Invitational meet at the Chicago Stadium or taking a basketball tour of the Hawaiian Islands.

At the time, Bradley President Dr. David Blair Owen was said to have indicated the current scandal involving alleged fixes of college games in the Garden was a factor in the voting.

Bergstrom said this was a misconception.

"Actually, the gambling business had nothing to do with the decision," Bergstrom said. "We have played in Madison Square Garden a number of times and the boys simply decided they would prefer something else in the tournament line.

Pin Cup Hopes On Three Youths

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Want three sure fire bets for the United States Davis Cup team?

Just remember the names of Art Larsen, Dick Savitt and Budge Patty. And as an added starter keep Tony Trabert in mind.

The old guard is gone. There won't be any Talberts, Mulloys, Schroeders or any of the others who have been familiar around the tennis world for the past decade.

A high official in the Davis Cup picture, who asked that his name not be used, today put the finger on the youngsters.

"Unless they collapse completely, these are the kids who will be trying to get the Davis Cup back when we play Australia for it in December," he said.

Patty the Best?

"Larsen, as the 1950 National champion, has beaten many of the top Australians. Savitt is the Australian champion, and is just coming into his own. He'll be one of the best. In Patty, we have potentially the best player of them all.

"As for that youngster, Trabert," the official continued, "he is almost a certainty to play doubles against the Aussies."

Meanwhile, the National Indoor championships moved past the quarter finals. Bill Talbert and Ed Moylan made the semi-finals last night. Talbert defeated Canadian Davis Cupper Lorne Main, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3, while Moylan eked past Ricardo Balbiers of Chile, 6-2, 6-8, 10-8, 6-3.

In the women's division, defending champion Nancy Chaffee of Ventura, Calif., defeated Althea Gibson of New York, 6-1, 6-3, and Barbara Scofield of San Francisco whipped Betty Rosenquest of South Orange, N. J., 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, in quarter finals.

KWBA to Sponsor 'Name Your Score' Contest at Bowlatorium, Feb. 24-25

Will Raise Funds For State Tourney

A "Name Your Score Contest" will be sponsored by the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 24-25, at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium.

President Chrissie Wilson said the entire proceeds would be used to send the Kingston delegation to the 1951 state women's bowling tournament in Binghamton.

Early indications are that nearly 30 teams will make the trip to Binghamton. This would be one of the largest out-of-town delegations ever to visit a state tournament from that distance.

The entry fee is 50 cents and a bowler may compete as many times as he wishes at the prevailing rate for bowling.

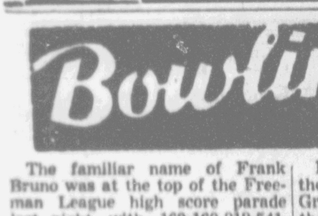

Top prize of $10 is guaranteed for any bowler who can call a 190 or 200 score on the nose.

Other scores are prizes follow: 175 and 189 for $8; 159 and 174 for $5; 135 and 158 for $4; 120 and 134 for $3; and 119 and under for $1.

The tournament will run on Saturday and Sunday from 1 p. m. to closing time.

KWBA to Sponsor 'Name Your Score' Contest at Bowlatorium, Feb. 24-25

Will Raise Funds For State Tourney

A "Name Your Score Contest" will be sponsored by the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 24-25, at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium.

President Chrissie Wilson said the entire proceeds would be used to send the Kingston delegation to the 1951 state women's bowling tournament in Binghamton.

Early indications are that nearly 30 teams will make the trip to Binghamton. This would be one of the largest out-of-town delegations ever to visit a state tournament from that distance.

The entry fee is 50 cents and a bowler may compete as many times as he wishes at the prevailing rate for bowling.

Top prize of $10 is guaranteed for any bowler who can call a 190 or 200 score on the nose.

Other scores are prizes follow: 175 and 189 for $8; 159 and 174 for $5; 135 and 158 for $4; 120 and 134 for $3; and 119 and under for $1.

The tournament will run on Saturday and Sunday from 1 p. m. to closing time.

Pin Cup Hopes On Three Youths

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Want three sure fire bets for the United States Davis Cup team?

Just remember the names of Art Larsen, Dick Savitt and Budge Patty. And as an added starter keep Tony Trabert in mind.

The old guard is gone. There won't be any Talberts, Mulloys, Schroeders or any of the others who have been familiar around the tennis world for the past decade.

A high official in the Davis Cup picture, who asked that his name not be used, today put the finger on the youngsters.

"Unless they collapse completely, these are the kids who will be trying to get the Davis Cup back when we play Australia for it in December," he said.

Patty the Best?

"Larsen, as the 1950 National champion, has beaten many of the top Australians. Savitt is the Australian champion, and is just coming into his own. He'll be one of the best. In Patty, we have potentially the best player of them all.

"As for that youngster, Trabert," the official continued, "he is almost a certainty to play doubles against the Aussies."

Meanwhile, the National Indoor championships moved past the quarter finals. Bill Talbert and Ed Moylan made the semi-finals last night. Talbert defeated Canadian Davis Cupper Lorne Main, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3, while Moylan eked past Ricardo Balbiers of Chile, 6-2, 6-8, 10-8, 6-3.

In the women's division, defending champion Nancy Chaffee of Ventura, Calif., defeated Althea Gibson of New York, 6-1, 6-3, and Barbara Scofield of San Francisco whipped Betty Rosenquest of South Orange, N. J., 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, in quarter finals.

KWBA to Sponsor 'Name Your Score' Contest at Bowlatorium, Feb. 24-25

Will Raise Funds For State Tourney

A "Name Your Score Contest" will be sponsored by the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 24-25, at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium.

President Chrissie Wilson said the entire proceeds would be used to send the Kingston delegation to the 1951 state women's bowling tournament in Binghamton.

Early indications are that nearly 30 teams will make the trip to Binghamton. This would be one of the largest out-of-town delegations ever to visit a state tournament from that distance.

The entry fee is 50 cents and a bowler may compete as many times as he wishes at the prevailing rate for bowling.

Top prize of $10 is guaranteed for any bowler who can call a 190 or 200 score on the nose.

Other scores are prizes follow: 175 and 189 for $8; 159 and 174 for $5; 135 and 158 for $4; 120 and 134 for $3; and 119 and under for $1.

The tournament will run on Saturday and Sunday from 1 p. m. to closing time.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

One Defender May Control Defense

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Fortunately for his friends, Hard Luck Joe doesn't always know when to howl about his bad results. He can butcher a hand in cold blood without realizing that anything unusual has taken place. For example, when today's hand was played, Joe held the East cards. He played the eight of diamonds enthusiastically on the first trick, whereupon West continued with the queen of diamonds.

After holding the second trick, West shifted to a club. South winning with the queen. South promptly knocked out the ace of trumps and easily won the rest of the tricks, scoring game and rubber.

Joe sighed a bit, because he doesn't like to lose a rubber any more than anybody else does, but he made no special complaint. Of course, you've already noticed Joe's mistake—or have you? If not, think about it a bit. How should Joe defend with the East cards?

East should play the ace of diamonds at the first trick. Then he should lead back his singleton club.

Whenever declarer leads trumps, East should take the ace without delay. He then returns a diamond to West's jack in order to give West a chance to lead a second round of clubs. East naturally ruffs the second club, setting the contract.

This is one of those unusual hands in which one defender can and should take complete control of the defense.

Fox Chews Gum

Simsbury, Conn., Feb. 23 (AP)—Ferdinand the Bull, with his love for posies, has nothing on the Levi Cubits' pet fox. Vixen (because she's a she) chews gum, mooched from the Cubit youngsters, Wilfred 9, and Sandra, 7. Pa Cubit, a lifetime farmer, says he's never heard the like before; nor knew a fox to be pals with a dog, as Vixen is with Rowdy, described by Cubit as "a sort of curbstone setter."

Scientist Says Hormone Will Cure Bald Heads

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A scientist reported yesterday that a new hormone has grown hair on two men who had been bald for five years.

Albert Roberts, president of the United Research Laboratories, of Philadelphia said the hormone was rubbed on in a cream, starting five weeks ago.

Each man now has hair about an inch long on the once bald areas. The hair—although apparently normal—is only about one-sixth as heavy as the normal amount for a young man.

But more hair may grow.

The new hair hormone is closely allied with ACTH, one of the hormones for rheumatic arthritis and several other ailments.

The new hormone, dermatotrophic hormone, will not be sold until there is further research.

Non-Essential, He Says

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—"Big names and top brass," a New York city official says, are waging a "campaign of hysteria" in behalf of the St. Lawrence Seaway project. The project, says Commerce Commissioner Edward M. Maguire, is "clearly not vital to our national security." Maguire said yesterday that congressional approval of the project would cause diversion of defense manpower and materials to a "national boondoggle." He contended that claims that the proposed project is "essential to national defense" has been "manufactured."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

One Defender May Control Defense

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Fortunately for his friends, Hard Luck Joe doesn't always know when to howl about his bad results. He can butcher a hand in cold blood without realizing that anything unusual has taken place. For example, when today's hand was played, Joe held the East cards. He played the eight of diamonds enthusiastically on the first trick, whereupon West continued with the queen of diamonds.

After holding the second trick, West shifted to a club, South winning with the queen. South promptly knocked out the ace of trumps and easily won the rest of the tricks, scoring game and rubber.

Joe sighed a bit, because he doesn't like to lose a rubber any more than anybody else does, but he made no special complaint. Of course, you've already noticed Joe's mistake—or have you? If not, think about it a bit. How should Joe defend with the East cards?

East should play the ace of diamonds at the first trick. Then he should lead back his singleton club.

Whenever declarer leads trumps, East should take the ace without delay. He then returns a diamond to West's jack in order to give West a chance to lead a second round of clubs. East naturally ruffs the second club, setting the contract.

This is one of those unusual hands in which one defender can and should take complete control of the defense.

Fox Chews Gum

Simsbury, Conn., Feb. 23 (AP)—Ferdinand the Bull, with his love for posies, has nothing on the Levi Cubits' pet fox. Vixen (because she's a she) chews gum, mooched from the Cubit youngsters, Wilfred 9, and Sandra, 7. Pa Cubit, a lifetime farmer, says he's never heard the like before; nor knew a fox to be pals with a dog, as Vixen is with Rowdy, described by Cubit as "a sort of curbstone setter."

Receives Three Stars

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Feb. 23 (AP)—Chung Il Kwun, military commander of all South Korean forces, today received the three stars of a lieutenant general. He is the first South Korean to hold the rank.

Scientist Says Hormone Will Cure Bald Heads

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A scientist reported yesterday that a new hormone has grown hair on two men who had been bald for five years.

Albert Roberts, president of the United Research Laboratories, of Philadelphia said the hormone was rubbed on in a cream, starting five weeks ago.

Each man now has hair about an inch long on the once bald areas. The hair—although apparently normal—is only about one-sixth as heavy as the normal amount for a young man.

But more hair may grow.

The new hair hormone is closely allied with ACTH, one of the hormones for rheumatic arthritis and several other ailments.

The new hormone, dermatotrophic hormone, will not be sold until there is further research.

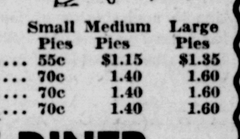

Non-Essential, He Says

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—"Big names and top brass," a New York city official says, are waging a "campaign of hysteria" in behalf of the St. Lawrence Seaway project. The project, says Commerce Commissioner Edward M. Maguire, is "clearly not vital to our national security." Maguire said yesterday that congressional approval of the project would cause diversion of defense manpower and materials to a "national boondoggle." He contended that claims that the proposed project is "essential to national defense" has been "manufactured."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

One Defender May Control Defense

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Fortunately for his friends, Hard Luck Joe doesn't always know when to howl about his bad results. He can butcher a hand in cold blood without realizing that anything unusual has taken place. For example, when today's hand was played, Joe held the East cards. He played the eight of diamonds enthusiastically on the first trick, whereupon West continued with the queen of diamonds.

After holding the second trick, West shifted to a club, South winning with the queen. South promptly knocked out the ace of trumps and easily won the rest of the tricks, scoring game and rubber.

Joe sighed a bit, because he doesn't like to lose a rubber any more than anybody else does, but he made no special complaint. Of course, you've already noticed Joe's mistake—or have you? If not, think about it a bit. How should Joe defend with the East cards?

East should play the ace of diamonds at the first trick. Then he should lead back his singleton club.

Whenever declarer leads trumps, East should take the ace without delay. He then returns a diamond to West's jack in order to give West a chance to lead a second round of clubs. East naturally ruffs the second club, setting the contract.

This is one of those unusual hands in which one defender can and should take complete control of the defense.

Fox Chews Gum

Simsbury, Conn., Feb. 23 (AP)—Ferdinand the Bull, with his love for posies, has nothing on the Levi Cubits' pet fox. Vixen (because she's a she) chews gum, mooched from the Cubit youngsters, Wilfred 9, and Sandra, 7. Pa Cubit, a lifetime farmer, says he's never heard the like before; nor knew a fox to be pals with a dog, as Vixen is with Rowdy, described by Cubit as "a sort of curbstone setter."

Receives Three Stars

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Feb. 23 (AP)—Chung Il Kwun, military commander of all South Korean forces, today received the three stars of a lieutenant general. He is the first South Korean to hold the rank.

Scientist Says Hormone Will Cure Bald Heads

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—A scientist reported yesterday that a new hormone has grown hair on two men who had been bald for five years.

Albert Roberts, president of the United Research Laboratories, of Philadelphia said the hormone was rubbed on in a cream, starting five weeks ago.

Each man now has hair about an inch long on the once bald areas. The hair—although apparently normal—is only about one-sixth as heavy as the normal amount for a young man.

But more hair may grow.

The new hair hormone is closely allied with ACTH, one of the hormones for rheumatic arthritis and several other ailments.

The new hormone, dermatotrophic hormone, will not be sold until there is further research.

Non-Essential, He Says

New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—"Big names and top brass," a New York city official says, are waging a "campaign of hysteria" in behalf of the St. Lawrence Seaway project. The project, says Commerce Commissioner Edward M. Maguire, is "clearly not vital to our national security." Maguire said yesterday that congressional approval of the project would cause diversion of defense manpower and materials to a "national boondoggle." He contended that claims that the proposed project is "essential to national defense" has been "manufactured."

Father-Son Banquet Is Held by Troop 34

Woodstock, Feb. 23—With Walter Van Wagenen acting as master of ceremonies, the father and son dinner for the Boy Scout and Cub Troop 34, was held in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church Thursday night, sponsored by the Masonic Square Club.

Charles Rapp, cub master, introduced members of the pack who sang their cubbing song. He spoke specifically of one cub, Lewis Berryan, who in one short season is ready to receive his wolf badge.

Van Wagenen recalled that three years ago the Masonic Square Club began to sponsor the cub scouts at the time that Leon Carey was president.

Underscoring the importance of scouting, Carey stated that it was "the best thing for the boys."

Former Cub Master Theodore Lee spoke of the pleasure the work had given him, and said that under Charles Rapp's guidance the cubs had learned to sing.

In a brief descriptive manner, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd took the audience for an amusing "walk" complete with sound effects.

Introduced as one of the hardest workers in the group Warren Graver, a father, said he had learned the art of alibing from the boys. After a year of work with them he had learned how to alibi himself out of anything.

Dave Mellert, another father, said that in the course of teaching the boys, splicing, he had learned considerably more about it himself.

A timely subject, first aid, was discussed by Mervin Doremus and Montcena DeWitt.

Earl Snyder, chairman for the dinner, spoke of the excellent cooperation of those who had assisted him.

Others who expressed their interest in the work with the boys were the Rev. Charles Wharton and John Pike who suggested that the boys take an interest in the growth of new trees in the village.

Summing up his remarks Van Wagenen urged that the scouts take an interest in community activities, as young men they before too long, enter into the adult life of the town. Van Wagenen also requested the assistance of men in the township who are interested in the out-of-door phases of scouting.

The approximately 75 boys and their fathers who attended the dinner all expressed their appreciation for the preparation of the dinner by Mrs. Fanny Elwyn and Mrs. Leon Carey, who were assisted by Mrs. Adolph Heckeroth.

Committees Are Named For Benefit Card Party

Woodstock, Feb. 23—Participation in a discussion of final plans for a card party to be held March 15, at the Town Hall, Miss Anne Cassidy, Ulster county public health nurse, emphasized the importance of the event in that the funds raised will be used to continue the support of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee's children's dental clinic. The regular meeting was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Clough with a number of new members present.

In the absence of Mrs. Joseph Marr, president, Mrs. Edward J. Devlin presided.

Mrs. Charles W. King, chairman for the card party, announced that she will be assisted by the following committees:

Mrs. Clayton Harder, chairman of floor committee assisted by Mrs. Clarence Snyder; Mrs. Richard E. Thibaut, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Holdridge, tables and chairs; Mrs. Luis Bared, chairman of refreshments assisted by Miss Anne Cassidy, Mrs. Edward J. Devlin, Mrs. Gilbert Schneider, Mrs. Luther Russell and Mrs. Joseph Hilton; Mrs. Warren Hutty, chairman of prizes assisted by Mrs. Arthur F. Wyman, Mrs. Orestes Cleveland, Mrs. Bev Anderson, Mrs. Katharine Boyd and Mrs. Dudley G. Summers; Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach, chairman of candy assisted by Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Mrs. Elizabeth Clough, Mrs. Mary Busch and Mrs. George Lawes.

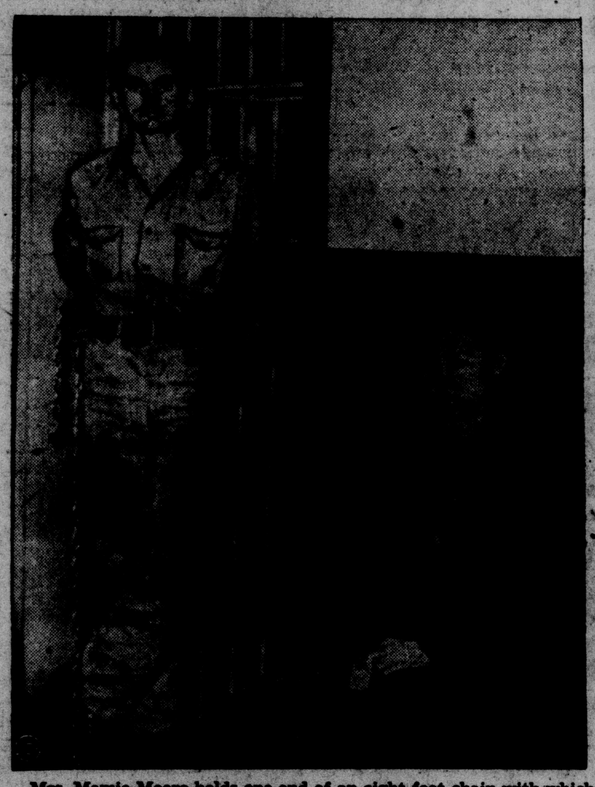

There will be no admission for the card party, but a collection will be taken during the evening. Those making up tables are requested to bring their own cards.

Miss Cassidy reported that nine children attended the January infant clinic. There was no dental clinic during the month. Reports also were read by Mrs. Kutzschbach, publicity, and Mrs. Devlin on the loan closet. Mrs. Bared announced the list of volunteers who will serve at the monthly clinics through July. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Hutty.

Mrs. Daisy Montgomery of the Woodstock Home Bureau attended the meeting and invited members who were interested to join members of the Home Bureau who will go to New York March 6 by chartered bus to attend the flower show. Anyone desiring to make the trip is requested to communicate with Mrs. Montgomery before next Monday.

At the next meeting of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee Thursday, March 29, a film on cancer prevention will be shown at the Health Center. The speaker will be Dr. Edward F. Shea and the public is invited to attend.

Dental Survey Shows Rate of Defective Teeth

Woodstock, Feb. 23—During the past three weeks Mrs. Mary Chatfield of the Ulster County Health Department has conducted a dental hygiene program at Woodstock School No. 2, examining 126 Woodstock youngsters, and administering 42 series of sodium chloride treatments. Each series consists of four administrations.

Mrs. Chatfield reported that 50 defects were found among those examined, with about 40 per cent of the whole group showing defects. "It is," Mrs. Chatfield explained, "a very low percentage. Most other schools run to about 90 per cent."

The lower percentage in Woodstock, Walter S. VanWagenen, principal of the Woodstock school said, can be traced to the work of the Woodstock Health Clinic which was instituted several years ago, and to parental cooperation.

Children from Bearsville and Zena have had the same service performed at the Woodstock School. Parents in their respective schools supplied the transportation.

Pepers Cop Two

Woodstock, Feb. 23 — Winning two games out of three, Peper's Garage, Woodstock, scored 783-822-775 against Royal Grill's 804-739-763 last Wednesday night in the Saugerties A League at the Recreation Center. Air Raid Alarm Sounded

Taipei, Formosa, Feb. 23 (AP)—Taipei had a riffle of excitement today from an air-raid alarm. Officials said it was a genuine alert, but there was no raid. Air defense headquarters reported radars ranged to detect any Chinese Communist air attack on this Chinese Nationalist island picked up unidentified planes flying toward Taipei from the northwest. A cabinet spokesman said there were six planes. The radar eventually lost them. There never was any indication whether they were hostile. Afterwards some officials said they thought the whole thing resulted from a misunderstanding. The alarm followed extensive air raid precaution tests throughout Formosa yesterday. Taipei residents thought today's alarm was just another practice. Air raid wardens disillusioned them.

Textile Wage Hike Asked

Boston, Feb. 23 (AP)—Textile workers President Emil Rieve went into wage-pattern negotiations with New Bedford and Fall River cotton mill chiefs today, declaring his union wants a 12-per cent pay raise because "the workers can't live on what they're getting." The head of the big CIO Textile Workers Union of America made the statement to a newsman as he prepared to go into session with officials representing 15 mills which are traditionally pattern setters for the northern cotton textile industry.

been recommended to him by the New York county Democratic organization.

Quinn added that there were "two factions" and "other fellows looked for those jobs."

"Somebody might have dropped Kefauver a letter," Quinn said.

Asked what "two factions" he meant, the veteran legislator mentioned Carmine De Sapio, leader of Tammany Hall, and Frank Sampson, former Tammany chief.

Is Political Aid

Sampson is a political aide to Mayor Impellitteri, who bolted Tammany Hall last fall and ran as an independent candidate. The two are trying to wrest control of Tammany from De Sapio.

Quinn, a senator for 25 years, said that if there were any question about his staff members the Kefauver committee should subpoena them. He said he was ready to go to bat for them.

James C. Hagerty, Governor Dewey's secretary, said the governor's office had received no request from the committee.

State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern, whose department handles payrolls, also said he had heard nothing from the committee.

Hathorn Gets Notice

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Sheriff Frank S. Hathorn of Saratoga county said today he had received a "notice" to appear before Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee probers in Albany next Tuesday.

Hathorn said he received the notice by telegram.

The Kefauver Committee is investigating gambling at Republican-controlled Saratoga county.

Three Saratoga Springs officials also were reported to have been notified by the committee to appear at an Albany hotel (Wellington) Tuesday and to bring personal and official records with them.

They were Police Chief Patrick F. Rox, Detective Walter A'hearn and Peter Hofsess, deputy commissioner of public safety.

A'hearn and Hofsess said they had not received any notice. Rox is under an oxygen tent in Saratoga Hospital, suffering from a heart ailment.

Three Gave Testimony

Sheriff Hathorn, Detective A'hearn and Chief Rox testified before the Kefauver Committee at closed hearings in New York city last week.

After the sessions, Senator Charles Tobey (R-N. H.), a member of the committee, which is investigating national crime linkups, said:

"We've had given us testimony that is an amazing revelation of * * * confused and aborted marginal jurisdictions of authority by those who failed to act in the public interest."

Tobey told newsmen that he and Senator Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), committee chairman, had taken testimony from a detective who could "hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil" about gambling at Saratoga Springs, famed resort and home of the Saratoga race trick.

Kefauver Concurs

Kefauver said he concurred in Tobey's statements.

Tobey said a detective, whom he described as a "stealthy Steve," testified that a gambling house had paid him $10 a day to carry its kitty to a Saratoga bank.

Tobey said other testimony showed that a high state police authority had pigeon-holed a red-hot report on Saratoga gambling.

Tobey did not identify the detective or the state police official, however, the only Saratoga detective on the list of witnesses made public by the committee was A'Hearn. Tobey said "a process of elimination" was in order for newsmen.

Two state police officials testified. They were Superintendent John A. Gaffney and Chief Inspector Francis McGarvey. Tobey declined to say whether they supplied the information on the report.

Wine Douses Fire

Kofu, Japan, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Kofu school house was afire. The fire hose was not long enough to reach the nearest hyrant. Next door to the school was a winery. Seventy-five gallons of wine put out the fire.

Two Kiwanis Members

Two new members were inducted at the regular noon luncheon meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday. They were Dr. George F. Bushnell, dentist, and Leonard J. Burroughs, manager of the local W. T. Grant Company store. The program was in charge of the Kiwanis Education Committee, of which Bernard J. Feeney is chairman. Taking part in the induction ceremonies with Feeney were Dr. Julius I. Gifford, Allen A. Baker and Chester A. Baltz, Sr.

No Good in Russia

Brussels, Belgium, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Belgian Cycling League, which insures its members against accidents when they ride abroad, has added the following clause to the insurance policy: "The insurance is only valid in Europe with the exception of Russia and the territories occupied or which may be occupied by this nation."

Search Is in 4th Day

Honolulu, Feb. 23 (AP)—Air and sea search for possibly 13 missing crewmen of the Norwegian freighter Florentine went into its fourth day today. The freighter sank in a storm southwest of Iwo Jima after being abandoned. The British ship Silvermaple said it had picked up 20 men. Conflicting reports clouded the fate of the other 13, possibly aboard a lifeboat. Seven air force and one navy plane from Guam, two ships and navy tug combed the area.

Organize Fire Crews

Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 23 (AP)—An Alaska-wide organization which would battle any fire kindled by enemy bombers was being organized today. Authorities pointed out incendiary attacks on Alaska forests could be serious since the army's large military installations at Fort Richardson near Anchorage were threatened seriously by a forest fire last summer.

Dental Survey Shows Rate of Defective Teeth

Woodstock, Feb. 23—During the past three weeks Mrs. Mary Chatfield of the Ulster County Health Department has conducted a dental hygiene program at Woodstock School No. 2, examining 126 Woodstock youngsters, and administering 42 series of sodium chloride treatments. Each series consists of four administrations.

Mrs. Chatfield reported that 50 defects were found among those examined, with about 40 per cent of the whole group showing defects. "It is," Mrs. Chatfield explained, "a very low percentage. Most other schools run to about 90 per cent."

The lower percentage in Woodstock, Walter S. VanWagenen, principal of the Woodstock school said, can be traced to the work of the Woodstock Health Clinic which was instituted several years ago, and to parental cooperation.

Children from Bearsville and Zena have had the same service performed at the Woodstock School. Parents in their respective schools supplied the transportation.

Air Raid Alarm Sounded

Taipei, Formosa, Feb. 23 (AP)—Taipei had a riffle of excitement today from an air-raid alarm. Officials said it was a genuine alert, but there was no raid. Air defense headquarters reported radars ranged to detect any Chinese Communist air attack on this Chinese Nationalist island picked up unidentified planes flying toward Taipei from the northwest. A cabinet spokesman said there were six planes. The radar eventually lost them. There never was any indication whether they were hostile. Afterwards some officials said they thought the whole thing resulted from a misunderstanding. The alarm followed extensive air raid precaution tests throughout Formosa yesterday. Taipei residents thought today's alarm was just another practice. Air raid wardens disillusioned them.

Textile Wage Hike Asked

Boston, Feb. 23 (AP)—Textile workers President Emil Rieve went into wage-pattern negotiations with New Bedford and Fall River cotton mill chiefs today, declaring his union wants a 12 per cent pay raise because "the workers can't live on what they're getting." The head of the big CIO Textile Workers Union of America made the statement to a newsman as he prepared to go into session with officials representing 15 mills which are traditionally pattern setters for the northern cotton textile industry.

Will Act on Bill

Washington, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senate Democrats decided today to bring up for Senate action early next week the bill permitting the drafting of 18-year-olds.

been recommended to him by the New York county Democratic organization.

Quinn added that there were "two factions" and "other fellows looked for those jobs."

"Somebody might have dropped Kefauver a letter," Quinn said.

Asked what "two factions" he meant, the veteran legislator mentioned Carmine De Sapio, leader of Tammany Hall, and Frank Sampson, former Tammany chief.

Is Political Aid

Sampson is a political aide to Mayor Impellitteri, who bolted Tammany Hall last fall and ran as an independent candidate. The two are trying to wrest control of Tammany from De Sapio.

Quinn, a senator for 25 years, said that if there were any question about his staff members the Kefauver committee should subpoena them. He said he was ready to go to bat for them.

James C. Hagerty, Governor Dewey's secretary, said the governor's office had received no request from the committee.

State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern, whose department handles payrolls, also said he had heard nothing from the committee.

Hathorn Gets Notice

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Sheriff Frank S. Hathorn of Saratoga county said today he had received a "notice" to appear before Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee probers in Albany next Tuesday.

Hathorn said he received the notice by telegram.

The Kefauver Committee is investigating gambling at Republican-controlled Saratoga county.

Three Saratoga Springs officials also were reported to have been notified by the committee to appear at an Albany hotel (Wellington) Tuesday and to bring personal and official records with them.

They were Police Chief Patrick F. Rox, Detective Walter A'hearn and Peter Hofsess, deputy commissioner of public safety.

A'hearn and Hofsess said they had not received any notice. Rox is under an oxygen tent in Saratoga Hospital, suffering from a heart ailment.

Three Gave Testimony

Sheriff Hathorn, Detective A'hearn and Chief Rox testified before the Kefauver Committee at closed hearings in New York city last week.

After the sessions, Senator Charles Tobey (R-N. H.), a member of the committee, which is investigating national crime linkups, said:

"We've had given us testimony that is an amazing revelation of * * * confused and aborted marginal jurisdictions of authority by those who failed to act in the public interest."

Tobey told newsmen that he and Senator Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), committee chairman, had taken testimony from a detective who could "hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil" about gambling at Saratoga Springs, famed resort and home of the Saratoga race trick.

Kefauver Concurs

Kefauver said he concurred in Tobey's statements.

Tobey said a detective, whom he described as a "stealthy Steve," testified that a gambling house had paid him $10 a day to carry its kitty to a Saratoga bank.

Tobey said other testimony showed that a high state police authority had pigeon-holed a red-hot report on Saratoga gambling.

Tobey did not identify the detective or the state police official, however, the only Saratoga detective on the list of witnesses made public by the committee was A'Hearn. Tobey said "a process of elimination" was in order for newsmen.

Two state police officials testified. They were Superintendent John A. Gaffney and Chief Inspector Francis McGarvey. Tobey declined to say whether they supplied the information on the report.

Search Is in 4th Day

Honolulu, Feb. 23 (AP)—Air and sea search for possibly 13 missing crewmen of the Norwegian freighter Florentine went into its fourth day today. The freighter sank in a storm southwest of Iwo Jima after being abandoned. The British ship Silvermaple said it had picked up 20 men. Conflicting reports clouded the fate of the other 13, possibly aboard a lifeboat. Seven air force and one navy plane from Guam, two ships and navy tug combed the area.

Organize Fire Crews

Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 23 (AP)—An Alaska-wide organization which would battle any fire kindled by enemy bombers was being organized today. WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Father-Son Banquet Is Held by Troop 34

Woodstock, Feb. 23—With Walter Van Wagenen acting as master of ceremonies, the father and son dinner for the Boy Scout and Cub Troop 34, was held in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church Thursday night, sponsored by the Masonic Square Club.

Charles Rapp, cub master, introduced members of the pack who sang their cubbing song. He spoke specifically of one cub, Lewis Berryan, who in one short season is ready to receive his wolf badge.

Van Wagenen recalled that three years ago the Masonic Square Club began to sponsor the cub scouts at the time that Leon Carey was president.

Underscoring the importance of scouting, Carey stated that it was "the best thing for the boys."

Former Cub Master Theodore Lee spoke of the pleasure the work had given him, and said that under Charles Rapp's guidance the cubs had learned to sing.

In a brief descriptive manner, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd took the audience for an amusing "walk" complete with sound effects.

Introduced as one of the hardest workers in the group Warren Graver, a father, said he had learned the art of alibing from the boys. After a year of work with them he had learned how to alibi himself out of anything.

Dave Mellert, another father, said that in the course of teaching the boys splicing he had learned considerably more about it himself.

A timely subject, first aid, was discussed by Mervin Doremus and Montcena DeWitt.

Earl Snyder, chairman for the dinner, spoke of the excellent cooperation of those who had assisted him.

Others who expressed their interest in the work with the boys were the Rev. Charles Wharton and John Pike who suggested that the boys take an interest in the growth of new trees in the village.

Summing up his remarks Van Wagenen urged that the scouts take an interest in community activities, as young men they before too long, enter into the adult life of the town. Van Wagenen also requested the assistance of men in the township who are interested in the out-of-door phases of scouting.

The approximately 75 boys and their fathers who attended the dinner all expressed their appreciation for the preparation of the dinner by Mrs. Fanny Elwyn and Mrs. Leon Carey, who were assisted by Mrs. Adolph Heckeroth.
